Why Not Cure Your Cough or Cold?

WESTMINSTER, April 10th, 1906.
MR. JOS. B. BOYLE:
Dear Sir:—For many years I have suffered intensely, on taking cold, from a very trouble some cough, for which I have used a number of various remedies, and obtained but TEMPORARY RELIEF. During the past Spring I was again troubled with the same cough and through a friend was induced to try YOUR Pectoral Syrup, which not only gave almost INSTANT RELIEF, but a PERMANENT CURE. It gives me great pleasure to say that I believe it to be the best remedy I ever used for the purpose for which it is recommended. Hoping that any person afflicted as I was may be fortunate enough to give it a trial, I am, Truly yours,

—o:—

Brown and yellow and red and gold,
Tumbling out in a jeweled stream,
Flashing brightly as gems, they hold
All the wonder of summer's gleam.
Russet, pippin and maiden blush,
Fat with spiciest sap and juice
Rolling down to the teeth that crush,
Setting all of their savor loose.

Here are drowsiest dawns of June,
Here are marvelous morns of May,
Heavy scents that have filled the noon,
Fragrant breaths of the dying day.
Here are shimmeering sun and shade,
Here are murmuring nights of rain,
Dews distilled by the blossoms swayed
In the breezes that swept the plain.

Clinging odors that floated in
When the roses were rich and red,
Tang and tinzie that once have been
Freed wherever the bees have fed—
All is mingled and all is clear
Where the glittering bubbles dance:
May and August are blended here
By a mystical necromance.

Fill the goblet with summer's wine,
Summer's wine of the rain and sun,
Summer's nectar of shade and shine—
Now her magical days are done.
Drink the echoing of her song:
Drink a toast to her joyous ways;
Drink a draught that is deep and long
To the glory of summer days;

Autumn Entertainment.

A golden-rod and sumac luncheon is described in Good Housekeeping. Use a dark polished table, with an abundance of doilies, either all white or embroidered in yellow. For a centerpiece use a tall, graceful vase filled with golden-rod resting on a circular mat of sumac leaves. This is easily formed by arranging the sprays to converge to a common center, where the ends of the stems meet. At each corner of the table have low bowls filled with golden-rod resting on sumac mats. Scarlet place cards, with name, date and occasion in gilt lettering, will be consistent with this scheme of decoration. Small tinted glass dishes may be used to hold the relishes, orange straws, salted nuts, scarlet radishes and yellow cream mints. These will assist in carrying out color effect, which should also be observed in the makeup of the menu. If the china should happen to have a touch of scarlet and gold in the decorating it would also heighten the effect.

A pretty variation on the regular "harvest home" festival was made last year by the young people of a church in one of our smaller cities, says a writer in Harper's Bazar. They called it "The feast of pumpkings," and that useful vegetable formed the bases of the whole affair. The hall was decorated with two shades bunting—the deep orange yellow of the pumpkin and the lighter yellow of the squash. Where the bunting was festooned it was caught up with bunches of corn. The husks were torn open and turned back, showing the yellow grain of the cob, the waitresses were all dressed in yellow with a squash flower made of tissue paper in their hair instead of a cap. At intervals were great "Jack-o'lanterns," made of the pumpkins, with electric lights inside instead of candles. The tables were ornamented with pumpkins hollowed out so as to form great bowls. These were filled with autumn leaves and flowers. The water was put in a bowl which was placed inside the pumpkin. The menu included (besides the regular harvest supper fare) such delicacies as baked pumpkin, pumpkin pudding, pumpkin bread and pumpkin pie. The last named was a very yellow orange ice, frozen in individual pumpkin moulds. At the table, where were sold the fancy articles and souvenirs of the occasion, there were pretty liitle pincushions made to imitate pumpkins and bonbonnieres which were "Jack-o'lanterns" filled with yellow candles.

Fresh Air for Health.

Always breath as much fresh air as possible.

Always, when stepping out of doors, remember to breathe deeply; it quickens circulation and drives off the cold.

Again before the open window before going to bed.

Air is to the body what coal is to the furnace. The deeper the breathing the more draughts are turned on and the brighter life burns.

Practice the deep breathing whenever it is possible.

It will make a woman more graceful and healthy.

It will develop the chest and broaden the shoulders.

Take the chest measurements today, practice the deep breathing from five to six times daily, and remeasure in six weeks. The measurements will prove the benefit of the exercise.

One morning Mr. W's. coachman was very late in getting to work, and on being questioned for an explanation of his tardiness he said:

"To tell you de truth, boss, I dun got mah'ied dis mawnin', and dat's huccome it I got late."

"Well, Jim," his employer said, "where is your wife, and why are you not off on your honsymoon?"

"Lord, boss," said Sim, "she's dun gone off on de honeymoon; she hab all de money."

Weather Predictions for October by Rev. Irl Hicks.

The first storm period covers the 1st to the 5th inclusive. Earth's autumnal equinox extends over this period, adding its influence to the Vulcan period, with Moon at first quarter and extreme declination to south. By the 1st the barometer will be falling in Western sections accompanied by change to warmer and growing cloudiness. From the 2nd to 5th these conditions will increase as they move eastward across the country, resulting in autumnal rain and storminess over most parts of the country. A touch of early snow, followed by clearing, frosty nights, may be counted on northward, at and immediately following this period.

The second storm period is central on the 7th, 8th and 9th. It is within the Mercury brace, within the autumal equinox of earth exerting a degree of influence. These factors added to the reaction Vulcan force, constitute the disturbing causes at this time. Falling barometer, rising temperature, growing cloudiness and return of autumnal rains, will result at this period. The western tangent, or the last part and wind of this and other October periods will bring spurts of snow and early touches of winter over northern sections, followed by northerly winds and clear frosty nights in central to southern states.

The third storm period is central on the 14th, covering the 12th to the 16th. It lies at the end of Earth's autumnal equinox, at the center of the Mercury period with the Moon at the full in apogee. The Mercury period, which is central on the 13th, not only extends over this storm period, but it touches the reactionary periods immediately preceding and following these three periods affected by the Mercury period, we may reasonably look for the rains to turn into snow and sleet and squalls of early winter. The crisis of the Mercury period, in all probability, will fall in this regular Vulcan period.

On and touching the 13th the change to warmer will be marked in the western parts, the barometer will fall to low readings, and decided storms of rain, turning at last into sleet and snow, will pass eastwardly over the country during Friday the 13 to Monday the 16th. High gales over the great lakes and along the North Atlantic will attend the rising barometer pushing these storms from the northwest. Heavy frosts with freezing in the north, shading into lighter frosts and freezing far southward, will succeed the storms of this period. Seismic shakes will be natural in many parts of the globe, on or about the 13th.

The fourth storm is central on the 19th, 20th and 21st. The Vulcan reactionary influence, Moon at north declination and last quarter and the declining force of the Mercury period, are the perturbing factors at this time. The probability is that disturbances will be moderate at this time. The temperature will rise and the barometer will fall, with cloudiness and light, autumnal rain and snow. Change to fair and cooler will pass progressively from west to east, behind the light disturbances of this period.

The fifth storm period reaches from the 24th to the 27th. It is central on the 25th, but its culmination will not be fully reached until about the 28th. By the 26th a radical change to warmer will be in progress, with probable lightning and thunder. Low barometer with continued tendency to rain and storminess will lead up to the 28th, on and about which date general and decided storms, first of autumnal rains, later merging into snow to the north, may be counted on, all ending in a rather decided cold wave for October. Those who watch the world's record closely will find this forecast verified.

"I have here, sir," began the book agent, "a volume containing 52 lectures by 52 great men. One lecture for every week in the year." "Good gracious, man," replied the meek citizen. "I am married and have a wife that supplies me with a lecture every day in the year."

"What," asked the very young man, "is the difference between a professional singer and an amateur?" "You have to pay a professional to sing, answered the home-grown philosopher, "but the amateur has to be paid to stop."

She—"Well, supposing she did throw you over because you lost your money—there are as good fish in the sea as ever came out of it." He—"I know, but that's poor consolation for a fellow who has lost his bait."

Crawford—"How many residences does a rich man have?" Crabshaw—"Usually three. A city one when he votes, a country one when he swears off his taxes, and a Western one when he files for divorce."

Jasper—"Many a wise word is spoken in jest." Jumpuppe—"Yes, but they can't compare with the number of foolish ones that are spoken in earnest."
