J. Rippard.

So far as the interests of the public are concerned there is no change whatever in the conduct of the office, and we solicit the continued patronage of subscribers and advertisers, assuring them that they will receive as in the past, faithful and efficient service.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the Circuit Court for Carroll County, in the case of the G. Walter Bowman estate. Bowman had two wives living at the same time, but for many years had been separated from wife No. 1. The case was removed here from Washington county and the verdict in the case sustained the contention of Mrs. Lettie E. Bowman, wife No. 2, that she was lawfully wedded to Bowman. By the decision she will receive about $5,000 and her son by Bowman $15,000.

A number of opinions were handed down in the Court of Appeals on Tuesday, among them one in the case of the Western Maryland Railroad against Mrs. Maude E. Shivers, of Union Bridge, appeal from the Circuit Court for this county. The judgment of the lower court was affirmed and the verdict of the jury giving Mrs. Shivers $10,000 for injuries caused by the derailing of a car of the company in which she was riding was sustained. A number of fine pictures of scenes at the wreck on the Western Maryland Railroad have been taken by the photographers of this city. Several of them were taken on Saturday evening by Mr. James D. Mitchell, who has presented the editor and manager of the SENTINEL, each, with a group of four, mounted, two of which were taken on Saturday evening and two on Sunday. Those taken by Mr. Mitchell Saturday are the only ones obtained immediately after the collision. One of those taken by him has been reproduced in the Baltimore Sun.

Knights of Pythias

On Tuesday evening a committee of Charity Lodge No. 58, K. of P., composed of Messrs. James D. Mitchell, chairman; George F. Morelock, John B. Saylor, W. Frank Thomas and Milton A. Sullivan, met committees from lodges in Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick and Montgomery counties, at Odd Fellows' Hall, this city, for the purpose of taking steps to prepare for the district meeting of the order to be held here September 6. The committees present, acting jointly, elected Jacob H. Smith, of Mountain City Lodge, Frederick, chairman, and George F. Morelock, of Charity Lodge, secretary.

A resolution was adopted requesting the appointment, by the grand chancellors of the respective lodges in the district—which embraces the counties named—of one member of each lodge, except Charity Lodge, of which seven are to be appointed, to constitute a committee of arrangements for the meeting.

It was also resolved that each lodge be requested to send two delegates to the meeting in September, when an enthusiastic effort will be made to increase the membership of the order in the district.

New Church Dedicated.

A new church edifice of the United Brethren denomination, located about a half mile from Bachman's Mills, in Bachman's Valley, was dedicated on Sunday morning. The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. H. Washinger, of Chambersburg, Pa., who was assisted in conducting the exercises by Rev. Daniel Eperly, of Hanover, Pa.; Rev. C. T. Stern, of York, Pa., and the pastor, Rev. N. Kohn.

The new structure is built of brick, the main building being 50x40 feet, and the Sunday school and lecture room, connected with it, 30x20 feet. It is handsomely frescoed and furnished, and is an attractive and comfortable place of worship. It is known as Bixler's Church and stands on land donated by the late Benjamin Bixler. It cost $8,000, one-eighth of which was contributed by Mr. Jonathan Bixler, now the head of the Bixler family. In addition to this, the mechanics who worked on the building during its erection were boarded without cost to the congregation by Mrs. Bixler.

Sunday School and C. E. Convention.

The seventh annual convention of Sunday Schools and the second annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Maryland and Virginia Eldership of the Church of God, held jointly in the church of that denomination at Bark Hill, this county, closed their sessions on Sunday night.

The opening sermon was delivered Thursday evening, and the Sunday School division of the convention began on Friday morning. Rev. L. F. Murry was elected president, James E. Smith vice president and C. O. Royer secretary.

The entire day Friday was consumed in the discussion of practical topics, in which several of the clergy and a number of the lay members—men and woman—participated. Saturday was devoted to the discussion of Christian Endeavor topics.

Following are the officers of the C. E. division of the convention elected: Emory C. Ebaugh, president; Rev. Victor K. Betts, vice president, and C. O. Royer, secretary. The Sunday exercises included preaching, children's services, ordinance meetings, etc. Miss Florence Arbaugh and Mrs. Minnie Bohn were organists and Oliver Angel chorister.

Honors for a Westminster Boy.

In the account given by "The Observer," Newberry, S. C., of the commencement of Newberry College, is the following paragraph in which many in Westminster will be interested:

Dr. Scherer, president of the college, "announced that the board of trustees had conferred the degree of doctor of divinity upon Rev. Jas. H. Wilson, of Salisbury, N. C., and the honorary title of master of arts upon Rev. H. A. McCullough, of Mt. Pleasant, N. C., and the Rev. W. C. Schaeffer, Jr., of Savannah, Ga. He further announced that William Buehler Seabrook, of Newberry, was entitled to the degree of master of arts by reason of the fact that he had completed the postgraduate course of study required for the degree. Mr. Seabrook was very highly complimented by Dr. Scherer on the splendid work he had done, saying that the institution will indeed be fortunate if all who shall hereafter take this degree shall approach the high standard that Mr. Seabrook has established."

Mr. Seabrook's work for the Master's degree was a very heavy one in literature and philosophy. The course in philosophy included Wundt's Human and Animal Psychology; Hoeffding's Outlines of Psychology; James' Psychology; and Ueberweg's History of Philosophy. The literature course included Lanier's Science of English Verse; Johnson's Elements of Literary Criticism; Chaucer's Canterbury Tales; Milton's Paradise Lost, complete, with tabular analysis of each book; eight plays of Shakespeare; Dean Swift's Life and Works. In addition to passing examination on each book studied, Mr. Seabrook submitted two theses on assigned subjects: "Time, Space and Causality; Theories, Conclusions, Inferences," and "Lanier's Use of Tone Color in his Poetry."

Mr. Seabrook is a son of Rev. W. L. Seabrook, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, Newberry, S. C., and grandson of the editor of the AMERICAN SENTINEL.

A Sad Case.

The case of Harry T. Petry, who for several years has been a patient at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, with an interim at the home of his brother in New Windsor, is one that should appeal to the sympathy of all. Harry, as a youth, was for a long time in the employ of Mr. John H. Keen, in this city, and later of Mr. Charles H. Lindsay. After leaving here, he went to Baltimore and engaged in the milk business. From the exposure incident to this occupation he contracted tuberculosis which first affected his knees.

Treatment for the disease began by the physicians at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in 1900 and on the 16th of September, 1901, an operation was performed on both knees, incisions nine inches long having been made to the bones, which were scraped and then put in plaster for 369 days. The treatment, however, was ineffectual and on the 9th of January, 1903, both legs were amputated about six inches above the knees. The operation was successful and was borne with fortitude. Subsequently Mr. Petry came to the country, as stated, under the advice of the hospital physicians, but, his condition growing worse, finally returned to the hospital. Since then he has been suffering greatly, being constantly in intense pain, especially in the joints. Another amputation, this time of an arm, has become necessary, and the condition of the unfortunate young man is pitiable in the extreme. He prays for the death which, apparently, can bring the only permanent relief from his sufferings.

While sympathy for him cannot assuage the pain it may in one way minister to his necessities, and that is financially. We have been requested to state that he will very gratefully receive any assistance that may be tendered him in that respect. It will indeed be a gracious and kindly act to extend him help of that character, and those disposed to do so can reach him at the following addres:

HARRY T. PETRY,
care of Johns Hopkins Hospital,
Ward E., Baltimore, Md.

Gist Items.

The members of Bethesda M. E. Church will hold their annual Sunday School picnic in the grove adjoining the church, Saturday afternoon and night, August 19. The Springfield Band is expected to furnish music for the occasion.

Mr. John T. Barnes has the frame of his new barn raised. The dimensions of the structure are 50x36 feet.

Hay and barley harvest is here and the hay crop is excellent.

Wheat will be ready to harvest next week, and from present prospects there will be a good crop. The farmers find great difficulty in securing laborers to work for them, as they are so scarce in this section.

Some of our public roads are in a rough condition and not fit to travel over in places. On account of the scarcity of laborers but few roads have been worked here, and the heavy rain of the 12th washed many of them considerably. It would be a great saving to the tax payers if the road commissioners would have all the roads worked during the month of May of each year.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Jordan returned home from Atlantic City Sunday night 18th inst., and on Monday night about 75 persons gathered and serenaded them at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. C. A. Jordan. Though quite a crowd the best of order prevailed, and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

Miss Clara Lillian Cassell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Cassell, and Mr. Samuel W. Knell, of Baltimore, were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, in Hanover, Pa., at noon on Saturday last. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ernest McGill, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Thurmont. Miss Irma DeWitt, of Roland Park, Baltimore, was maid of honor, and Howard Dunn, of Baltimore, best man. The bride was charmingly attired in a summer gown of white Paris mouseline. She wore a leghorn hat trimmed with lilacs, and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The maid of honor was similarly gowned, and also carried sweet peas. The nuptials were attended by many guests from Baltimore and various Maryland towns. After a wedding trip the couple will reside at 2227 Madison avenue, Baltimore. The bride's father is a native of this county and was for many years proprietor and editor of the Catoctin Clarion, at Thurmont.

Mrs. Olivia Heyde.

Mrs. Olivia Heyde, 65 years old, wife of Rev. George W. Heyde, pastor of the Seamen's Union Bethel, Baltimore, died on Saturday morning at her home, 103 Jackson Square, in that city, after a lingering illness of heart trouble. Mrs. Heyde was the daughter of the late John and Barbara Whitehill, of Frederick county. During her entire life she took an active interest in charitable work and was secretary and treasurer of the Society for the Relief of Widows and Orphans of Seamen. She was a worker in the Free Summer Excursion Society and for a number of years had been president of the Whatsoever Council of the King's Daughters of Seamen's Union Bethel. Extensive Tannery Addition.

From the Shoe & Leather Reporter, June 15th.

The J. P. Houck Tanning Co., of Harisonburg, Va., tanners of oak belting, are building an extensive addition to their plant, which, when completed, will about double their present working capacity. The building will be a substantial two story brick structure, forty-five feet wide and three hundred and fifty feet long. It will be practically a separate yard, with beamhouse, rolling and drying loft complete. The power will be conveyed by wire rope from their two large engines, which, in addition to power used in the present plant, furnish power for lighting the town. J. A. Brownell of Binghamton, N. Y., who has had large experience in building many of the most up-to-date tanneries recently erected, will have charge of the work, which when fully completed will be one of the most convenient and complete yards in the South.

The J. P. Houck Tanning Co. is owned and operated by Messrs. Engiand, Walton & Co., who also control the Carroll Oak Tanning Co., at Tannery Station, where they have recently enlarged the capacity of the tannery by one-fourth its former size. They will obtain considerable tanning material from their extensive timber holdings in the Valley of Virginia, a large percentage being shipped in the form of extract, which lessens freight charges materially. Mr. R. P. Northrop, of this city, has charge of the J. P. Houck and Carroll tanneries.
