Election TUESDAY, November 7th.

Dr. George Wells, of Annapolis, one of the most prominent Democrats in Anne Arundel county, and a leader of what is known as the Wells faction, has announced that he is opposed to the Poe amendment. He and other Democratic leaders in that county, it is said, will work for the defeat of the amendment during the remainder of campaign.

A communication, signed "A Citizen First, a Democrat Afterward," which discusses the Poe amendment intelligently from an opposition standpoint, will be found in the SENTINEL this week. Its author is a Democrat of the straightest sect, who has never heretofore been found in opposition to the regular Democracy, but he draws the line this time at the mischievous measure which the bossess are endeavoring to saddle upon the people of Maryland.

An election for six directors to represent the bondholders and six to represent the stockholders of the Wabash Raildroad was held at Toledo, Ohio, on Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Joseph Ramsey, Jr., former president of the road, who was recently removed by the directorate, made an effort to gain control and oust the Gould interests, but signally failed, both in the bondholding and stockholding departments, having been outvoted fourteen or fifteen to one. It is said that Mr. Ramsey was opposed to the Gould plans for connecting the Wabash with the West Virginia Central and Western Maryland and making Baltimore a terminus of the system, and that he proposed to extend the Wabash from Pittsburg directly to New York. If the statement be correct the Gould triumph is also a victory for Baltimore. Mr. Ramsey is, apparently, doing everything in his power to embarrass and thwart the plan for the extension of the road to Baltimore, and will carry the matter into the courts.

The appointment of Mr. Frank I. Duncan, of Towson, State Insurance Commissioner, as associate judge of the Third Judicial circuit has created a vacancy in the former office, which many prominent Democrats are eager to fill. The duties of the position are not onerous and the salary is $2,500. The place is therefore a very desirable one. The Baltimore Sun of Wednesday said that at that time those most prominently spoken of for the position were Mr. Joseph M. Street, of Harford county, and Mr. Charles H. Vanderford, of this city. Both these gentlemen are newspaper men, Mr. Street being the editor of the Harford Democrat and president of the Democratic Editorial Association of the State, while Mr. Vanderford is one of the editors of the Democratic Advocate and also a member of the association. If devotion to party interests counts for anything our neighbor ought to have a good showing for the appointment. He is a Democrat of Democrats. At the same time it is only just to say that he is thoroughly competent. The appointment will be made by the Board of Public Works and the Sun says it is stated, "from excellent authority that the vacancy will not be filled until after the coming election."

In its attempt to reconcile its statement that the proposed Poe amendment will not affect the voting privilege of white men with its call upon the Baltimore Evening News to frame and publish an amendment that will eliminate the negro from the right of suffrage without disfranchising white men the Adoocate gets deeper than ever into a quagmire of absurdities. It is forced to admit that some white men will be disfranchised, which its first statement denied, but in this reductio ad absurdam it alleges that the number will be as one to sixty-six of the negroes; in other words, that while one white man in 100 may lose his vote, sixty-six out of every 100 negroes will lose theirs. While this is practically an admission that its assertion that the amendment will not affect the voting privilege of white men was not true, it is, at the same time, a ridiculous assumption of statistical knowledge that has no better foundation that the meerest guesswork. There are no statistics in existence upon which such an assertion can be based, except, perhaps the reports of the United States census enumerators and these are so voluminous as to render them practically valueless as a means of reference.

It is reported that a Wabash engineering corps, after surveying a route from Frederick to Hagerstown, has commenced another route to connect Frederick with the Western Maryland railroad. The new route starts from the eastern base of Catoctin Mountain, near Braddock, and proceeds in a northwesterly direction, and will connect with the Western Maryland road near Rocky Ridge.

It is estimated that 50,000 people attended the Hagerstown Fair yesterday, by far the largest number ever present on the grounds. The railroads it is said, took 21,000 persons to the fair. During the day 21 couples, from various places, were married in Hagerstown and attended the fair.

STAND BY THE TICKET.

To the average Republican the defeat of the Poe amendment is of such importance that in their efforts to accomplish that object many members of the party may lose sight of another feature of the present campaign in Maryland which should appeal to the loyalty of all who desire Republican control of public affairs, State and National. This feature is the absolute necessity of the election of a Republican legislature, if the trick ballots and other devices inaugurated by the Democratic ring to defraud voters of the due effect of their action at the polls is to be corrected. Gov. Warfield has exhibited such independence of ring dictation as to justify the opinion that he will approve any measure honestly designed to promote fair elections. The passage of such a measure is absolutely impossible as long as the ring controls the action of legislators elected as Democrats. Relief from the intolerable election conditions now prevailing in this State can only come through Republican success. This must be apparent to every Republican and also to every Democrat who believes in a fair ballot and an honest count. Whether Democrats who desire the correction of the existing state of affairs in this respect will take the only means to effect that correction remains to be seen. Certainly no Republican should fail to do so. It is a time for Republicans to bury all personal considerations, all party hostilities, and stand shoulder to shoulder in efforts to redeem the State from the misrule and injustice of the Democratic ring. Stand by the ticket.

And stand not only by the legislative ticket but by the local ticket also. Both are composed of citizens of the highest character; men who are second to none in the county in integrity and probity; men of intelligence and capacity for the efficient discharge of the duties of the stations for which they have been nominated. They deserve and should receive the united support of the Republicans of the county and there should be no stay-at homes. Stand by the ticket.

THE DUTY OF REPUBLICANS.

Very rarely has a more serious crisis arisen in the political affairs of Maryland than that which confronts her people today. For nearly thirty years Democratic antipathy to Republicans gave unlimited control of the State and many of the county governments to a Democratic ring, which ruled its party with an iron hand; prostituted the ballot by the commission of every conceivable manner of fraud in registration and false counting; made merchandise of legislation and laughed with derision at all efforts to dethrone it. This is not hyperbole, but solid, uncontroverted fact. At last, however, an honest and outraged element of the Democratic party revolted against the bosses, whose cup of iniquity was overflowing, and in 1895 these Independent Democrats made their power felt by uniting with the Republicans and electing Lloyd Lowndes governor, with a Republican House of Delegates to back him in efforts to reform the State government and purify the ballot. The result of that action need not be recited in detail. Everybody knows that the legislature which followed that election gave to the people of Maryland the first fair election known in the State for thirty years. But the reptile of corruption was only scotched, not killed, and the hydra-headed monster, after a few years of suppression, came back into power with its faculty for the subversion of the ballot-box undiminished. The new lease of power followed the fairest promises of good behavior, but it had schemed to some purpose, and, no sooner were the reins of government again in its grasp than it began to revive methods of fraud to secure the defeat of its opponents. The election law of 1896 was amended and re-enacted with such vicious provisions as led to the introduction of trick ballots and the appointment of election officials ready to perpetrate frauds and to defeat the will of the people wherever such a course was necessary to secure success.

The Independent Democratic element again grew restive under these exhibitions of wrong doing and tyranny on the part of the ring and then a new scheme was devised to neutralize and destroy the effect of independent influence. That scheme is the Poe amendment to the Constitution of the State. The leaders of the ring believe that the adoption of this measure will make it strong enough to maintain itself against the combined efforts of the Republicans and Independent Democrats to dislodge it. It may be that in this expectation it is mistaken, but whether that be so or not, the defeat of the effort is demanded by every consideration of justice, the amendment being of such a character as to lodge unlimited power in officers of registration to disfranchise every citizen who, himself, or whose father or grandfather, was not a voter before 1869. This one feature, if it held no other of an objectionable character, is so reprehensible as to call for the opposition of every lover of justice and fairplay, and many thousands of Democrats are earnestly arrayed against it.

As these democrats have, on several previous occasions, come to the rescue of an imperiled State and by their votes have aided the Republicans in making much needed reforms, there should be nothing of lukewarmness in the zeal with which Republicans join them in the fight against the oppression of the ring as exhibited in the pending amendment. The duty of every true Republican in the State is to resist the ring scheme with might and enthusiasm. Let there be no lagging or indifference in this resistance. To save the State from subjection to the power of a political oligarchy it becomes the duty of every Republican not only to vote but to work from this time until the election, with all his energy, against this Poe amendment. On this issue, at least, factional differences should be ignored and the party present a united and determined front to the enemies of popular government. It only needs this united action to give the ring a worse drubbing than befell it in 1895.

Mr. Alexander Robertson has accepted the position of general manager of the Western Maryland Railroad, with headquarters in Baltimore, and has tendered his resignation as general manager of the Terminal Railroad Association, of St. Louis, to take effect on October 31. Mr. Robertson was offered the position of general manager of the Western Maryland system two weeks ago while he was in Baltimore, and the inducements were made so alluring that he could not reject it. He will have full charge of the system, all officials reporting to him and he being responsible alone to the president and vice-president.

To Entrench the Bosses.

Referring to the talk about the Poe amendment being designed to entrench Gorman and Raisin in power in this State the Advocate says "it is simply nonsensical and absurd, and every newspaper that so talks knows it." That is tantamount to saying that every such newspaper is guilty of falsehood. The SENTINEL does not recall having used the names of Gorman and Raisin in combination in this connection, but may have done so, as they have been regarded as the leaders of the unsavory ring which so long dominated the Democratic party in Maryland and, after an intermission of a few years, is again the governing power of the party. Whether or not, it be Gorman and Raisin, however, or Gorman and Baughman, Vandiver, Poe and others, who are to be credited with party control, there is abundant reason to more than suspect a purpose on their part to keep the machine in power through the adoption of the amendment. If otherwise what means the opposition of Gov. Warfield, Attorney General Bryan, the hundreds of Democratic lawyers in Baltimore—many of them of great prominence at the bar—the thousands of the Democratic rank and file, prominent business men and other members of the party hostile to the reign of Gormanism? From these sources the charge that the purpose of the amendment is to entrench the Democratic managers in power has been made again and again and this is one of the prominent causes of Independent Democratic opposition to the measure.

Confessedly the purpose is to disfranchise the negroes and not white men. The Democratic managers and newspapers have repeatedly declared that the vote of the Republican party in Maryland has been largely augmented by negro suffrage, and it has been demonstrated, time and again, that the Republicans and Independent Democrats comprise a majority of the voters of the State. To reduce these organizations to a minority and thus assure the permanent success of the regular Democratic organization, with Mr. Gorman at its head, would therefore be to entrench the bosses in power for an indefinite period. That this is the primary purpose of the ring must be apparent to all who are not wilfully blind to the truth, though the Advocate may stigmatize those who hold this view of the matters as guilty of falsehood, not to use a harsher term.

The Advocate's frantic advocacy of the amendment, however, is an indication that nothing like judicial fairness can be looked for from that source. It is too blindly devoted to the interests of the ring to view the subject from other than a one-sided standpoint. While the purpose of the amendment, therefore, is to entrench the bosses the SENTINEL is charitable enough to concede that the Advocate does not know it.

For the Sentinel.

A Democrat Discusses the Poe Amendment.

MR. EDITOR:—It has been argued by the advocates of the proposed amendment to the Constitution that the elective franchise is not a natural right but is the gift of the State. This has not been disputed, as that theory is sustained both by the Courts and by the best writers on political science. There must exist, however, some reason why the American people have required that this privilege should be protected by a constitutional provision as it is so safe guarded in every State of the Union. This means that it is the sovereign will of the American people that the right to vote shall be placed beyond the passion of the populace, the trickery of the selfish politician, the caprice of legislative action and of arbitrary executive interference. If legislative control is considered improper, how much more improper and dangerous is it to leave the right to vote in the hands of inferior officials whose duties should be purely ministerial, and yet this is what the present amendment would do. The registration officers have not only the discretion of selecting the section of the Constitution to be read and explained by the applicant for registration, but have the discretion of deciding whether the reading and explanation show sufficient intelligence to permit the applicant to register. This shows the lurking daugers of its enforcement, and considering the safe guards which the people of this State have deemed it necessary to throw around the exercise of the elective franchise in order to protect the purity of the of the ballot box, the adption of this amendment will nullify the effect of all these safe guards and result in a still further degradation of the franchise and more outrageous assaults upon free popular government.

Is a Democrat who believes that such will be its effect under any obligation to support it? Its adoption by the Democratic Convention does not change its moral quality, and if regarded as vicious legislation it is none the less so because of the sanction of the Convention. Its action could not instill into it any righteousness it did not before possess. In fact, if anything, the platform adopted added weight to the viciousness of the measure.

Parties are but means to an end, and that end is good, honest government, and a full opportunity to the whole people to work out for themselves a loftier patriotism and a more disinterested citizenship. If parties by their course of action frustrate such ends they forfeit their right to existence and loose the ties which bind its members together. A voter who is not a citizen before he is a partisan, who subordinates the permanent public good to temporary party advantage, has so far misconceived the purpose of the elective franchise as to proclaim himself unworthy of its exercise. There was a time when party regularity was the controlling force in this State, when the ethics of a political convention was the moral code for political action of the respective parties, and when party loyalty and party status took the place of individual conscience, but this humiliating condition is a matter of the past, for a strong, independent American manhood is asserting itself, whose civic pride and moral courage no longer yield to the dominating genius of the party organization, but proclaim that the sense of personal responsibility is the guiding principle, without whose free and spontaneous action democratic government must prove a failure.

For the last twenty years the people of the State of Maryland have been gradually adopting another code containing sound principles of political ethics which teach that no man is bound to support what his judgment condemns as wrong, and he must, therefore, vote against the amendment if he regards it as unworthy of a place in our Organic Law, and it certainly cannot receive from any Convention, no matter how selected or controlled, any civic virtue so as to bind his moral sense. Every voter is the director of his own political action, and he must answer for the use of it at the bar of an awakened and enlightened public conscience.

Which shall it be—the stamp of treason against mere party fetishism or the stigma of treason against the public welfare?

GORMAN SOUNDS THE ALARM.

[From the Philadelphia Inquirer.]

Senator Gorman has ordered the tomtoms to be beaten, the alarm to be sounded and all the forces of American Democracy set in the field to fight the terrible specter of negro domination. The fear that the negroes, constituting less than one-fifth of the population, will in some way come to dominate the million whites, grind them to powder and set up a reign of debauchery and misrule so affects the mind of the Senator that he cannot sleep o' nights. He trembles at the thought of his own knee in suppliance bent before some dusky dictator. He will make any sacrifice to escape this plague. He even offers to retire from politics if only he can be assured that a negro may not rule over him at Annapolis.

The truth is that Gorman is in a desperate situation. His attempt to foist the "grandfather clause" on the state is not promising well. He expects defeat unless he can raise a terrible bugaboo about negro domination. The negroes have just about as much chance of ever dominating Maryland as have the descendants of the Indians who lived there when First Lord Baltimore began his scheme of colonization. The trouble is not only that the people will not have a false issue thrust upon them, but they will not rise up to support Gorman. In the last senatorial election he was badly worsted in choosing a colleague. He seems to have lost his grip on his party and this leads him to exhibitions of demagogy which are depressing.

The Postoffice Department has announced a list of rewards, from $1,000 down to $25, graded according to the circumstances of each particular case, to persons causing arrests and convictions for robbery of the mails, postoffices or mail boxes, in which the rural delivery service is specially mentioned in section Eight, as follows: "Larceny from post office stations, street letter boxes, letter boxes or other receptacles established, approved or designated by the Postmaster-General for the receipt of mail matter on any rural free delivery route, star route or other mail route, or from boxes rented in postoffices, or from any public receptacle for mail matter will be regarded under this offer of reward as of the same effect as larceny from a post office."

The Gettysburg Star and Sentinel says: Wm. Eline, Jr., of Littlestown, had his face and eyes badly burned Thursday. He was cleaning up the yard when he found a can containing some powder, and wishing to dispose of it poured it out and put a match to it. There was an instant explosion and the powder was blown in the boy's face and eyes. His eyes swelled shut and it is feared the pupils are injured.

Letter to Westminster Doctors,

WESTMINSTER.

Dear Sir: For your house, no matter what's the matter with it—it isn't a human you know—a prescription:

Devoe lead-and-zinc. Apply with a brush, from one to three coats—get a painter to do it.

Seven state chemists know all about Devoe; have analyzed it; report it pure; will analyze it occasionally. They buy it in the open market whenever they like.

You know what the color and dryer are for; do you know what the lead-and-zinc and oil are for? Not being a painter, you may not choose to know; but we'll tell you.

Lead-and-zinc and oil combine to form a rubbery waterproof coat to keep out dampness. That is the whole business.

The oil would do it alone; lead-and-oil would do it, without the zinc; zinc and oil without the lead; but the three together are best, because they wear best.

We say to you, "get a painter," as we'd say to him "get a doctor"—every man to his trade. Can't all be painters and doctors; don't want to.

You will be more successful in a prosperous looking house; and he in good health. Take good care of one another.

Yours truly
