SIDE TWO

in the general Court he seemed better but realy looks like one going out of his Senses and if my Sister does not be advised I fear he will she treats him we think with too much care she says nor I must take Care how I Act for he is easily made angry with me which never was the Case before in our lives I seemd to rouse him the day he was here they are to move down town to the house which Col Rochester lived in a Dreadful bad one not a Worse one hardly in Hagers Town we have had fine weather my little garden spott is getting full of flowers the Change to Night I fear Will Nip them I wish I had some of your good Cabbage Seed Sam and Daisy good for Nothing fellows came from Baltimore without any if any Conveyance from your Country Ask Fanny to send me some of her fine Coxcomb Seed tell my Brother Mr Delphmean wrote me by the last post that he could rent my house to a good Tennant he dent say who I write him to rent it I write my Brother Mr Delphman had gein over all thoughts of going down but he talks again of it I hope he will if he does not I will try to muster up resolution to Come for three Weeks or so but my Dear Sister I am very weak when I reflect of the Great Misfortune I met with when last down I know not how to turn my back to all my Children how weak poor Mortals we are it seems not to Alarm me to leave them in this World but to be left seems more then I can bring my mind to encounter but I will away with this painful Subject and will try to Come its a hard Situation I have no hope of ever Seeing my Dear Brother if I do not Come he write me he would never Come again home how Can I be so Ungratful as not to go and See you all him in Particular after all your Kindness and Affection to me Mr Delphman ought to go he says he cant go with more Convenience for two years then this spring his father writes him and entreats he will Come I have wrote to Doctor Scott and Several letters to deny and my head altho strong to what it was always feels unfitting more then any other thing I do my best love to your Daughters and all our friends around you I Am your Aff Sister

Hagers Town March the 21 ×

× Possibly refers to sudden death of her son Beli of tumor on the brain
I do not know the date, but she was away from home —
