Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1905.

The Supreme Court of the United States has rendered a decision on the appeal from the judgment of the U. S. District Court of St. Louis in the case of United States Senator Joseph R. Burton, of Kansas, granting him a new trial on the charge of having violated a United States statute by acting as counsel for the Rialto Grain and Securities Company and receiving compensation, for services rendered the company in the Postoffice Department, while occupying a seat in the Senate. A single member of the Supreme Court dissented from the decision. A majority of the court held that if the facts in the case are as alleged there is ground for Senator Burton's conviction of the charge against him; but Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Brewer, White and Peckham dissented. The main fact of the decision is the opportunity given Senator Burton for a fair trial before are unprejudiced tribunal, the rulings of Judge Adams, before whom the case was tried, having been notoriously against him.

Recent events in connection with the war in Manchuria give color to a Japanese statement that Russia is endeavoring to involve other nations in the conflict. Both the belligerents are pledged to observe the integrity of Chinese territory and to forbear trespassing upon it during the war. Russia now alleges that China is now violating her neutrality in favor of the Japanese, and threatens to take summary action by seizing Chinese territory. It is said she has already done so. On the other hand the Japanese allege that the Russian Cossacks, in their recent raid in the rear of Gen. Nogi's army, entered the forbidden zone, the neutrality of which they, the Japs, have strictly observed. The fall of Port Arthur and the release of the Japanese force which besieged it, to join in repelling a forward movement of Gen. Kuropatkin's army, has made the Russian situation in Manchuria well nigh hopeless, and unless Russia can complicate the situation in some way she will soon be compelled to acknowledge defeat. Hence there is ground for believing the report that she is endeavoring to create a diversion that may result to her benefit.

A Victory for Secretary Hay.

The United States Government, through the endeavors of Secretary of State John Hay, has won another great victory in its fight to preserve the "administrative entity" of the Chinese Empire. Solemn pledges have just been received by the State Department, in reply to a recent note of Secretary Hay, from all the powers signatory to the Chinese agreement of 1900 that no attempt will be made by them at the conclusion of the Far Eastern war or before to acquire any part of Chinese territory.

The great importance of these promises on the part of the powers cannot, it is said at the State Department, be overestimated. Since the outbreak of hostilities between Russia and Japan the one great fear of the President and Secretary Hay has been that the conclusion of the war, no matter who the victor, would witness a partition of China among the powers, such as occurred at the conclusion of the war of 10 years ago between China and Japan.

It was because of this fear that Secretary Hay at the beginning of hostilities extracted from the neutral powers an agreement to preserve the "administrative entity" of China and took such precautions to limit the zone of hostilities in the Far East.

Was It Accident, or Design?

While the Czar of Russia was blessing the waters of the Neva beside the Winter Palace in St. Petersburg, yesterday, and with his family near by, a rain of grapeshot and bullets as large as a pigeon's egg struck the chapel and palace, smashing windows and injuring a number of police.

It is said that the missiles might have wiped out the Romanoff dynasty.

The shot came from one of the cannon of the Seventeenth Battery of the First Horse Artillery of the Guard, the most aristocratic corps in the army, which was firing salutes from the Bourse, just across the River Neva.

It was officially declared later to have been an accident, but it is believed to have been plainly an attempt upon the Czar's life.

Freezing in the South.

During the cold snap the early days of this week freezing weather was experienced in the extreme southern section of this country. At Mobile, Ala., the temperature on Sunday was down to 21° and the vegetable crop for the coming season received a severe setback. Around Mobile 1000 acres devoted to trucking purposes felt the effect of the unusual cold and the damage inflicted is estimated at $50,000.

In Florida the lowest temperature reported at the same period was 32°, at Jacksonville, and no serious damage was inflicted at any point in the State.

Dr. Edward B. Dawson, a dentist at Forest Park, Baltimore, who is under indictment for felonious assault on four little girls, but who escaped when the children divulged his crime, was arrested on Monday in Hamilton, Ontario, where he was employed as driver of a grocery wagon. The case is a most remarkable one. Dr. Dawson was a very popular and successful dentist. He had gained his profession and the means of pursuing it by acting as conductor on an electric car in New York. When ready to begin its practice he located in Baltimore. His skill and urbanity of manner soon gained him a large clientele. He married a beautiful young lady and had apparently a most promising future. The revolting crimes with which he is charged may be punished by death. He refused to return to Baltimore when arrested and decided to contest the question of extradition in his case.

Ex-Mayor J. Samuel McCue, of Charlottsville, Va., who was convicted of the murder of his wife and sentenced to be hanged today, has been granted a respite until February 10, by the Governor of the State, to give an opportunity for a rehearing of his application for a writ of error before the Supreme Court.

Mr. Daniel Annan, cashier, has been elected president of the Second National Bank of Cumberland in place of Hon. Lloyd Lowndes, deceased.

It is stated that more than half the Russian officers at Port Arthur were killed during its siege by the Japanese.

FRANK DANIELS AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC, BALTIMORE.

The unique and talented laugh-provoker, Frank Daniels, will appear at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, in his next week in his musical comedy success, "The Office Boy". This attraction was one of the popular hits of last year in Baltimore, where it was regarded as about the brightest and most laughable musical comedy offering of the season. The piece has a very amusing plot.
