In the course of political lectures being given at Western Maryland College, the Republican view will be given tonight by Hon. S. A. Williams, of Harford county. Mr. Williams, who was the Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland last year, is one of the ablest exponents of the principles advocated by his party, and those who attend the lecture to be delivered by him will hear the case well and forcibly put and sustained by cogent reasoning and argument. Citizens generally are invited to be present.

A young white man who gave his name as John F. Russell and his home as in Harford county, was committed to the jail of this county on Wednesday, by justice William Moore, for the action of the grand jury on a charge of forgery. The complaint against him was made by Nathan Kirssin, a clothing dealer in Taneytown, to whom he gave a check on the Taneytown Savings Bank, payable to his own order, for fourteen dollars, and purporting to have been signed by August Martin, receiving change in money for the difference in the price of the clothes and the amount of the check. The signature of Martin, it is alleged, was forged and the check worthless.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Maryland Synod, Lutheran Church, has been in session in the Second Church, Baltimore, since Wednesday. Miss Ida Yingling is the delegate from Grace Church, this city. During the past year Mrs. G. W. Baughman, of Uniontown, has been second vice-president, and Miss Sarah C. Trump, of Manchester, historian. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected today. Reports presented yesterday showed that the total membership in the synodical organization is 4.204. distributed as follows: 1,708 in the Woman's Society, 736 in Young People's branches and 1,750 in the children's mission bands. The receipts for the past year amounted to $5,057.51, the money contributions being supplemented by gifts of clothing and supplies which were sent to missionaries in the home fields.

Maryland and Virginia Eldership.

The Maryland and Virginia Eldership of the Church of God, began its annual session in the church at Wakefield on Wednesday evening, when the opening sermon was delivered by the pastor, Rev. T. B. Tyler.

The formal organization of the Eldership took place at yesterday morning's session, by the election of the following officers: President, Rev. L. F. Murry, of Brook Hill; stated clerk, Rev. W. H. Englar; transcribing clerk, Rev. L. F. Billmyer; financial clerk, Rev. J. W. Rodkey; standing committee, Revs. L. F. Murry, W. H. Englar and J. A. Saxton.

The reports of the Board of Missions and the Board of Incorporation were received and approved.

A resolution was passed repudiating the Linwood camp-meeting as a function of the Eldership and forbidding any Eldership minister from taking part in the services of the camp, or in anywise recognizing it as connected with the Church of God.

Western Maryland Railroad.

The annaul meetings of the stockholders of the Western Maryland Railroad and subsidiary lines were held in Baltimore on Wednesday and directors were elected for the ensuing year. Gen. John M. Hood, so many years the efficient president and manager of the Western Maryland system, withdrew from the directorates and a resolution of regret at his retirement was adopted.

Satisfactory progress in the work of building the connections necessary to bring the systems in the Western Maryland interests to tidewater at Baltimore, was reported. The actual net earnings during the year, after deducting all charges, were $416,292.41.

The directors elected for the maln line are: Winslow S. Pierce, F. S. Landstreet, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., A. H. Calef, H. C. Deming, John W. Gates, Edwin Gould, Lawrence Greer, George J. Gould, H. B. Henson, W. H. McIntyre, James H. Hyde and S. Davies Warfield.

Outwitting Horse Thieves.

By shrewd amateur detective work Mr. Harry Bush, of Woolery's district, caused the apprehension and arrest of two horse thieves in this city, last Friday night. One of the men, who is colored, gave the name of Conrad Rinehart, and the other, a white man, of George W. Rathmore. The men, driving in a buggy, had stopped at Mr. Bush's residence and offered to sell him the team at so low a figure that he at once suspected it had not been honestly come by, and concluded to make an effort to verify his suspicion. Upon pretence that he would have to come to Westminster to procure the money to pay for the team he induced them to come with him here, and having learned that they were from Pennsylvania, he opened communication, by telephone, with a protective association in Cumberland county and ascertained that a horse and buggy answering the description of those in their possession had been stolen from a man named Kimmell, at Wormleysburg, in that county. He then caused the arrest of the men and Justice Wm. Moore committed them to jail to await the action of the Pennsylvania authorities. On Saturday morning the president of the protective association referred to, with an assistant or two, arrived and the accused consented to return with them to Pennsylvania without a requisition. Sheriff Wilson kept them in custody, however, and accompanied them to the Pennsylvania line, where they were turned over to officers of that state. Mr. Bush received a handsome reward for procuring the arrest of the men.

The zeal of the officers of the protective association in the case is accounted for by the fact that that organization was formed to protect property owners from loss by theft, and would have had to pay Mr. Kimmell for his team if it had not been recovered. The arrests were made by Officers Jerome and Mitten.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

John Henry Stumpf.

Mr. John Henry Stumpf, aged 70 years, was found dead on Tuesday, in the bathroom of his home at Reisterstown, by his son, Mr. Henry Stumpf, with whom he resided. He died of apoplexy. He was a brother of Mrs. Josiah Martin, of this city. His wife died about 20 years ago. He was engaged for many years in harness-making, in Reisterstown. Mr. Henry Stumpf is his only child.

Cyrus L. Grossnickle.

Mr Cyrus L. Grossnickle, of Franklin district, died at his home near Sams Creek, on Friday last, aged about 50 years. Mr. Grossnickle was a member of the German Baptist Brethren's Church. He was engaged in farming and also practiced veterinary surgery and his professional services were frequently called for, as he was well known for his skill in the treatment of diseased animals. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters—Messrs. Robert, Roy and Webster Grossnickle and Mrs. Zile, of this county, and Mrs. Harvey Franklin, residing in the West. Funeral services were held in the Sams Creek Brethren's Church, on Tuesday, Elder Wm. H. Franklin officiating.

Miss Eliza Long.

Miss Eliza Long, one of the oldest residents of this county, died at the home of her nephew, Mr. William Rodkey, at Mayberry, on Sunday last, 16th inst., in her ninety-first year. For fifty-five years preceding her death Miss Long was sightless, but bore the great affliction with patience, fortitude and apparent contentment, though none but she could have realized the many lonely hours she spent on account of the deprivation of sight, which kept her apart from the world beyond the limits of her home. Funeral services were held at Mayberry on Wednesday morning, Rev. L. F. Murry, of the Church of God, assisted by other ministers, officiating.

Rev. Charles D. Smith.

Rev. Charles D. Smith, one of the most valued and successful ministers of the Baltimore Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, died at the home of his sister, Miss Mary Smith, in this city, at 5.15 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, after a lingering illness, aged about sixty-five years. Mr. Smith was a native of this county and a son of the late Joseph and Elizabeth Smith, of Wakefield Valley. He was in the ministry of his church for forty years, and about four-fifths of that time was spent in serving charges in Baltimore. He was converted under a sermon preached in the historic Stone Chapel in 1858, by the late Rev. Charles A. Reid, and soon thereafter was licensed as an exhorter under the pastorate of the late Rev. James Brads. In August, 1864, he was licensed as a minister, at Ebenezer Church, then on Westminster Circuit, when Rev. Wm. M. Meminger was pastor in charge and Rev. Wm. Harden presiding elder.

Mr. Smith's early educational advantages had been meagre and he desired to take a college course, but was discouraged by some of his ministerial brethren. He always felt that the abandonment of the desire was the mistake of his life in the ministry, and said that he never would advise any man to become a preacher of the gospel without having a first-class education. He felt himself handicapped in pulpit preparation by this deficiency and worked hard and earnestly to fit himself for that duty, but believed that he never measured up to the standard he desired to attain. He was one of the meekest, as well as the purest, of men, and was prone to underestimate his own ability and value. His worth and the character of his work were, however, well understood by the leading ministers of the church, as was evidenced by his continued appointment, year after year, for a period of about thirty-five years, to stations in Baltimore City. These appointments he never sought and never murmured at any assignment during his ministerial career.

Depreciating the value of his pulpit work Mr. Smith threw himself, heart and soul, into the discharge of his pastoral duties, making house to house and face to face efforts to bring people to Christ, and giving special attention to children, to whom his great heart went out in overpowering love. In thirty years of his ministry he was never without a children's class, and he frequently had charge of the children's meeting at Emory Grove. That he labored successfully is shown by the fact that during his ministry he received about 2,000 persons into the church upon profession of conversion through his work.

Mr. Smith never married and assigned as a reason his lack of the sort of education he thought necessary in ministerial work. To make up for that lack he believed he could not justly give to domestic duties time which he thought belonged to the church. "It would not be right to myself," he said, "nor to the church nor to any woman for me to marry," in view of these conditions.

Mr. Smith was an exceedingly charitable man and freely gave a third of his income to benevolence. He was intensely patriotic and cherished a deep love for American institutions, but while a Republican in sentiment he never gave any time to participation in political affairs. His heart was in the work of the church. He belonged to the Masonic Fraternity and was a member of Door to Virtue Lodge of this city.

Mr. Smith's early years as boy and man were spent in the vicinity of the scenes made historic by the labors of Rev. Robert Strawbridge, the founder of Methodism in America, in the Sams Creek region, and to him, more than to any other, are the Methodists indebted for fixing the site of those labors and preserving valuable relics connected therewith, among them the Strawbridge-pulpit. Indeed, we think, it is not too much to say that he was largely instrumental in establishing, as a matter of history, the fact that the first Methodist congregation organized and the first Methodist Church built in America were the work of Strawbridge, in this county. About ten years ago he wrote a booklet recounting the evidence of this fact, and he was one of the originators and the leader of the first Methodist pilgrimage to the scenes of Strawbridge's labors in this county. He deeply regretted his inability, on account of his extreme illness, to join the recent pilgrimage to these scenes. He had a peculiar interest in Strawbridge's work as he was the great-grandson of Jacob Cassell, one of those converted under that pioneer of Methodism in this country.

Mr. Smith had a large family connection in this county, having been closely related to the Smith and Cassell families, of Wakefield Valley, who are among the leading citizens of the county. The late Judge John E. Smith was his cousin, and he was a nephew of the late John Smith of Wakefield, Joshua, Richard and Thomas Smith and Mrs. David Shriver.

The affectionate regard in which he was held by his brethren of the ministry and the laity also, was shown by the action of the large body of Methodists on their pilgrimage to the Sams Creek region last week, who in view of his then extreme illness adopted, when assembled at Bethel Church, the following Resolutions of Condolence:

WHEREAS, Our dearly beloved Brother Rev. Charles D. Smith, whose piety of life, purity of heart and zeal in labors have proved him to be a worthy son of the pioneer fathers of American Methodism, lies ill at his home at Westminster.

Resolved, That we rejoice in the abounding grace of our Lord Jesus manifested toward him throughout a ministry full of arduous toils and successful winning, as well as during the distresses of his present illness.

Resolved, That we and our whole Church are greatly indebted to him for his faithful and industrious study and his graphic description of the man and times of early Methodism in this historic region of which he is himself a worthy native and a noble representative.

Resolved, That we extend to Brother Smith the assurance of our profound sympathy in his present sickness, of our sincere affection and of our ardent prayers that the God of all consolation and grace may grant unto him blessing above all that we can ask or think, and we request the Committee in charge of this Pilgrimage to send him a copy of this paper and to have it published in the Westminster papers and in the Baltimore Methodist.

JOHN F. GOUCHER, Chairman,
W. G. HERBERT, Secretary

Funeral service was held in Centenary Church on Wednesday morning and a large concourse of relatives and friends of the deceased clergyman was present from this city and county, Baltimore and elsewhere. The service was in charge of Rev. Dr. C. Herbert Richardson, presiding elder of Baltimore district. The opening hymn, "Asleep in Jesus," was announced by the pastor of the church, Rev. D. G. Miller; prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. H. F. Rall, pastor of the First Church, Baltimore; the Scripture lessons were read by Rev. Dr. J. F. Heisse, presiding elder of West Baltimore district, and E. G. Watson, pastor of Harlem Park Church, Baltimore, and brief addresses were made by Rev. Drs. J. F. Goucher, president of the Woman's College; L. T. Widerman, superintendent of the Maryland Bible Society; C. W. Baldwin, superintendent of City Mission and Church Extension Society; Hugh Johnson, agent of the Woman's College, and Presiding Elder Richardson, all of whom spoke in terms of the most exalted eulogy of the life and work of Mr. Smith, and of their deep love for the man who, by his fidelity to his ideals of duty, had accomplished so much for the church and humanity.

The ministers' remarks were followed by the reading of memorial resolutions from the Preachers' Meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Baltimore, by Rev. W. G. Herbert; the Itinerant Club, by J. F. Porter; the Brotherhood of Baltimore district, by Rev. Dr. J. St. Clair Neal; Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Hampden, by Rev. Dr. Richardson. The last hymn, "It Is Well With My Soul," was announced by Rev. Dr. W. L. McDowell, presiding elder of the Frederick district, and sung by the church choir, and the closing prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. H. F. France, presiding elder of East Baltimore district. The services at the grave were conducted by Dr. Richardson, assisted by Drs. Goucher and Widerman.

The pall-bearers were: Rev. Drs. Heisse, Watson, Goucher, Widerman, Baldwin and France. Other ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church present, than those mentioned, were: Rev. Drs. D. H. Carroll, Joel Brown, J. P. Wilson, Revs. J. L. Walsh, C. E. Dudrear, G. W. Hobbs, G. W. Hyde, J. W. R. Sumwalt, J. R. Cadden, F. A. Killmon, of Baltimore; J. E. Amoss, of Reisterstown; L. E. Bennett, of New Windsor; W. C. Harden, of Carrollton. Rev. Dr. T. H. Lewis, president of Western Maryland College; Rev. L. F. Warner, of the Methodist Protestant Church, and Rev. Dr. P. H. Miller, of the Lutheran Church, were also present. The remains were interred in Westminster Cemetery. Mr. F. C. Sharrer was funeral director.

Carrollton Items.

Mr. Jacob Troyer, who has occupied part of the house of William Walsh and who did the farm work on shares, is about to move to Patapsco.

Irvin H. Troyer, son of Jacob Troyer, while engaged in playing with other boys, fell and broke his right arm, on Sunday a week ago. Dr. Wilson, near Emory Church, rendered professional services, and the little fellow is on the mend.

Mr. Adam Leppo, who occupied the house and farmed the land which belonged to Theodore Blizzard moved last Wednesday to near Emory Church, having rented a house and lot in that locality. Mr. Benjamin Croft and others did the moving. Mr. Leppo was a very quiet neighbor and there is much regret at his departure.

Farmers are very busy husking corn and some are still seeding wheat and rye.

Uncle Nick Houck, who had a stroke of paralysis some time ago, has so far recovered as to be able to walk about again and enjoy the fresh air.

Mr. Arthur Walsh, who is now engaged with the Adams Express Company in Baltimore, has been spending a few days with his mother, sisters and brothers, near Carrollton, and is looking hale and hearty.

A fine sorrel horse belonging to Mr. Charles Arbaugh ran a nail in his hoof recently and it is feared the lockjaw may set in.

The big barn of Mr. Fred. Basler, of this neighborhood, which was destroyed by fire sometime ago, is being replaced by a large and commodious new structure. A force of his neighbors and friends raised the barn a few days ago, under the direction of Mr. George Hughes, the contractor for the building. It is now under roof and will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

Mr. William Pinkney Blizzard and others, of the Church of God, left on Thursday last for the eldership meeting, which is now in session at Wakefield.

Mr. Henry Ratchey, of Blatimore, who had been the guest of Mr. E. E. Koons and family for several weeks, returned to Baltimore on Monday last.

Mr. Monroe Taylor and sister, near Patapsco, paid a visit to your correspondent last week.

Mrs. Samuel Richards, near Wesley, is very sick with pneumonia.

Mrs. Brown, an elderly lady, died at the home of Mr. Joseph Davidson, near Wesley, Sunday last, aged about 88 years. Her remains were buried at Wesley cemetery on Tuesday last.

A little daughter of Mr. Bart Taylor fell and hurt her head badly a week or so ago. Dr. Bush rendered professional service and the child is now better.

Epworth League Convention.

The convention and rally of the Carroll County Epworth League Union, held in Centenary M. E. Church, this city, on Saturday afternoon and Sunday last, was an entertaining and successful event. The attendance at the afternoon session was not large, but as it was devoted to business and the assignment of delegates to homes only, the presence of a numerous audience was not anticipated. Mr. J. Belt Townshend presided.

At the remaining sessions the leagues throughout the county were well represented and much interest was manifested in the proceedings. At the evening session a very cordial and earnest address of welcome was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Durbin G. Miller, to which President Townshend responded in a felicitous manner. At this session the officers of the Union for the ensuing year were elected, as follows: President, J. Belt Townshend, of Westminster; vice president, Robert E. Barnes, of Gamber; secretary, Harry M. Kimmey; treasurer, Mrs. Laura S. Sellman, of Westminster; executive committee, Rev. F. G. Watson, of West Falls; Dr. D. F. Shipley, of Westminster; Willard E. Buckingham, of Mount Olive. The session closed with a platform service on Requisites for Epworth League Work which was discussed in the following order: 1st, Consecration, Rev. C. E. Dudrear; 2nd, Spiritual Enthusiasm, Rev. W. T. Jarboe; Divine Guidance, Rev. W. C. Harden. The proceedings on Sunday consisted of lovefeast at 9 A. M. conducted by Rev. Geo. W. Cecil; regular service at 10.30 and sermon by Rev. F. G. Watson; children's service at 2 P. M., conducted by Miss Ella Weaver, superintendent of the Kelso Home, Baltimore; platform service, at 2.45, Christian Service, discussed as follows: Obedience, Wilbur E. Buckingham; Watchfulness, George R. Gehr; Prayer, James S. Baer, Jr. At the evening service a sermon was delivered by Rev. A. B. Wood, of Relay M. E. Church.

The proceedings were enlivened and made doubly interesting by a song service, at intervals throughout the sessions, conducted by Dr. D. F. Shipley.

Long Items.

Quite a number of our people joined the pilgrimage to the scenes of the labors of Robert Strawbridge and met many of their friends from the city.

Mrs. Andrew Long has been spending several days in Baltimore.

Mr. William Farver is erecting a large wagonshed.

Clarence Manahan has become a student of Western Maryland College.

Protracted meeting is in progress at St. James' M. E. Church and a missionary service and rally was held at that place on Sunday afternoon which was largely attended.

WEDDING BELLS.

Mehring-Sheeley.

Miss Mamie Sheeley and Mr. Claude Mehring, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Mehring, of Littlestown, were united in marriage by the bride's pastor, Rev. J. Hamilton Smith, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. O. Mehring, on Tuesday evening, 11th inst.

Stonesifer-Crouse.

Miss Etta Crouse, daughter of the late W. F. Crouse, and Dr. Howard Stonesifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Stonesifer, both of Littlestown, Pa., were quietly married at the home of the bride's uncle, Rev. I. N. Peightel, of Greencastle, Pa., who performed the ceremony, Wednesday evening, 15th inst. Miss Leoma Weaver a niece of the bride, played the wedding march. Mrs. S. B. Weaver, of Littlestown, sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin S. Newman, of Hanover, were present at the ceremony. The wedding party returned to Littlestown Thursday evening.

Warfield-DeLashmutt.

Miss Gertrude De Lashmutt, third daughter of Mr. John M. De Lashmutt, of "Hampton Court," near Mt. Airy, and Mr. Howard Warfield, of Sykesville, were married at the home of the bride on Thursday, Rev. J. Watkins Lacy performing the marriage ceremony. The bride's attendants were her sisters, Misses Nellie Dorsey and Mildred Lee De Lashmutt. The flower girl was little Mary Carolyn Morris, niece of the bride. The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was attired in a handsome gown of white eolienne, combined with spangled net and chiffon. She wore a tulle veil held by orange blossoms. The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Benjamin Dorsey Polk, of Baltimore, as best man. A wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony.

O'Farrell-McCaffrey.

Miss Byrde McCaffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCaffrey, near this city, and Mr. Joseph L. O'Farrell, of Hanover, Pa., were married at St. John's Catholic Church, at 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. Jos. H. Cassidy, performing the marriage ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The bride wore a gown of Paris muslin, trimmed in real lace and white satin ribbon, with an extreme hat, of white tulle trimmed with ostrich plumes, and carried Bride roses and maidenhair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Bessie McCaffrey, as maid of honor, who was gowned in organdy, trimmed in valenciennes lace and nile green ribbon, with hat to match gown, and carried pink chrysanthemums. Mr. Warner, of Hanover, attended the groom as best man. The ushers were Mr. John Case and Mr. Charles McCaffrey, brother of the bride. The groom is a relative of Ex-Governor Charles T. O'Farrell, of Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. O'Farrell left by an evening train for a wedding trip to the St. Louis Exposition, Chicago and other points in the west.

Premiums on Westminster Dogs.

In the bench show at the Frederick Fair Mr. Charles E. Hering and Mr. John L. Reifsnider, Jr., of this city, exhibited several canines which won prizes. Mr. Hering exhibited an English setter—novice dog—Coin Silver, registered, No. 71,483 by the American Kennel Club, March 30, 1902; breeder G. H. Wightman, by Albert Duke and Blue Jennie; awarded first prize.

Mr. Reifsnider exhibited novice bitch, Tony's Nellie, registered, No. 82,411 by the A. K. C., Nov. 4, 1901; breeder N. G. Harden, by Tony's Hope and Princess Diana; awarded second prize.

Mr. Reifsnider also exhibited limit bitch, K. Lady, registered, No. 82,410, by the A. K. C., April 13, 1902; breeder F. H. Avary, by Count Darmstadt and Peggy Flora; awarded third prize and also first prize for best bitch owned south of Mason and Dixon's line. These dogs were benched against the best New York dogs and are considered the best bred dogs in America. They were in charge of Mr. H. L. Harden.

Shipley Items.

Our farmers are about done their seeding, and corn husking is the leading order now. A large amount of land has been sown to grain in our section this fall. The corn crop is good. The chestnut crop is very poor and apples are scarce.

Our public school is well attended by the pupils now enrolled.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Zion will have its monthly meeting at the church on the first Saturday of November, at 1 P. M. At this meeting a new board of officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Mr. E. G. Shipley's new house is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy.

The health of our community is good and our laboring classes are very busy.

The election is coming. Who will it be, Roosevelt or Parker? Opinions here differ.

[The chances are decidedly in favor of Roosevelt.—Editor.]

Mrs. Fannie Geekler died at the home of Mrs. J. M. Motter on Thursday evening, 13th inst., at an advanced age. Fourteen years ago she buried her husband from her home in Baltimore, and soon thereafter became one of the above family. She was never very strong, but after a fall several years ago, while visiting in Baltimore, became an invalid and for two years was closely confined to her room. A short funeral service was held at the home on Friday evening by the Rev. S. M. Roeder. The remains were in charge of Masenhimer & Bergman, and were taken to Baltimore on Saturday and laid away to rest beside her husband in Greenmount cemetery, Rev. C. M. Eyster officiating at the grave. She leaves several nephews and nieces.

Mr. Tine Wentz, near Lineboro, had a 14-acre field of corn husked last week that yielded 18 barrels to the acre. Mr. W. is having timbers and shingles sawed for a new house on his farm. The Grove Brothers are doing the sawing.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of Gist, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Miranda Rudisil on Sunday and Monday.

Miss Erma Trout, of Baltimore, is visiting friends here this week.

Miss Lucinda Reagle, of Phoenix, is a guest at the home of Mr. John W. Warner, her cousin.

The members of the 1904 Sewing Society were excellently entertained by Miss Adda Trump, on Thursday evening. All enjoyed a pleasant time. Refreshments were served in abundance.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oursler, of Baltimore, visited Mr. O's. parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Oursler, last week.

Mrs. Maurice Unger left on Thursday for her home at Manlius, N. Y., after spending several months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Shower.

Messrs. Geo. S. Motter, Walter D. Hanson, H. T. J. Lamotte, and G. W. J. Everhart attended the meeting of the Grand Encampment of Maryland on Tuesday in Baltimore at the I. O. O. F. Temple. Mr. Geo. S. Motter was the retiring grand patriarch, and W. D. Hanson, grand outside sentinel. At the election Jos. E. Cook was elected grand patriarch; W. A. S. Onion, G. H. priest; Fred. A. Groom, G. senior warden; John M. Jones, grand scribe; Augustus Bouldin, grand treasurer; Jos. E. Kroh, grand representative; C. W. Bautheny, grand marshal; Richard Gibney, Jr., grand warden. After the installation of the officers Mr. Geo. S. Motter, the retiring grand patriarch, was presented with a P. G. jewel by the members of Carroll Encampment No. 17, I. O. O. F.

For the Sentinel.

A Treat For Sunday School Workers.

A rare opportunity will shortly be given the Sunday School workers of Carroll county, to increase their enthusiasm and efficiency in their high calling, training "The Child In The Midst," by bringing them in touch with some of the most successful workers and their methods in this field of labor.

As told in The SENTINEL last week, the Md. Sunday School Union will hold its 35th biennial State convention in Baltimore, the 27th and 28th of this month. A program has been prepared that ought to charm the heart of every worker. International Secretary Marion Lawrence, in commenting on it, said: "I never saw a program gotten up in better shape, nor one with more practical topics upon it. I feel like packing my grip and starting for Baltimore." In addition to some of the best home talent, two special institute workers, Mrs. J. Woodbridge Barnes, of New Jersey, international primary superintendent, and Mr. W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, international teacher training superintendent, have been secured. Mr. W. H. Stames, Gen. Sec. of the organized Sunday School work in India, will also be a guest of the convention. The Sunday School exhibit will be a unique and comprehensive feature.

The Md. Sunday School Union is a purely undenominational institution. It has no axe to grind further than "Better Work" for all schools. It offers its services of helpfulness and inspiration gratuitously to all schools. The vice-president for Carroll county, Mr. Jesse P. Garner, hopes that this county will rank among the first in representation. Let each school send its superintendent and delegates.

J. M. MYERS, Voluntary Observer.

M. C. I. Notes.

Each week brings with it a number of new students to Maryland Collegiate Institute. Among those recently enrolled are: Misses Edith Josephs, of Washington, D. C.; Velma Grimes, New Windsor; Lora Fahrney, Frederick; Messrs. Howard Myers, York Road, and John Wolf, Union Bridge.

The art department has never before started off so promisingly. It now contains quite a number of enthusiastic workers. Those who visit the studio Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons will see some working with charcoal, others with crayon, water colors, and oil paints. The free hand drawing classes have been able by the beautiful weather, to do much outdoor sketching, which is a very attractive feature at this season.

The Emersonians were delighted to have with them on last Friday evening, Professor Howard H. Benson, of Westminster, who favored them with several instrumental solos. Prof. Benson and Miss Mary Myers, instrumental music teacher, gave a Beethoven concerte which was much appreciated.

The Hiawathians have a number of good things in store for you on this Friday evening.

Prof. Wine was in Baltimore last week.

Misses Mae Diehl and Anna Hoover spent several days last week at their homes.

Prof. Wine, Messrs. Gilbert and Williamson attended the funeral of Mr. Roy Grossnickle's father on Tuesday.

Quite a number of teachers and students attended the lovefeast at Meadow Branch last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Sara Price is enjoying a visit from her friend, Miss Katherine Bechtel, who is a former student of M. C. I.

Miss Nettie Heefner visited her alma mater this week.
