n.d. James Chaston to [Daniel Chaston]

I rec.d y.r ~~Letter of the 10th Oct.r by~~ Spencer, who arrived here at the middle of Feb.y I was pleased to find you still con tinued free from y.r old complaint. I dare say you will not be attacked w.th it again, as you have now arrived to an age, when the constitution in general has attained sufficient Vigour to resist Dis eases, perhaps occasioned by the Weakness of Youth alone; However, as I am still of Opinion, that a Dry warm Climate which this is in comparison to England, would afford the greatest chance of preven ting a Relapse, ~~it would be very eligible~~ You coming out here, would be highly prudent, especially too as there are many other Motives, that at least strength ens that inducement, if they ~~[illegible]~~ are not sufficient of themselves; You know I have mentioned before my Reasons for wishing it, and have constantly men tioned it to my Brother, who to my great Surprise has been as constantly
