Republican Ticket.

For President,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
of New York.

For Vice-President,
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS, of Indiana.

U. S. Senator Louis E. McComas is the Maryland member of the Republican National Committee.

There were speeches and speeches at the Chigago convention, but the greatest of them all was made by the temporary chairman, Elihu Root.

At the request of President Roosevelt, Hon. George B. Cortelyou has been made chairman of the National Committee of the Republican party, and resigned the position of Secretary of Commerce and Labor, in the President's Cabinet, to conduct the campaign of 1904.

The Republican platform deserves careful reading and study by every citizen. Its recitation of the past achievements of the party cannot be challenged, and its statement of future policies is clear, explicit and in harmony with the party's past course and record. More will be said about it, from time to time, in these columns.

THE NOMINEES.

The history of President Roosevelt has become too well known to the people to need repetition at length in the columns of the newspapers. He was born in New York City, October 27, 1858, and is therefore in his 46th year. He has accomplished more, in that time, than most men in a long lifetime, but the most important of his acts have been those of his administration of the office of President of the United States. It is by his course as National Executive that he will be judged and in this respect he has proven himself a statesman and patriot in whom the people and the country can place implicit trust. His continuance in the high office which he has filled with such signal ability since the death of the lamented McKinley, will maintain the confidence of all classes of people in the security and successful progress of the country in all its material interests.

Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, who has been nominated on the ticket with Mr. Roosevelt, as the Republican candidate for Vice-President, was born in Ohio, May 11, 1852. Like so many of our prominent statesmen his early life was one of toil and comparative hardship. He worked on his father's farm until he was fifteen years old, attending a country school in winter. Then he attended a college not far from his home and after his graduation spent some time in Pittsburg, Pa., as agent of the Associated Press. He studied law, settled in Indiana and gave his attention almost solely to his profession, until about ten years ago. In 1897 he first entered the United States Senate and has been re-elected for a second term. He is a man of marked ability and high character and is equal to any responsibility that may come to him through his nomination for the high office of Vice-President.

Ampler sketches of both the candidates will be given in a future issue.

NOT GETTING TOGETHER.

Democrats go into ecstacies over all the little quarrels by which the Republican party is from time to time perturbed, but appear to lose sight of the fact that their own party is badly rent by internal dissensions. It is true that the Republicans have had some serious factional disturbances in a few cases, but they were not in the nature of a quarrel over the principles and policies of the party, nor of a character, probably, to prevent hearty endorsement and support of the national ticket. In spite of the wrangles over local or State candidates in Illinois and Wisconsin, both those States are reasonably certain to vote for the Republican national candidates, because the Republican party stands for well defined principles and every thoughtful Republican believes the success of his party necessary to the welfare and prosperity of the country.

On the other hand there is a wide unbridged and unbridgable gulf between large elements which claim to be Democratic. These elements give no evidence that they are getting together. Contrawise, they seem to be drifting farther apart. The hostility of Col. Wm. Jennings Bryan, for instance, to Judge Alton B. Parker is becoming more pronounced every day, and Col. Bryan is not without a considerable following, even in New York. On Monday night he spoke to an immense audience in Cooper Union, New York City. The hall was jammed with people and as many more were gathered on the outside.

Col. Bryan handled Judge Parker without gloves and also paid his respects to Mr. Cleveland in anything but a complimentary manner. "I want to say," he exclaimed, "that Judge Parker would be a disappointment if elected. We have had one President who betrayed the people. God forbid that we should have another. That one sold out the treasury to Wall Street. I won't say that Cleveland put money into his own pocket, but the men allowed by him to manipulate the Treasury did put money in their pockets."

The meeting at which this talk was made was so much in sympathy with the speaker that resolutions were adopted denouncing Parker, Hill and Belmont, and a committee of 25 was appointed to go to the St. Louis convention and protest against New York's endorsement of Parker. Evidently the Democrats can't get together in his support. It is this fact, probably, that has led to talk about taking up Mr. Cleveland and making him the party's candidate for the fourth time; but it is as equally certain, as in the case of Judge Parker, that he cannot command the support of the Democrats of the country. They cannot get together on any candidate named in connection with the nomination.

THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks the Candidates.

THE PLATFORM.

The Republican National Convention, for the nomination of President and Vice-President, met at Chicago on Tuesday, and was called to order at noon by Chairman Payne, of the National Committee. Hon. Elihu Root, of New York, was selected as temporary chairman and made a strong and forcible speech. After the preliminary proceedings the permanent organization was effected by the election of Speaker Cannon as the presiding officer, and when he was introduced to the convention by Mr. Root he was greeted with an outburst of applause which lasted for many minutes and which was repeated several times during his opening speech.

We give below the text of the platform adopted by the convention, except the concluding paragraphs, which sketch the history of President Roosevelt's Administration and point out its great achievements for the welfare and progress of the country. These will be given in a future issue. The platform, as is customery with Republican deliverances on such occasions, deals with living issues in a straightforward way, without attempts at dodging or equivocation. It is as follows:

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence, dedicated among other purposes to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first President. During 24 of the 44 years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the Republican party has held complete control of the Government. For 18 more of the 44 years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the Government, while the Democratic party during the same period has had complete control for two years.

"This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party has commanded the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equaled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

"Complete Supremacy Since '97."

"The Republican party entered upon the present period of complete supremacy in 1897. We have every right to congratulate ourselves upon the work since then accomplished, for it has added luster even to the traditions of the party which carried the Government through the storms of civil war.

"We then found the country—after four years of Democratic rule—in evil plight and oppressed with misfortune and doubtful of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the revenues were declining, the debt was growing, the administration's attitude toward Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic in 1893, hope was faint and confidence was gone.

"We met these unhappy conditions vigorously, effectively and at once. We replaced a Democratic tariff law based on free-trade principles and garnished with sectional protection by a consistent protective tariff. Industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the encouragement of wise laws, has expanded to a degree never before known, has conquered new markets and has created a volume of exports which have surpassed imagination. Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen, and all industries have revived and prospered.

"Established The Gold Standard."

"We firmly established the gold standard, which was then menaced with destruction. Confidence returned to business and with confidence an unexampled prosperity.

"For deficient revenues, supplemented by improvident issues of bonds, we gave the country an income which produced a large surplus, and which enabled us only four years after the Spanish war had closed to remove over one hundred millions of annual war taxes, reduce the public debt and lower the interest charges of the Government.

"The public credit, which had been so lowered that in time of peace a Democratic administration made large loans at extravagant rates of interest in order to pay current expenditures, rose under Republican administration to its highest point, and enabled us to borrow at 2 per cent. even in time of war.

"We refused to palter longer with the miseries of Cuba. We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, governed the island three years, and then gave it to the Cuban people with order restored, with ample revenues, with education and and public health established, free from debt and connected with the United States by wise provisions for our mutual interests.

"We have organized the Government of Porto Rico, and its people now enjoy peace, freedom, order and prosperity.

"In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order and given to life and property a security never known there before. We have organized civil government, made it effective and strong in administration, and have conferred upon the people of those islands the largest civil liberty they have ever enjoyed.

"By our possession of the Philippines we were enabled to take prompt and effective action in the relief of the legations at Peking, and a decisive part in preventing the partition and preserving the integrity of China.

The Isthmian Canal.

"The possession of a route for an Isthmian canal, so long the dream of American statesmanship, is now an accomplished fact. The great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic by a canal is at last begun, and it is due to the Republican party.

"We have passed laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation.

"We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest state of efficiency.

"We have passed laws for the improvement and support of the militia.

"We have pushed forward the building of the navy for the defense and protection of our honor and our interests.

"Our administration of the great departments of the Government has been honest and efficient, and wherever wrongdoing has been discovered the Republican Administration has not hesitated to probe the evil and bring offenders to justice without regard to party or political ties.

Question Of The Trusts.

"Laws enacted by the Republican party which the Democratic party failed to enforce and which were intended for the protection of the public against the unjust discrimination or the illegal encroachment of vast aggregations of capital have been fearlessly enforced by a Republican President, and new laws insuring reasonable publicity as to the operation of great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates have been enacted by a Republican Congress.

"In this record of achievement during the past 8 years may be read the pledges which the Republican party has fulfiled. We promise to continue these policies, and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles:

Tariff Plank In Final Form.

"Protection which guards and develops our industries is a cardinal policy of the Republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the maintenance of the principles of protection, and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot safely be comitted to any other hands than those of the Republican party. To intrust it to the Democratic party is to invite disaster. Whether, as in 1892, the Democratic party declares the protective tariff unconstitutional, or whether it demands reform or tariff revision, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However specious the name, the purpose is ever the same. A Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity; a Republican tariff, by business prosperity.

"To a Republican Congress and a Republican President this great question can be safely intrusted. When the only freetrade country among the great nations agitates a return to protection, the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

"We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be affected consistent with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, American labor, or any American industry.

"We believe it to be the duty of the Republican party to uphold the gold standard and the integrity and value of our national currency. The maintenance of the gold standard, established by the Republican party, cannot safely be committed to the Democratic party, which resisted its adoption and has never given any proof since that time of belief in it or fidelity to it.

Merchant Marine And Navy.

"While every other industry has prospered under the fostering aid of Republican legislation, American shipping engaged in foreign trade in competition with the low cost of construction, low wages and heavy subsidies of foreign governments has not for many years received from the government of the United States adequate encouragement of any kind. We, therefore, favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine, and we cordially approve the legislation of the last Congress which created the merchant marine commission to investigate and report upon this subject.

"A navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine and watch over our commerce is essential to the safety and welfare of the American people. To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the Republican party.

"We cordially approve the attitude of President Roosevelt and Congress in regard to the exclusion of Chinese labor, and promise a continuance of the Republican policy in that direction.

"The Civil Service law was placed on the statute books by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our former declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced.

"We are always mindful of the country's debt to the soldiers and sailors of the United States, and we believe in making ample provisions for them and in the liberal administration of the pension laws.

"We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration.

Foreign Policy.

"We commend the vigorous efforts made by the Administration to protect American citizens in foreign lands, and pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and equal protection of all our citizens abroad. It is the unquestionable duty of the Government to procure for all our citizens, without distinction, the rights of civil law and sojourn in friendly countries, and we declare ourselves in favor of all proper efforts tending to that end.

"Our great interests and our growing commerce in the Orient render the condition of China of high importance to the United States. We cordially commend the policy pursued in that direction by the administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

"We favor such Congressional action as shall determine whether by special discriminations the electric franchise in any State has been unconstitutionally limited, and if such is the case, we demand that representation in Congress and in the electoral college shall be proportionally reduced, as directed by the Constitution of the United States.

"Combinations of capital and of labor are the results of the economic movement of the age, but neither must be permitted to infringe upon the rights and interests of the people. Such combinations when lawfully formed for lawful purposes are alike entitled to the protection of the laws, but both are subject to the laws, and neither can be permitted to break them."

On Monday night a Baltimore trolly car was held up at Lakeside, near that city, by two or three men, one of whom shot and seriously wounded the conductor, Charles C. Baker, whom he then robbed of a watch, the company's and also his own money. Several passengers were also robbed. The robbers then disappeared. Mr. Baker, who is about 65 years old, displayed remarkable nerve and courage and the newspapers of Baltimore have been ringing with his praise. He grappled with his assailant and endeavored to protect his passengers after he was shot, and also endeavored to perform his duty as a conductor until blinded by the blood flowing from his wounds. The bullet which wounded him entered one of his nostrils and emerged under the eye and then passed upward grazing the eyeball and cutting a deep gash in his forehead. Its upward direction was due to the fact that the shot was fired before the robber reached the platform of the car. Mr. Baker was taken to the City Hospital for treatment and it is thought the sight of his eye will be saved. His coolness and determination throughout the ordeal through which he passed was marvelous. The crime was one of the boldest ever perpetrated in the vicinity of Baltimore.

An extraordinary increase in the membership of some of the camps of the P. O. S. of A. in Baltimore, for the last six months, is reported. Camp 6 shows a gain of 200 per cent.; Camp 29, about 250 per cent.; Camp 11, nearly 100 per cent., and Camp 24, about 80 per cent. Prof. W. J. Heaps, of Baltimore, formerly principal of Winfield Academy, this county, is the State president. He is now in Europe, but will return in about six weeks, when he will be tendered a reception, at which it is expected Mayor Timanus will deliver an address of welcome.

One of the largest Irish potato crops ever harvested on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia is now coming to the Baltimore market. The steamers of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company brought from the potato regions of Accomac and Northumberlond counties last Saturday 3400 barrels of the tubers, and still the season is not at its height.
