Probably the highest tax rate for local purposes of any of the counties of this State is that of Anne Arundel. Last year for county purposes it was 60 cents, but this year is increased to 68 cents. This, however, is only about half the taxes imposed, each district having a road tax of 25 to 80 cents to be added to the county rate. Kent is a close second to Anne Arundel, her rate for all county purposes being $1.30. The rate in Carroll, including the road tax, closely averages 60 cents. Baltimore city has a much higher rate than any of the counties, it having been increased this year to $2.06. Last year it was $1.86¾. As a rule the rates in the tidewater counties exceed those of the Western part of the State, though Allegany falls little short of Kent, $1.27½ being levied for county purposes. The State tax this year is 22½ cents and next year will be 23½ cents, an increase of about 38 per cent over former years.

Christopher Noss was elected to the professorship of Systematic Theology in the Theological Seminary at Lancaster, Pa. Rev. Theodore F. Herman had been elected to the position at a previous meeting, but declined. Eight candidates were voted for at the last meeting and Mr. Noss was chosen on the second ballot. As is known to the readers of the SENTINEL he has been a missionary of the Reformed Church in Japan. It is also generally known that he spent a number of his boyhood years in this city and at Silver Run, when his father, Rev. J. G. Noss, was pastor of St. Paul's Church here, and St. Mary's Church at the latter place. He is a gentleman of decided ability and ripe scholarship, and his many friends in this county are pleased at his election to the important position referred to.

Another Big Fire at Mt. Airy.

Another disastrous fire, which threatened the destruction of Mount Airy, visited that place early last Saturday morning and only by the energetic work of bucket brigades and the fact that there was no wind blowing was the town saved.

The fire was first discovered, about 1 A. M., in the furniture store of Messrs. E. M. Anderson & Co., a two story frame building. This, together with its contents, was entirely consumed. The loss is about $2500. The flames soon communicated to Mr. J. W. Wilson's meat store, owned by Mr. A. J. Baker, whose loss is $1000. From there they spread to Mr. Robert Sellman's saloon, which was destroyed, with a loss of $900. Mr. Adam Ruland's bakery, owned by Mrs. M. G. Clary, was next enveloped in flames and completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $2500. The buildings, being all frame structures, burned like tinder. Bucket brigades were formed and the men worked heroically, but they were unable to check the progress of the fire. Word was telephoned to Frederick for assistance, but before the firemen started they received orders that the fire was under control. It was checked by burning itself out, as there are several vacant lots between Ruland's bakery and the town hotel, which was the nearest building. The amount of insurance on the several properties has not been reported.

Killed by a Live Wire.

Clyde Tase, the 11-year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tase, of Pikesville, was instantly killed by a live electric telephone wire, while on his way home from Sudbrook park, about 6 30 o'clock, last Friday evening, in company with another lad named Eddie Tipton. The boys were caddies for the Sudbrook Golf Club and were taking a short cut across the fields from the park to Pikesville when the accident occurred. They had been accompanied by two other boys who decided to go home by the road leading from Sudbrook. As Clyde and Eddie were about to leave the road for the field the latter, who was in the lead, walked into the live wire which was hanging from a pole, and was slightly shocked. He called to his friend to warn him of the danger, but young Tase had become entangled in the wire before the other youth could prevent it. After two unsuccessful attempts to rescue his companion, young Tipton ran to Pikesville, and notified several men, who followed him to the spot where the accident occurred. Mr. J. Frederick Dittus, an old soldier at the Confederate Home, extricated the body from the wire with a stick, and carried it to one side. Clyde's father narrowly escaped injury himself. He was one of the first to arrive, and, almost frenzied by his boy's terrible fate, was about to grasp the live wire when an older son, Grover, pulled him back. The unfortunate lad was shockingly burned about the hands by the electric current, his right hand having been well nigh burned off at the wrist. His right ear was also burned to a crisp and nearly destroyed.

Mrs. Tase, the mother of the victim of this sad accident, is a native of this city and a daughter of the late Henry G. Mitten. Mr. John H. Mitten, the manager of the SENTINEL, is her brother.

An inquest was held over the remains and a verdict returned by the jury, alleging negligence on the part of the telephone company to which the wire belonged.

Funeral services were held at the home of the lad's parents on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Ernest L. Woolf, of the M. E. Church South, of Frederick, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bogle, of Sudbrook M. E. Church South, officiating. The school children of the Pikesville public school attended the funeral in a body and marched to Druid Ridge Cemetery, where the remains were interred, at the head of the funeral cortege. The pall-bearers were six playmates of the deceased. Many beautiful floral designs were contributed.

Mr. K. was a native of this district and spent the most of his life in this immediate neighborhood. He was a quiet, unassuming gentleman, a member of the Lutheran Church from early manhood and always alive to its interests in the congregation and the Sunday School. On the morning of July 13th he was terribly burned by the explosion of a coal oil can at the residence of Mr. Lippy, causing his death after more than two months of severe suffering. His remains were brought to his home on Church street, from which he was buried on Thursday morning, Rev. H. H. Flick officiating. He leaves a widow, four daughters and two sons to mourn his loss.

Mr. Howard Loats has bought a six-acre lot of ground on York Hill, east of the road, from the trustees of Emanuel Lutheran church for the sum of $300. It was bought by the church several years ago for a cemetery site, but through some misunderstanding was not utilized for that purpose.

J. Samuel McCue, for twenty years a prominent lawyer at Charlottsville, Va., and at one time mayor of the town, is under indictment for the murder of his wife. He was taken before the Charlottsville Court on Tuesday for arraignment, but his counsel filed a plea to quash the indicement upon the ground that the grand jury was illegally constituted, one of the jurors having been, as the plea alleged, a nonresident. The crime of which McCue is accused was a most brutal and atrocious one and public feeling against him is intense. Fears were at one time entertained that he might be lynched, but apparently apprehensions of that character have subsided. The validity of the plea to quash the indictment has been submitted to a jury for decision and will stand.

Mr. James P. Zepp, of Pleasant Valley, spent Sunday last with his parents, who reside in town.

Your correspondent notes that Mr. Theodore Houck, our former townsman, is assisting the Bucher Brothers in their increasing business at our blacksmith shop and wagon works. They do considerable new work besides repairing.

Rumors of a coming wedding in our neighborhood are in the air.

Despite Rev. Hicks' predictions, we are having beautiful September weather. The needed rain which came last week was welcomed by our farmers.

While Clarence, oldest son of Mr. Henry Zepp, near here, was trying to capture a squirrel upon a high tree he accidentally fell, injuring himself internally. He is at present in a critical condition.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

The following terse but graphic description of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition was kindly written for the SENTINEL, by Dr. J. W. Hering, at the request of the editor:

It is quite impossible, I think, to give anything like an adequate description of the Louisana Purchase Exposition, now in progress at St. Louis. One comes away from the place in a sort of bewildered state, yet with some impressions which are very definitely fixed.

One of these is the immensity of the Exposition. It covers 1240 acres of ground and is filled with huge structures which almost strike you dumb with their magnitude. Then another impression which you bring home with you from the great show is its wonderful beauty. The striking beauty displayed in the architecture of its buildings, in the manner in which they are grouped, in the handsomely laid out grounds upon which they stand, all combine to make the effect marvelous. When you enter one of the buildings, covering as some of them do 18 acres of ground, you realize that, if you are to make anything like an examination of the exhibit, it would be necessary for you to spend the remainder of the Exposition season at that particular place. So that all you can do, in the space of an ordinary visit, is to walk up and down the aisles and take a general view of the contents of the building, stopping sometimes long enough to look more closely at something that particularly interests you. This is about the course the average visitor pursues. Among the large buildings may be noted those devoted to Agriculture, Horticulture, Transportation, Machinery, Electricity, Varied Industries, Education and Social Economy, Mines and Metallurgy, Liberal Arts, Fine Arts and Manufactures. Besides these is the fine building of the United States Government and the splendid buildings of Foreign Governments. Also grouped in a conspicuous place are the buildings of the various States, all handsome structures. The Maryland building is greatly admired by all who visit it. In its appearance it has a refined dignity which is in keeping with the great State it represents. It is presided over during the Exposition by Mr. Albert Jones, of this county, and Mrs. Parks Fisher, who is a sister of Admiral Schley, who dispense true Maryland hospitality.

All these buildings are filled with the best specimens of the products which are to be shown, and arranged in the most artistic way. For example, where the creameries are exhibiting their butter, you will see a full sized cow fastened to the manger, a maid sitting on a stool milking the cow, a cat beside her, and a setting hen on her nest in the manger, all made of butter, the card on the exhibit stating that 3000 pounds of butter were used in the design. And many other butter designs are there, all under glass and kept cool by a refrigerating process.

Another thing, that I think will impress every one going to the Fair, is the care that has been taken for the convenience and comfort of visitors. The Intramural Railroad, with its 17 stations, carries passengers to points near all the important places on the grounds. There are plenty of comfortable seats, and so placed as to best serve the multitude of tired ones who with weary feet are trying to see the show. Then there are a number of fine band stands, surrounded by hundreds of seats, and from these stands famous bands give free concerts, at certain hours of each day. I heard at these concerts the two celebrated Bands of France and England, each having about 75 or 80 pieces.

The most beautiful building on the grounds is Festival Hall, which stands as the architectural key to the great scheme of buildings, and from which issues the principal cascade. This water fall is perhaps 30 feet wide at the point at which it issues from the building and about 15 inches deep. It makes a direct plunge of 25 feet to a wider space below, thence over a series of water falls, until it reaches the basin, where it is perhaps 100 feet wide. At night this cascade, with two others, one on either side, is beautifully illuminated with ever changing electric lights, which with Festival Hall in its superb architure standing at the head, and the buildings surrounding it all gorgeously illuminated; fountains throwing their spray to the height of 75 feet at the base of the Cascade, electric launches gliding through the lagoons, all combine to make the scene one of a veritable Fairy Land.

The Pike is a great institution at the Fair. It is more than a mile in length and about the width of an ordinary street. Both sides are filled with all sorts of shows, and from nearly all countries of the world. Many of these side shows are highly interesting and instructive, and everybody who goes to the Fair visits the Pike.

There are a thousand and one other things that might be said about this wonderful Exposition, which is acknowledged to be the greatest the world has ever seen, but I must close this hastily written article.

One other thing, however, I must mention before I close, and that is the hotel at which our party stopped, "The Inside Inn." It is truly a wonderful place. It is the only hotel within the enclosure, is owned and conducted by a private individual, who pays the Exposition Company 25 per cent of his gross receipts for the privilege of being there. It was built for the occasion and, like the other Exposition buildings, will be of no use after the Fair is over. It covers 4 acres of ground and contains 6000 rooms. The room assigned to my wife and myself was number 5133. You will come to understand something of what is going on at this hotel, when you learn that about twice as many people as are in Westminster, are sheltered and fed there every day. The dining room will accommodate from 1600 to 2000 persons at one time, and the service is prompt and satisfactory. On the first floor there is a good sized store, keeping all such articles as travelers are likely to need. Also a drug store and a postoffice requiring the services of three or four clerks. The great lobby and porches, with the crowds of people, remind one of the board walk at Atlantic City at the height of the season at that place. Our party was highly pleased with the manner in which they were cared for at The Inside Inn, which is conducted both upon the American and European plans.

The immense crowds attending the Exposition from day to day are orderly and well behaved. Everybody seems to be in a good humor, and I did not see a man under the influence of liquor on the grounds.

If I were asked to state my impression of the St. Louis Fair in a single word, I would say it is great.

J. W. HERING.

A 50 pound box of dynamite, which fell on the track of an electric railway at Melrose, Mass., on Wednesday, was struck by a car and exploded. The car, in which were 32 passengers, was blown to pieces. Nine of those on the car were killed and nineteen severely injured. Twenty persons in the vicinity of the explosion were hurt by flying glass and splinters.

Western Maryland's Tide Water Line.

The new tide water line of the Western Maryland Railroad from Walbrook to Port Covington, was formally opened for traffic on Tuesday. The event was not marked by an ostentatious display, Vice-President Landstreet, who was present on the occasion, being averse to that sort of thing. Referring to the opening the Sun of Wednesday says:

"While no freight was shipped to Port Covington yesterday, three cars were loaded with canned goods from William Numsen & Sons, R. E. Roberts & Co., and the Peerless Manufacturing Company, the freight being brought to the pier on a lighter. These cars were hauled up over the new line to Walbrook Junction and sent on their journey to New Orleans, St. Louis and Milwaukee, respectively. On the track near Light street the National Enameling and Stamping Company loaded the first car for outward shipment.

"The new freight and coal piers were inspected by Messrs. B. H. Griswold, general traffic manager; W. T. Hunter, general freight agent; F. M. Howell, general passenger agent; George C. Hildt, commercial freight agent; W. T. Stringer, secretary to Mr. Griswold, and others. They were escorted around by Mr. J. W. Galbreath, principal assistant engineer, who has had charge of constructing the line. The coal pier is not quite completed, and the transfer bridges at the terminals will not be finished for several weeks. Then the road will load cars on barges and send them around the harbor.

"Circulars have been sent out announcing the appointment of Mr. Charles W. McKinstry as agent at Port Covington. He was formerly connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad in handling export business at Canton. Mr. Harry L. Streib has been appointed general foreman at the terminals. He was formerly freight inspector for the Trunk Line Association. For the present no regular schedule will be arranged for operating the line. Trains will be run as the traffic arises for shipment."

A recent Oyster Bay dispatch says: "United States District Attorney William J. Youngs, of Brooklyn, and Assemblyman Cocks, of Nassau, called at Sagamore Hill late in the afternoon to bid the President good-bye. Mr. Roosevelt, they were told at the house, was out beyond the cornfield near the barn. Together the two Williams plodded through the "brake." With their shoes very dusty and their coat tails covered with corn tassels, they found the President out beyond the field chopping wood."

President Roosevelt returned to Washington yesterday from his summer home at Oyster Bay, N. Y. The engine of the special train by which he traveled was disabled at the entrance to the Union tunnel in Baltimore, by the bursting of a tire on one of the wheels. The only effect of the accident, however, was to cause a delay of 36 minutes in reaching Washington.

Why Not Cure Your Cough or Cold?

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1890.
MR. JOS. B. BOYLE:

Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but TEMPORARY RELIEF. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try YOUR Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost INSTANT RELIEF, but a PERMANENT CURE. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am, Truly yours,
EDWARD LYNCH.
