Judgeship for Senator McComas.

It has been announced from Washington that Judge Morris, of one of the District of Columbia Courts, will resign about July 1st, and that Ex-Senator Louis E. McComas, of Maryland, will receive an appointment to the District Bench, as his successor. Whether this means, as has been intimated in some quarters, that Mr. McComas will permanently retire from participation in the political affairs of this State, remains to be seen. What has occurred once may happen again, and it should not be forgotten that the ex-senator is also an ex-judge and was called from the bench to the Upper House of Congress.

OYSTER CULTURE AND GOOD ROADS.

At a meeting of the Deer Creek (Harford county) Farmers' Club, at Belair, on Saturday evening, decided action was taken in favor of oyster culture and good roads legislation, and the plan proposed by Mr. B. Howard Haman, two years ago, was fully endorsed. Mr. Haman was present and spoke at some length on the subject. He expressed a desire to retire from the active advocacy of the measure, and suggested that a committee be appointed to take charge of the matter, but the club unanimously protested against that course and adopted the following resolution:

"That it is the sense of this club that Mr. B. Howard Haman reconsider his intention to retire from the active advocacy of the movement for improved oyster culture in Maryland and that we earnestly insist that he continue at the head of the movement."

It is understood, therefore, that Mr. Haman will again be the leader in an active movement to procure legislation for the leasing of the oyster beds of the State and the appropriation of the revenue thus derived to the betterment of the public roads.

The question is one of great importance to the people of the State, not only from a financial standpoint but for the preservation of the oyster industry. The time has come for the preservation of the oyster by cultivation or of submission to its eventual extinction in the waters of the State. The natural beds are being rapidly depleted, as they are the prey of avaricious oystermen, who pay little for the privilege of destroying them.

It is believed that by the Haman plan the industry cannot only be preserved but largely developed, while at the same time the State will derive a large revenue from the leases. The difficulty in the way of securing the desired legislation lies in the hostility of certain interests in the tidewater counties and the fear on the part of local politicians in that section that antagonism to those interests may mean political suicide. It is about time that other interests in these counties begin to make themselves felt and give the politicians to understand that they will no longer consent to be ignored or to accept doubtful comprises which never inure to their benefit.

If the oyster is to be made an issue in the campaign the fight should be made so hot that legislators may understand that wavering means an end to their political aspirations.

HOPE AT LAST FOR PHILADELPHIA.

The City of Philadelphia has, for a long time, been in the clutches of a set of corrupt politicians, who have profited by all sorts of fraudulent transactions against the municipality. The last and probably the most flagrant proceeding of this character was the recent passage of an ordinance by the City Council to lease the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement Company for a period of 75 years, for the gross sum of $25,000,000, which is said to be a number of times less than their real rental value. It is alleged that the deal was for the almost exclusive benefit of a single political boss. When the ordinance was voted upon and passed spectators in the council chamber denounced, with loud outries, the councilmen as thieves, and public sentiment was aroused to a pitch of frenzy.

Then Mayor Weaver made it known that he was bitterly opposed to the lease and would veto the ordinance, but the council threatened to pass it over his veto; and now a fight is on between the chief executive of the city and the organization ring. On Tuesday the mayor dismissed two of the prominent officers of the city, David J. Smyth, director of the department of public safety, and Peter E. Costello, director of the department of public works. Other removals from office are to follow and the mayor lets it be understood that the fight is to the death. The legality of the removals will be contested in the courts, but the action of the mayor will probably be sustained.

Philadelphia is a Republican city and the ring which rules it is a Republican ring. The mayor is also a Republican. That his course will be approved by the bulk of the party can hardly be doubted and good men everywhere, of all parties, will rejoice if he shall succeed in overthrowing the machine, even if it must de done by alliances with other political organizations. Official fraud and rascality should be suppressed notwithstanding it may involve the defeat of the party with which the rascals are connected. It is to be hoped the Republicans of Philadelphia will rise to the occasion and give their moral and political support to the mayor in his crusade against official wrong-doing.

Does This Mean Gov. Warfield and Attorney General Bryan ?

From the Advocate.

BE STRAIGHT OR RESIGN.

The proposed amendment to the Constitution limiting the elective franchise, is drawn in accordance with the Democratic platform of 1903.

Upon that platform the Democrats carried the State by more than twelve thousand majority and elected three-fifths of the members of the Legislature.

It is reported that some Democratic officials chosen at that same election are opposed to the amendment.

If the reports are true, those officials should resign.

There is no middle course for them; Either support their party or make way for better party men. When candidates, they wanted every Democrat to stand by the ticket and platform. Democratic party men expect Democrats, particularly office-holders, to be straight now.

A New Jersey Monument At Newbern, N. C.

Mr. Jerome W. Woolery, of Lewisburg, Ohio, spent from Saturday till Monday with his sister, Mrs. Joshua F. Magee, near Reese, and other relatives in this vicinity. Mr. Woolery, who served in the Ninth New Jersey Infantry Regiment during the Civil War, had been attending the unveiling of a monument erected by that State in honor of the dead of the regiment who lie buried in the National Cemetery at Newbern, N. C. The monument is a very handsome one, of rough chiseled Massachusetts granite and is surmounted by a statue representing a Union soldier standing at parade rest. Its height is 15 feet. The inscriptions on the stone are:

"The State of New Jersey erects this monument in honor of her 9th Regiment Volunteer Infantry, whose heroic dead lie buried in this cemetery.

1861.....1865
Erected 1905

On the reverse side:
Mustered In October 1861
Mustered Out July 1865

On the other sides are the names of the battles in which the regiment participated.

The ceremonies attending the unveiling of the monument were of a most interesting character. The survivors of the regiment, who were present as guests of the State of New Jersey, which paid all expenses, were met with the warmest greetings by the Confederate veterans of Newbern and the Governor of the State was among the speakers on the occasion. The visiting veterans were banqueted by Governor Glenn and his staff and citizens of Newbern and at the same time the Daughters of the Confederacy gave a reception to the ladies who accompanied the New Jersey party.

A souvenir badge, containing a picture of the monument and date of its dedication, was presented to each of the survivors of the regiment, who also received a souvenir card, in the shape of a shield, from the Governor of North Carolina.

End of Machen Prosecution.

Mr. August W. Machen, former superintendent of the rural free delivery postal service, pleaded guilty in Criminal Court No. 1 of the District of Columbia, Tuesday, to an indictment charging him with conspiracy, with Mr. W. G. Crawford and George E. Lorenz, to defraud the government, and was sentenced to two years imprisonment in the Moundsville, W. Va., Penitentiary, the sentence to become operative at the expiration of the two years' term he is now serving in the same prison. Upon pleading guilty eleven other indictments pending against him were abandoned by the government, making the full penalties against him four years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000. Mr. Machen was granted permission by the court to explain his action in pleading guilty to the indictment for conspiracy with Crawford and Lorenz, and said among other things:

"Although I did not directly or indirectly interfere with or attempt to influence the committee that received and considered the competitive bids under which the contract set forth in the indictment was awarded and executed, yet I held an interest in the contract and shared in the profits accruing from it. I did not know or suppose at that time that I was violating the law, nor was there any intention on my part to injure or defraud the United States. I am advised by counsel, however, that the acceptance of the money alleged to have been received by me in the indictment constituted, under the circumstances, a technical violation of the statute."

The fine old property known as the Rogers estate, near Marriottsville, in Carroll county, has been purchased by A. F. Arrington, for the sum of $11,000. The estate contains about 600 acres, a great portion of which abounds in excellent timber suitable for building and other purposes. It is separated from the colonial land grants of the Marriotts in Howard county by the Patapsco River, along the borders of which it extends about a mile or more. It has been in the hands of the Rogers family, in Baltimore county, for nearly a century, and it was not until recently that the owners concluded to dispose of the old homestead. The lowlands bordering the Patapsco have been utilized for many years in the raising of broom corn, and a broom factory on the property has been successfully operated by the farm tenants. Some years ago, when the commission to select a site for an additional state insane asylum, the Rogers estate was inspected with the view of purchasing it for that purpose, but the present home at Springfield, near Sykesville, was selected. The old estate lies partly in three counties—Baltimore, Howard and Carroll. The present owner intends to divide the estate into several smaller farms.

The smallpox scare in Hagerstown is abating and it is thought that by the date of the annual convention of the Maryland State Volunteer Firemen's Association, which is to be held in that place next month, all danger of contagion will have ended and the firemen may meet without the slightest apprehension of contracting the disease. Mayor Strite, of Hagerstown, writes to the Baltimore Sun that the greatest number of families affected by the malady at any time was 11. The quarantine upon two of these has been lifted and no new case has been reported during the past week. Energetic measures have been employed by the health authorities to prevent the spread of the disease and to stamp it out effectually. The Westminster Fire Department has received a letter from Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the State Board of Health, giving the assurance that there will not be the slightest danger of contracting the disease by firemen who may attend the convention. A letter of similar nature has also been received from Messrs. Alex. Neill, J. Clarence Lane and Norman B. Scott, Jr., three prominent citizens of Hagerstown.

Ex-Mayor Robert C. Davidson, of Baltimore, has deserted his wife and sailed for Europe with Miss Laura B. Noyes, a trained nurse whom he met three years ago at Nantucket, Mass., and with whom he became infatuated. At least this is the story told by the Baltimore papers and confirmed by his wife. Mr. Davidson is 55 years old and the woman who accompanies him 30 years. The ex-mayor is reported to be a man of large wealth, having made much money by speculating in stocks. He left his home on the 8th inst., but remained in Baltimore until the 17th winding up his business affairs. His wife says he took about $175,000 with him leaving her without funds and dependent, for the present, upon a small private income for support. Miss Noyes is described as six feet tall and very slender. Mr. Davidson was elected mayor of Baltimore in 1889.

Henry J. Sherman, who was committed to the jail of York county, Pa., on the 6th inst., on a charge of burglary, died suddenly in his cell in the prison, at York, on Tuesday evening, just as the turnkey passed him his evening meal. He was a native of York county, and lived in the vicinity of Sherman's Church. His age was 69 years. His last words were: "Here's where I get some of that good bread like mother used to make." He was at one time well known in this city. He was a somewhat eccentric character and was known to light his cigars with $10 and $20 bills. It is said that thirty years ago he was a man of affluence, but speculation and reckless living brought him to poverty.

Mr. Jesse Cullison, son of Mr. George Cullison, a farmer near Trenton, secured a marriage license Wednesday of last week at Towson and, with his bride-to-be, Miss Edith Shaffer, of near Mount Zion, Fourth district, went to Hampstead late Wednesday evening where they were married by Rev. Milson Thosma, of Hampstead circuit, Methodist Episcopal Church. The parents of the groom were not apprised of the wedding until after the ceremony.

During an electrical storm Monday night four horses in a field on the farm of Mr. Stephen C. Smooth, near Darnestown, Montgomery county, were killed by lightning and a cherry tree, under which the animals were found, was split its entire length.

It is stated that G. H. Murphy, subcontractor for driving the Welton tunnel on the line to connect the Western Md. with the West Va. Central and making the adjacent grades has completed the work. He had a small army of men under him and is the first subcontractor on the line to complete his work.

Saturday last the following buildings were burned in the village of Newark, Worcester county: Leslie Bowen's livery stable, value $500; no insurance. Odd Fellows' Hall, $2,100; insurance, $800. Miss Holstein's millinery store; stock saved; no insurance on building; loss $500.

Wm. Stemler was killed and 40 persons were injured in a rear end collision of two trolley cars at Maryland avenue, South Baltimore, on the Westport line, at half-past 12 o'clock, this morning while returning from Klein's Park.

The Democratic State Central Committee met at the Eutaw House, Baltimore, yesterday and decided to hold the State convention not later than September 20 and took steps for an aggressive campaign.

Vice President Landstreet and General Manager Clark, of the Western Md. Railroad, went to Cumberland by special train on Wednesday, to consult with railroad and mining officials at that place.

Frost has appeared in all the northern counties of this State during this week, but the damage to vegetation was slight. In Northern Pennsylvania and New York killing frosts occurred.

The strawberry crop in all the lower counties of the Eastern Shore of Maryland is large this year and the berries are being shipped in great quantities.

The annual session of the General Conference of the Church of God is in session at Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

The Ohio Republican convention renominated Gov. Marion T. Herrick yesterday.

Letter to Jos. H. Krichton,

WESTMINSTER.

Dear Sir: You sell a good many things by the gallon. Being a decent man, you give full measure.

You know what we mean: you know that short weight and short measure are common among—well, we hope there are no short measures and weights in your town.

There are, though, Ribbons and laces and trimmings, sold by the "dozen," measure nine or ten yards. There is no complaint, because "they all do it." You have the same plague in your goods—nearly everything, canned or bottled, cheats in quantity. Almost nobody gives full weight in a factory package!

We are one of the almost nobodies. We sell paint, by the gallon, to paint your house; and our gallon is just the same size as yours that you measure vinegar with—231 cubic inches.

Good paint too—Devoe lead-and-zinc—takes fewer gallons than mixed paint and wears twice as long as lead-and-oil.

You own a house. That's why we are writing to you. Yours truly

This is Your Opportunity.

LAST WEEK WE ADVERTISED THAT WE HAD MOVED THE BALANCE OF

The Hering Stock

TO OUR STORES AND TO BE PREPARED FOR BARGAINS.

We had no idea that the simple announcement would bring us such a rush of customers. It has been simply impossible for us even with an increased sales force to wait on the trade the past week, and by working day and night we have not been able to get all of this stock on sale, as we had hoped to have by this SATURDAY. We are placing it on sale as rapidly as we can. Thousands have already secured some of these wonderful bargains, we will continue to place this stock on the bargain counters as fast as we can, each day; so don't delay but come EVERY DAY. You will be sure to find something of special valve to interest you.

Watch Our Advertisement Next Week

We will then have an itemized advertisement of the entire stock, but do not wait for that advertisement, as the lots are smaller each day and the very bargain you may want may be sold.

THE LITTLE DETAILS

TEN yards of Cloth and a mile of thread isn't the whole story of a good suit—not by several thousand stitches

It takes tailoring brains in plenty and mighty cleaver craftsmanship to make clothes in the right way—the SCHLOSS way.

Further than this, the looks and life of the suit depend more on the LITTLE details than you could imagine. For instnace, simply the placing of the buttons and the shape of the lapel have everything to do with the final appearance of a coat, while such a trifle as the proper moulding of a curve makes all the difference between a beautiful garment and a mealsack.

If you could take an X-Ray glance at the interior of a Schloss coat you'd find the same careful attention to details as you see outside. Linings, stays and paddings—the framework of the structure—are made to wear, lot merely to sell.

The result of all this care is a finished garment that looks and is extraordinarily good. It fits that way too, and wears that way as a matter of course. An occasional pressing makes it keep that "new look" indefinitely.
