1705 Oct. 6 James Carroll

SIDE ONE

...polis Oct. 6th 1705

My Dear Nancy

I wrote You the Night before last, as soon as I got ashore, and as the boat set off again for Rockhall immediately, I am in hopes it got to you — Some time the Next Day, to relieve You from a little Anxiety which I knew My dear Wife felt for me, as the Winds was so compleatly ahead. Yesterday an Opportunity offering as soon as the Race was over I wrote You Pro ther the Particulars of what had happed. That Letter got to Chester I suppose this Morning by which You would find Pax Mango's Fate. An Unlucky one to be Sure & Strange too, as Craig has always been famous for Starting his horses in order: God knows, in this Instance he failed exceedingly, and in Circumstances which I should suppose depended on the Degree of attention & care given, not on the Constitution of the horse. —

I go home to day, [illegible] to B[illegible] to the back County as [illegible] the last place. G[illegible]