While shopping in one of the stores of this city last week a lady laid her pocketbook on a table and went into an adjoining apartment for a moment. When she returned the pocketbook had disappeared, and could not be found. A few days afterwards it was returned, with its contents intact, to the lady by mail. Whether conscience or the fear of prosecution prompted its return cannot be known. It may be that the statement in last week's SENTINEL "that the willful appropriation of lost property, by the finder, without effort being made to discover the owner, is a crime under the law," had something to do with it.

While fine rains have visited all sections of this county during the past week nearly every part of the county has escaped the destructive storms which prevailed beyond its western and northern boundaries. The ground is now well saturated with water and further precipitation is predicted for today and probably tomorrow. Gorsuch, of this city, a badge similar to those to be worn by delegates to the Republican national convention, which will meet at Chicago on Tuesday, 21st inst., for the nomination of candidates of the Republican party for President and Vice-President of the United States. As we look west on the foothills or lower ranges and see the beautiful green, then raise our eyes to the main ranges and see them covered with snow, it is a beautiful picture. What we want now is a little warm weather for vegetation. The country looks nice and prospects are good for the farmer. Our tomato and pickle plants are doing well and all we need fear now is early frost in the fall."

Mr. Brilhart is a son of Mr. Michael S. Brilhart, of Hampstead district.

The salaries of the postmasters of a large number of towns in Maryland have been increased. In the case of only one town, Centerville, has the salary been reduced. in several cases the increase is exceptionally large. Thus at Annapolis the increase is $200, as it is also that at Hancock. The postmaster at Aberdeem gets an increase of $300, which is very unusual. The following are the figures: Annapolis, from $2,500 to $2,700; Centerville, from $1,500 to $1,600; Cumberland, from $3,000 to $3,100; Emmitsburg, from $1,400 to $1,500; Frostburg, from $1,800 to $1,900; Hancock, from $1,100 to $1,300; Rising Sun, from $1,300 to $1,400; Aberdeen, from $1,200 to $1,500; Brunswick, from $1,200 to $1,300; Chestertown, from $1,700 to $1,800; Easton, from $2,100 to $2,200; Frederick, from $2,500 to $2,600; Hagerstown, from $2,700 to $2,800; Havre de Grace, from $1,600 to $1,700; Union Bridge, from $1,300 to $1,400.

The case of Mrs. Catharine E. Bowman vs. Charles A. Little, Newton S. Cook, Jacob S. Eakle, and Mrs. Lettie Bowman has been removed from the Circuit Court for Washington county to the Circuit Court for Carroll county. The plaintiff claims to be the widow of the late G. Walter Bowman, to whom she was married in July, 1887, and Mrs. Lettie Bowman, one of the defendants, also claims that relation to the deceased, to whom she was married in 1900. The other defendants are the administrator of G. Walter Bowman. An estate of $10,000 or $12,000 is involved in the suit. The plaintiff is a vaudeville actress. It is stated that Bowman believed he was legally divorced from her before his second marriage. She sues for her dower in the estate. The second wife has a child to whom, with herself, the entire estate will go if her marriage shall be declared legal. Messrs. Bond & Parke have been retained as counsel for the plaintiff. The case was taken to the Circuit Court for Washington county on issues from the Orphans' Court.

To and From Mt. Gretna.

On Monday morning last the Second battalion of United States Engineers, composed of Cos. E and H, passed through this city on the march from Washington, D. C., to Mt. Gretna, Pa., where they will engage in target practice. The battalion numbered 175 men under command of Capt. M. L. Walker. The march on Monday was from Porters Cross Roads, the scene of the previous night's encampment, to Union Mills, where camp was made Monday night.

On the same day, about noon, Troops F and H, Fifteenth United States Cavalry, marching from Mt. Gretna to Fort Myer, Va., reached this city from Gettysburg, Pa., twenty-four miles, and encamped until Tuesday morning on the grounds of Messrs. B. F. Shriver & Co., near their new canning factory, until Tuesday morning. They numbered about 150 men with horses, baggage wagons, &c. They were under command of Capt. Howard R. Hickock, with Lieuts. Francis H. Cameron and M. G. Halliday, of the 15th Cavalry; Lieut. F. A. Ruggles, 9th Cavalry, and Capt. and Assist. Surg. J. S. Wilson. The march on Tuesday was from this city to Brookville, 28 miles, and on Wednesday from Brookville to Fort Myer, 25 miles.

The men were visited in their camp, by a number of citizens, during Monday evening, and the soldiers, in couples and small groups, moved about the streets, fraternizing and conversing with people whom they met, to the sorrow of some too confiding civilians. Peyton Todd, whose home is at Sykesville, was robbed of a silver watch and $5 by a soldier with whom he had struck up an intimacy. Mr. Samuel P. Bair was relieved of a gold watch which belonged to Mr. Silas M. Bish, by whom it had been entrusted to him to be repaired. A slot machine belonging to Mr. Chas. V. Wantz, and fastened to an iron post in front of his cigar establishment, was broken to pieces and its contents, amounting to about $5, stolen.

Mr. Todd and Mr. Bair invoked the aid of Sheriff Wilson and City Officer Jerome and visited the soldiers' camp about 3 o'clock, Tuesday morning, but were unable to identify the men by whom they had been robbed. Subsequently one of the men, upon having been promised immunity from arrest, acknowledged that he had taken Todd's watch and money. The watch, he said, was in one of the wagons accompanying the command and which had already left for Brookeville. The civil officers and Todd, taking the soldier with them, followed and overtook the wagon and recovered the watch, but not the $5. Mr. Bair failed to identify the soldier who robbed him of Mr. Bish's watch and it was not recovered.

The officers of the command were entertained during Monday evening, by Mr. Wm. Grove Lawyer, at his home on Pennsylvania avenue.

New Windsor College Commencement.

The commencement exercises of New Windsor College were held on Wednesday in the college hall, before a crowded audience. The program of the day included the following: An essay on "The Influences of an Echo," by Miss M. Corinne Hibbard; oration, "Incentive of Probalility," by William M. Fraser; addresses by H. Chas. McBride, George O. Brilhart, Rev. G. W. Baughman and Rev. Dr. D. Riddle. The musical part of the program included instrumental and vocal performances.

Two young ladies of Harford county—Miss Georgia A. Anderson and Miss Mary Ethel Gilbert—were graduated in the commercial work of the college. The honorary degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on Rev. Edward H. Robbins, of Baltimore, and on Rev. Prof. David Alexander McWilliams, of Lincoln University, Pa. The degree of doctor of philosophy was conferred on Rev. Arthur J. Westcott, he having completed the work for that degree.

The annual oritorical contest was held last night and the following is the result of the contest: Miss Cora Buffington, first prize in elocution (gold medal); Miss M. Corinne Hibbard, second prize in elocution (gold medal), and honorable mention of Misses Anna Durbin, Lulu Yohn and Mr. D. Maynard Jones, who were considered to be about equal.

They must not carry any mail matter, except county newspapers, unless the proper postage shall have been prepaid. Recently your correspondent met some strange gentlemen from a distant town whom he had never seen before and they said, "We read an account of your trip. "Verily more people know us than we call our acquaintances.

Some of our people are anxious to see what is to be done with our R. F. D. system as it is to be reconstructed the first of July, we are informed by reliable parties. If they make our R. F. D. system as perfect as I found it in Rockingham county, Va., every one of our citizens will be perfectly satisfied. Give us post offices in the thickly settled neighborhoods and let the people have the choice of being served by carriers or go to the postoffice as we, in a free, independent country, have a right to be served.

There was some reckless driving in town on Saturday evening. It was not seen by any of the society with the long name or perhaps there would be fines imposed.

MORE OF OUR TRIP TO VIRGINIA.

Whenever you meet a German or a Jew, you find thrift or progress in some form. Going through a large dry goods store in a town of perhaps 4,000 inhabitants where 32 clerks are employed in the dull seasons and 65 in busy seasons, I asked the proprietor, a tall Jew, how he gained the success he was enjoying. "Vell," he said "Ve dreat the farmers rite, and dey gif us dere money." He seemed to consider the farmer an important factor in business, and so he is, as business would stop were the farmers to go on a strike and refuse to sell the staff of life. We were treated to some fine selections from an enormous phonograph in a jewelry store. The horn was about 5 feet in length and 1½ feet in diameter. One of the selections sang and played, "Beulah Land," was much enjoyed by all of our party. I passed near a barn that was full of holes, a relic of the great civil war, which is fresh in the memories of many of the older Virginians. As many are interested in war stories I will relate what I have been able to remember. An old veteran told me the following: "Perhaps you think it is a hard matter to shoot a person, but it isn't. As soon as a shot is fired at you and you hear the whistle of a bullet you feel like returning the shot. One time when the ration wagons could not make connections to avoid capture, we lived on crackers for days. We began to feel so empty that we tightened our belts around our waists so as to feel more comfortable. When meat came I was not hungry for it, you may believe it or not, but nevertheless, it is true. During one of our marches I saw a piece of bacon rind yellow with age; I put it in my knapsack and when I toasted it over a fire in the evening, I thought the bacon and the crackers were the best things I ever tasted in my life." Now for some of the war reminiscenses told me by another old veteran. "A rebel spy escaped from the union ranks. He started in the direction of his comrades but found he was being pursued, and stopped at a farm house. Soon some Union officers came to the place, and searched the house and barn but could find no trace of the man. The only human being on the farm, besides the father and mother, was a bent negro woman who was hoeing corn. They thought it was a slave but it proved to be the spy who had donned woman's clothes. Another spy escaped but was pursued ere he had traveled many miles. Coming to a place where a woman was taking down clothes from the wash line, he begged her to help him. She consented and told him where he could find a secure place. Soon the officers arrived and searched the house and barn thoroughly, but no trace of the spy could be found. At times they were so close to him that they could easily have touched him. When they were gone he got out of the clothes basket. The wash had been piled upon him. Deserters risked their lives in many ways. Once one was at table between two ladies when the officers came. The ladies made him lie on the bench and sat on him. Not a very pleasant position but it saved his life. A dear sister of one of these deserters saved her brother's life with the aid of her big hoop skirts. Once a deserter ran up to a farmer's door hurriedly, and told them to show him to an upper room at once. He was shown to a room and locked himself in it. In about ten minutes officers came to search the house; when they came to a locked door they burst it open only to find the window open and a sheet and quilt tied together hanging from the sill. Hurriedly descending the stairs they went in pursuit of the man. In fifteen minutes the man came down stairs. In those days beds had curtains and after opening the window and fixing the sheet and blanket, he secreted himself under the bed. Another spy came to a little girl bleaching clothes and she put him under some of them on the grass. When the officers questioned her she did not tell an untruth but said he went in that direction the way he had gone to hide and they rapidly moved onward. Next week I will tell some of the methods of the Virginia farmers which are quite unlike ours.

General sympathy has gone out to Miss Rica Bergman and her home folks in the sore affliction that has befallen her. For a week or more she was ill from general prostration, but was improving when early Monday morning she was found unconscious. Dr. J. H. Preston was called and found her suffering with paralysis that affected her right side and speech. At this writing she is still critically ill. Rica has been the standby in many families for a number of years and in times of sickness or distress none was more willing to lend a helping hand or felt a deeper sympathy than she.

Arrangements had been made for the Hanover Junior team to play the Juniors here on Saturday last, but when they arrived they proved to be young men juniors, and consequently our juniors grew to be men at once and crossed bats with the visitors to a game like the handle of a jug, all on one side and with barely interest enough to keep the crowd from taking an afternoon nap. The score was 18 to 4 in favor of Manchester.

Company H, 1st Md. Regiment.

The baseball team of Company H, 1st Regt., I. M. N. G., put up the finest article of baseball seen here this season, when, on Saturday last, they defeated a team composed of the pick of Sandymount and Patapsco teams. The men are playing well together now and team work is beginning to be a feature. On Saturday the opposing team had men as far as third base several times, but failed to get them home, owing to the clever fielding of the soldiers. Erb also pitched a clever game, striking out eleven men and allowing but three hits. The final score was: Company H 5, Sandymount 0.

On Wednesday last another exhibition of good baseball playing was given when Company H defeated the New Windsor team, on the latter's grounds, by the score of 14 to 13. Like the Carroll Athletic Club, New Windsor's team is composed of picked players and on this account Company H deserves much credit for its victory.

Dr. Norris, of Eldersburg, was summoned and adjusted the fracture, and we are glad to learn she is doing well. Mrs. Shipley is in her 74th year.

We have had a rainfall here of 3 inches since June 4th and but little of it ran off. As a consequence the ground has been well saturated. Corn and potatoes are looking nice, but grain is very thin on the ground and a light crop is expected. Grass is short on account of the recent dry weather but the rains of the past few days have helped it considerably and timothy may be a fair crop.

An Interesting Suggestion.

Rev. George H. Nock, State superintendent of the Maryland Sunday School Union, has addressed a circular letter to the superintendents of Sunday Schools throughout this state, suggesting the inauguration of the custom of decorating the graves of deceased Sunday School workers with flowers, sometime during the month of June. The suggestion will, without doubt, be of interest to the Sunday Schools of the state, and will probably meet with general approval. Mr. Nock's circular is as follows:

Dear Brother:—Recently the graves of those who fought and died for their country have been decorated with flowers, accompanied by strains of music and words of grateful and eloquent praise. This was a fitting honor to the memory of brave men.

In every cemetery in this commonwealth are the graves of men and women who have left behind records of heroic sacrifice in behalf of the truth. Through summer's heat and winter's cold they have wended their way to the Sunday School room to teach to children the Word of God, and on these children's lives they have impressed the sweetness and power of their own lives. These children should not be permitted to forget their spiritual benefactors, nor cease to be grateful to them for their labors in their behalf.

It is therefore urged that each of the Sunday Schools of the State of Maryland, some time during the month of June, assemble in the cemetery, and, with appropriate exercises, decorate with flowers the graves of deceased Sunday School officers and teachers, and other members. Aside from the immediate impressiveness of the occasion, such observance will have an uplifting influence on the school and community.

Any school desiring a suggestive program will be thus aided by applying to the undersigned.
