SIDE TWO

from wand of buy acquaints cut up any fruit trees or do any other damage — Strainy must take care of him and he must lodge with Strainy and his wife if he has one untill we come over — I am not certain whether the Situation of my affairs will warrant my employing this man, but I know the value of a good Garden and it is probable there is not much to be expected from your new Garden this Summer so it may be a comfortable thing for us all.

No tidings of the Vessel with my Lowland wheat. hope you have received my letter requesting you to send them it up — Polly writes — Nancy — my wife begs I would make an excuse for her not writing — have no time — the nursery takes it up — I believe the truth is her utter dislike to put pen to paper — My Uncle Chew talks of being here the third week in april we shall stay to meet him & afterwards crop the bay for our own home — but I shall be over as soon as the vessel is dispatched again that comes with the wheat — we are all well — respects to all

Your most affectly

John Galloway
