THE OLD APPLE TREE.

The jaybird in the tree was loudly squawking,
The cricket clicked a funny clicking tune,
As in the orchard you and I were talking,
Beneath the silver shining of the moon;
As of a kiss I suddenly bereft you,
I heard your father hike along the path,
And that is why so hastily I left you
In order to escape your father's wrath.

CHORUS.—
In the shade of the old apple tree,
When the wrath in his eyes I could see,
And I ne'er took a chance, for his breath came in pants,
So from you at once I did scoot,
For I've felt once before his thick boot,
The one on his real human foot,
So I hied me off hence and I jumped o'er the fence,
Near the shade of the old apple tree.

I wish that you would try to tame your father,
Or take away from him his wooden leg,
For it is lots and lots of fuss and bother
To have him come and hit me with that peg.
I press you in my arms and start to spooning,
And then he thumps along, to my dismay,
And I don't dare to stand there idly mooning,
And so, my dear, I make my getaway.

Fun with a Spider.

Spiders, in many respects, are just like other animals, and can be tamed and petted and taught a great many other lessons which they will learn as readily as a dog or cat. But you must take the trouble to study their ways and get on the right side of them.

One day I had been reading in a book how spiders managed to get their webs across streams and roads, and from the top of one tall tree to another. I went out and caught a large garden spider, one of those blue gray sprawling fellows, and fixed him up for my experiment.

I took a stick about eighteen inches in length and fastened a piece of iron to one end of it, so that the stick would stand up on that end of itself. Then I put the stick in a large tub of water, and placed the spider on top of the stick. I wanted to see if he could get to the "land," which was the edge of the tub, without any help. He ran down first one side of the stick and then the other; each time he would stop when he touched the water and shake his foot as a cat does, then he would run up again. At last he came to the conclusion that he was entirely surrounded by water—on an island in fact. After remaining perfectly quiet for a long while, during which I have no doubt he was arranging his plans, he began running around the top of the stick, and throwing out great coils of web with his hind feet. In a few minutes little fine strings of web were floating away in the slight breeze that was blowing. After a little, one of these threads touched the edge of the tub and stuck fast, as all spider webs will do.

This was just what Mr. Spider was looking for, and the next moment he took hold of it and gave it a jerk, as a sailor does a rope when he wishes to see how strong it is or make it fast. Having satisfied himself that it was fast at the other end, he gathered it in till it was tight and straight, and then ran on it quickly to the shore—a rescued castaway saved by his own ingenuity.

Spiders are not fools, if they are ugly; and he who made all things has a care and thought for all. The earth is full of the knowledge of God.—"Christian at Work."

How to Stay Young.

How old are you? The adage says that women are as old as they look and men as old as they feel. That's wrong. A man and woman are as old as they think themselves to be.

Growing old is largely a habit of the mind. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he." If he begins shortly after middle age to imagine himself growing old he will be old.

To keep one's self from decrepitude is somewhat a matter of will power. The fates are kind to the man who hangs on to life with both hands. He who lets go will go. Death is slow only to tackle the tenacious.

Ponce de Leon searched in the wrong place for the fountain of youth. It is in one's self. One must keep one's self young inside. So that while "the outward man perisheth the inner man is renewed day by day."

When the human mind ceases to exert itself, when there is no longer an active interest in the affairs of this life, when the man stops reading and thinking and doing, the man, like a blasted tree, begins to die at the top.

You are as old as you think you are. Keep the harness on. Your job is not done.

Ideas for the Household.

A sofa pillow filled with sweet clover gives a delicious and refreshing odor. Many prefer clover to a pine filling.

Salt sprinkled over a low coal fire will greatly aid in curling feathers. Shake the plumes constantly and do not hold them too near the fire.

If one objects to the odor of moth ball, sheets of brown paper may be sprinkled with turpentine and laid between garments in the chest or trunk. Moth ball, however, are much better to use when packing away rugs.

When traveling, it is well to be provided with a bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia. In case of faintness, ten to twenty drops taken in a wine-glass of water will often give relief. If one is to be alone, it is well to provide the medicine before hand. Fill a three-ounce bottle with boiled water and add a teaspoonful of the spirits, shake well and cork tightly. It can be taken in two doses half an hour apart.

Norah—"Plaze, ma'm, will ye be afther tellin' me whin I'm to know whether th' puddin's baked or not?"

Mrs. Wilson—"Stick a knife into the middle of it, and if the knife comes out clean the pudding is ready to send to the table."

Mr. Wilson—"And, Norah, if it does come out clean, stick all the rest of the knives in the house into the pudding."

"You are an hour late this morning Sam."

"Yes, sah, I know it, sah."

"Well, what excuse have you?"

"I was kicked by a mule on my way here, sah."

"That ought not to have detained you an hour, Sam."

"Well, you see, boss, it wouldn't if he'd only kicked me in dis direction, but he kicked me the other way!"

Mr. Yeast—"And you say your wife allows you one drawer in the bureau for your own use?"

Mr. Crimsonbeak—"Yes only one."

"But how can you tell which one is yours?"

"Why, because there are fewer of her things in my drawer than in the rest!"

She—"I heard of a woman who quarreled with her husband five years ago and hasn't spoken to him since."

He—"I know of worse cases than that. I know of women who quarreled with their husbands five years ago and have not stopped jawing them yet."

There is no time in a man's life that brings to him so much happiness as when he is surrounded by his family of adult children and his friends, who meet to fraternize and to exchange happy greetings. After having lived three score years and now is verging toward the end of the other ten allotted to man, Mr. Pius Babylon was agreeably surprised, last Wednesday evening, to meet about 43 of his relatives and friends, who had invaded his domicile and took full possession, all not forgetting to arm themselves with tokens of their esteem, which ranged all the way from a buggy whip to a smoke pipe. To say that Mr. Babylon was agreeably surprised would be putting it mildly. After the visitors assumed full possession all did their best to make this a season of pleasure long to be remembered, but the pleasure of those present was very much enhanced when they were invited to the dining room, where they found a table loaded with the many good things so tempting to the inner man and to which all gave their hearty approval, while willing hands lent their aid to relieve the table of its precious freight. After the clock chimed out the hour of midnight, the good byes were said with the wish that the host may live to enjoy many more such happy events.

Those present were: Mr. Pius Babylon, Mr. Geo. Hoover and wife, Mr. Fletcher Babylon and wife, Mr. J. Wesley Zile and wife, Mr. Joel Myers and wife, Mr. David Young and wife, Mr. Dennis Smith and wife, Mr. Walter Duvall and wife, Mr. Theo. Cummings and wife, Mr. Edw'd. THE GREAT C. E. CONVENTION.

The great International Christian Endeavor Convention, which will meet in Baltimore from July 5 to 10, is rapidly approaching, and it is expected will prove to be the most successful and largest convention of the organization ever held. Every convenience has been provided for the entertainment of the thousands of delegates who are expected to attend from all parts of the world. Marylanders are expected to be represented to the tune of at least 8,000 delegates, and their headquarters in Northminster Presbyterian Church, on the corner of North avenue and St. Paul street, will be attractively decorated and equipped with every convenience. Accommodations are being obtained for at least 40,000 delegates. Arrangements are now being made to supply every evangelical church pulpit in the city with a visiting minister on the Sunday of the convention. The Saturday of the convention week will be devoted to excursions to such places as Washington, Tolchester, Gettysburg and Annapolis.

Friday of the convention week will practically be "Maryland Day," for the State and denominational rallies are to be held on that day. The State rallies will be held in the morning from 10.30 to 12.30 while the denominational rallies are to be held in the afternoon. The Marylanders will assemble in the Lyric, and at least 8,000 Endeavorers of the State are expected to be present. An interesting program has been provided, and it will doubtless be one of the best features of the convention. Addresses are to be made by Revs. John Timothy Stone and Oliver Huckel. The mammoth choir of 2400 voices, under Mr. Richard A. Harris, will be present, and render some grand music. This chorus alone will be worth hearing. Every one of the 280 societies in the state are expected to be represented. A large number of delegates will attend from this county.

The finance committee, which has in charge the distribution of the convention stock at the rate of $1 per share, is extremely anxious that every Endeavorer in the State should be a contributor. The purchase of even one share of the stock, entitles the holder to the privileges of the convention, an official badge, official program, map of the city, a printed report of the convention proceedings, official guide and souvenir book, and a beautifully engraved certificate of stock signed by the general committee of 1905. An auxiliary committee, of over 2000 members, has been appointed for the counties as well as the city, who are to solicit subscriptions in their respective localities. The members of this committee from this county are as follows:

Miss Mary Stoner, Miss Florence Miller, Miss Bessie K. Wolf, O. L. Hess, Chas. R. Angell, Geo. W. Brown, Wm. A. Leister, Geo. H. Armacost, Miss Grace McCalister, Norris Wood, Andrew E. Spencer, Miss A. Myrle Caple, Miss Goldie B. Flater, Miss V. H. Moores, John Burgoon, John Houck, Robt. S. McKinney, Miss Emma R. Ecker, Geo. H. Haines, Miss Vertie Shoemaker, John E. Null.
