WHEN WE WERE YOUNG.

How gay those days when we were young,
When none but hopeful lays we sung,
When happier hearts than ours ne'er beat beneath the sun
And of earth's tears we seldom e'er shed one.
When we were wont to roam through valleys decked in loveliest green—
Drink in the thrilling beauty of some lonely woodland scene.
Do you remember how we view'd the glorious lord of morn,
As slowly from the eastern mists his dazzling form was born?
Do you remember how we gazed upon the mild twilight
Diffuse its charms, then blend into the calmer ones of night?
Cherished are the visions that before our eyes were hung
In that remember'd time—when we were young.

—Charles A. Hartwell.

They "Never Have Time."

Here and there and everywhere are to be found the man and the woman who "never have time."

If you are one of those who "never have time," change your ways. Try this: Make up each day a schedule of what you shall do at each hour and do not budge from the schedule. It will surprise you to find how readily you can dispose of a task within a certain time if you convince yourself that you have to. It is the feeling that you must that will force you to do it. Let each item on the schedule be regarded as an inviolate engagement with yourself and do not let the business of one item cut into the time set for the next. These definite engagements with yourself will enable you to have time for work, reading, writing, calling, church-going and recreation.

Do not stop to think it over. You will forget about it if you delay. Try the plan at once.

Chilblains.

To prevent chilblains, the best plan is to take as much exercise as possible, and avoid tight wristbands, garters, and everything that prevents the circulation of the blood. The most frequent cause of chilblains is the warming of numbed hands and feet at the fire; this habit should be carefully avoided. Encourage children to use the skipping-rope during cold weather. This is a capital preventative, together with regularly washing and rubbing the feet. We give a few household remedies for the cure of these disagreeable companions: Take half an ounce of white wax, one ounce of ox-marrow, two ounces of lard; melt slowly over a fire in a pipkin, and mix them well together, then strain through a linen cloth. Before going to bed, spread the ointment on the parts affected, feet or hands, taking care to wrap them up well. Lemon-juice rubbed on the inflamed parts is said to stop the itching. A sliced onion, dipped in salt, has the same effect but is apt to make the feet tender. When the chilblains are broken, a little warm vinegar, or tincture of myrrh, is an excellent thing to bathe the wound and keep it clean. Another useful remedy is a bread-poultice, at bed-time, and in the morning apply a little resin ointment, spread on a piece of lint or old linen.

Fats and Dripping.

The use of raw suet, lard or mutton fat in pasteries is to be avoided, for each leaves an unpleasant after taste. The small pieces of fat trimmed from off the piece of beef that forms the more substantial part of the daily dinner are placed in an iron pan and allowed to simmer four or five hours either in the oven or at the back of the range. The fluid fat is then strained into a small crock or tin pail and set within the refrigerator when sufficiently cooled. Here it will keep fresh indefinitely.

The fat that is skimmed from soups and gravies must never be mingled with the purer fat obtained as just described, because useful as it is for frying and other purposes, owing to the fact that it is usually flavored with herbs, spices or vegetables of some description, it is not available for pastry. Should the supply of pure fat fail to suffice it can be augmented by the occasional purchase of three or four pounds of beef fat from the butcher's, where it is cut into bits ready for rendering.

The drippings of poultry lend a fine flavor to the fat and add to its richness. A cup of fat or half a cup and the same of butter and a saltspoonful of salt are rubbed to a cream with a wooden spoon. Add four cups of flour and mix with the hands until the mass resembles granulated sugar. Make a hole in the center and pour into the opening a full cup of ice water. Mix quickly and lightly with a spoon and do not knead. This suffices for three pies of ordinary size. Should less be required the remainder can be kept in the refrigerator and utilized for dumplings, tarts, turnovers, etc.

Reforming Electric Units.

Strong hopes are entertained that international uniformity in electrical units may shortly be secured. The British Foreign Office, according to the London Telegraph, has the matter under consideration on the report of experts who attended the St. Louis Electrical Congress. In all likelihood an international commission, which it is suggested should arrange such a system of electrical units—in terms of the ohm, volt and ampere—will foregather at Geneva or The Hague. In many countries, including Russia, Norway and Sweden, Denmark, the Netherlands, Portugal, Italy and Japan, no electrical units have yet been legalized.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Audubon societies are still growing, and certainly towards a noble teaching. The wanton destruction of birds, to be used for decorating women's bonnets and hats, is lowering in the scale, and our sex has wakened up to the fact, slowly but surely. Laws are tending towards its prohibition, and right wisely, too. Sea birds are a sanitary necessity, and the Ornithologists' Union has issued an appeal to every bird lover for money to be used in hiring wardens.

The Centenarian is a man who has mistaken quantity for quality. The centenarian's life is not always life at all. It is sometimes no more than a bad habit. They live longest who live least.

Mr. Scrapping—"Yes; I think myself that our pastor preaches like a petrified man."

"The Bible says there will be no marrying in heaven," said small Harry. "I wonder if that is true?"

"Of course it is," replied his little sister. "How could the women marry when there are no men in the place?"

"Do you believe that marriage is a lottery?" she asked.

"Yes," he replied, "and I also believe that every woman is anxious to take one or more chances."

Why Not Cure Your Cough or Cold?

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1890.

MR. JOS. B. BOYLE:

Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but TEMPORARY RELIEF. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try YOUR Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost INSTANT RELIEF, but a PERMANENT CURE. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am, Truly yours,

EDWARD LYNCH.
