OLD TIMES AND NEW.

:o:

Talk about your old times, best you ever knew—
I can't see why this should be; honestly, can you?
Roses then no sweeter were, violets no more
Girls were no prettier, and sweethearts no more true.

Talk about your old times—what is wrong with these?
Sunshine is just as bright: just as soft the breeze:
Work is no harder now—done with the same ease;
Love is as beautiful, and just as sure to please.

You take your old times—present ones suit me;
I am as happy now as anyone could be!
Plenty to eat and drink, and living splendidly—
Why anyone would want old times, why, I can't see!

—W. H. C., in Los Angeles Herald.

GREAT IS KING CORN.

Acreage For This Year Foots up Enormous Total of 94,011,000.

The crop report of July shows an increase of 2,080,000 in corn acreage, at this date up to 94,011,000. This, with the exception of 1901, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, is the largest acreage on record. Under usual conditions it means a yield of 2,500,000,000 bushels, and a value to the farmers of $1,000,000,000.

With a larger acreage the condition of the growing corn in Illinois is 6 per cent. better than at this date in 1904, 2 per cent. better in Iowa, 20 per cent. better in Kansas, 17 per cent. better in Missouri.

In Nebraska, Indiana and Ohio the the condition is not quite so good as last year, but in the country as a whole the condition is better by 1 per cent. than in 1904, and by 8 per cent. than in 1903. In other words, conditions in the corn belt are favorable to as heavy a yield as in 1902, when the crop was 2,523,648,312.

In the World's Fair year of 1893 our corn acreage was less by 22,000,000 acres than it is now. In 10 years the annual yield increased from 1,619,496,131 bushels to 2,523,000,000 bushels. Meantime corn was more favorably received in Europe, and our exports increased to the benefit of producers in our corn belt.

This corn belt of ours is the corn belt of the world. In 1902 we produced almost as much corn as the whole world did in 1897. After the United States, the corn countries are Austria-Hungary, Mexico, Roumania, Italy, Russia and Egypt. The English have made great effort to increase the corn yield of Egypt, but the crop was 35,000,000 bushels in 1897 and 30,000,000 five years later. Russia made gains in Southern Siberia up to 1901, but has lost ground since. Austria-Hungary has increased somewhat, but the yield in 1902 was no larger than in 1897.

In 1902 the United Stated produced 2,523,000,000 bushels of corn, and all the rest of the world 659,000,000 bushels. While our area of production has grown ever larger in the last 25 years and the yield has doubled since 1880, other corn-producing countries have made little progress.

The July report shows that while the older States of the corn belt, Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa, are more than holding their own, the newer sections, like Oklahoma, Indian Territory and South Dakota, and the southern States, like Texas and South Carolina, are increasing their area.

In fact, our corn belt is gaining length and width and quality of product, while the corn belts in other countries are doing none of these things.

Russian Proverbs.

When the thunder ceases the peasant forgets to cross himself.

A man needs not only to be a cripple or a hunchback to be accounted a handsome fellow by the women.

Even an old man can win a woman's love and keep it, if he isn't jealous.

When a woman goes to heaven she wants to take her cow with her.

Over the women from afar the devil pours honey.

When the devil cannot arrive in time he sends a woman on before him.

Praise your wife, not three days after the wedding, but three years after it—if you can.

All Christendom fasts in Lent, except the dogs and the noblemen.

Poverty is not a sin, but it is the cause of many.

At home a man is judged by his dress; abroad, by his wit.

Fellow-travelers and fellow-gamblers soon know each other well.

A lie told cleverly may be truer than the truth told foolishly.

Misfortune comes by the hundredweight and goes by the ounce.

Greatest Of Ocean Liners.

An eight-story ship, with passenger elevators running from top to bottom, with large staterooms lined along six of the floors, just as in a hotel, will come as something of a wonder in floating palaces, though there has been good reason for assuming that the limit had been reached in some of the splendid ships that are now on the route between New York and Northern European ports. The two immense turbine ships being constructed for the Cunard Company will, in all points of measurement, vastly surpass any ships now afloat, not excepting the big Baltic, which attracted so much attention on her initial appearance less than a year ago.

The exact dimensions of these great ships were not for sometime given out, though they were approximately known. It is now definitely stated, however, that they will each be 800 feet long, 88 feet beam, 60 feet in depth of hold, of 43,000 tons displacement and that the engine power will be equivalent to 75,000-horsepower. The immensity of the Cunarders will be better appreciated by comparing with the great Deutschland, which is 114 feet less in length and has not much more than one-half the displacement—23,000 tons—and is driven by just one-half the horsepower, or 37,500.

The total height of these ships, from keel to boat deck, will be about ninety feet. There will be eight decks, the two lower holds will be for machinery and freight, but above these there will be six decks for passenger uses and for the general hotel purposes of the ships. There are to be two passenger elevators in each ship. The Cunard Company is the first to introduce this feature in passenger ship construction. In speed the ships, by contract, must show an average of twenty-four and a half knots an hour on actual voyages. But, as a matter of fact, a very much higher speed rate than the contract stipulation is anticipated, and twenty-six-knots an hour has been suggested as within the probabilities. This would exceed the record speed of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. by two and a half knots.

Education is for All.

Modern democracy, realizing the menace of ignorance to her very existence, has resolved that every child within her bounds, rich or poor, white or colored, shall have an opportunity to get all the education it can take. Nothing less than this will meet the requirements and fulfill the ideals of a government "of the people, by the people and for the people."

Schoolhouses and schoolmasters are cheaper than jails and soldiers, but we do not found the public school on any such ground as this. Such arguments for free schools are little less than an insult to a free people. The democracy establishes its public schools to train new citizens and fit them for self government, and when it shall have done its full duty in this respect there will be no need of policemen and soldiers.

There is no class, no aristocracy, in education. Education is for all.—President Charles W. Dabney, Cincinnati University.

Try Alfalfa in August.

In many sections the best success has come from seeding with Alfalfa in August, and wherever the soil can be prepared for this August sowing the plan should be tried. The soil should be deeply plowed and the seed bed prepared as thoroughly as for wheat. It is a good plan to plow it both ways and cultivate it both ways so as to break up all the lumps. Be careful to seed fairly liberally and to do it without any other seed; the so-called nurse crop is not necessary. Seed at the rate of 35 pounds to the acre, sowing the seed both ways, so that one is sure the ground is well covered. Cover the seed lightly and then roll. While this August plan may not be the best, it is well worth trying, and especially by those who have failed or partially failed with the spring sowing.

Names of Textiles.

The names of fabrics are in many cases derived from the place where they were first manufactured; in others, the name is bestowed in honor of the place where it first became known to commerce, or from the materials composing its texture. Thus the name of muslin is derived from Mosul, in Asia.

Cambric, comes from Cambia; gauze from Gaza; baize from Bajac; dimity from Damietta, and jeans from Jean.

The name damask is an abreviation of Damascus; stin is a corruption of Zaytown, in China.

Velvet is the Italian "vellute," woolly, and is traceable further back to the Latin vellus, a hide or pelt.

Serge comes from Xerges, the Spanish for a certain sort of blanket.

Bandana is derived from an Indian word signifying to bind or tie.

Alpaca is the name of a species of llama from whose wool the genuine fabric is woven.

Calico is named for Calicut, a town in India, where it was first printed.

High-priced Butter.

The famous Contentin butter of Normandy, which sells in Paris at $1.25 per pound, is stated to be very pure. The cows are brushed and kept very clean, the udders are carefully washed and dried and the attendants and milkers keep themselves clean. The milk is doubly strained and set in a cool and neat room, and extra care is exercised in skimming it, while the churning is conducted on the best principles regarding temperature. Throughout the whole operation, from the milking to the delivery to the customer, the most rigid rule of observation is cleanliness. No odors are allowed to come in contact with the milk at any time, and even the food and water of the cows are carefully inspected.

Recipe to Preserve a Husband.

Select a nice, kind, amiable, industrious and generous man, and prepare him for the ordeal of making him go through a long engagement, which effectually renders him easy to handle. Gently detach him from all old friends and acquaintances, and remove any bad habits he might have. To preserve, deprive him of his latchkey and throw a handful of mother-in-law in the house. Shred him of all of the finer feelings by nagging and pound them into a pulp by complaints. When he has simmered down put as much love into the heart as it will hold, add an ocean of sympathy, a word of tenderness, and pound of forbearance and a ton or so of patience.—Chicago Record Herald.

Little Flora was complaining that her stomach felt bad. "Perhaps it's because it's empty," said her mother. "It might feel better if you had something in it."

Not long afterward the minister called. In reply to a question as to his health, he said that he was well, but that his head felt rather bad that day.

"Perhaps it's because it's empty," spoke up Flora. "It might feel better if you had something in it."—"Youth."

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1890.
MR. JOS. B. BOYLE:
Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very troublesome cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but TEMPORARY RELIEF. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough, and through a friend was induced to try YOUR Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost INSTANT RELIEF, but a PERMANENT CURE. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am, Truly yours,
