SIDE ONE

Mr. Bensley has just brought me from Town, your the 4th August - the good accounts of my brother has made me very happy - but still I beg he will follow my good advice & not opose the Madeira - If I ha opportunity I will send the letter tho as I have before, I allways do it with great reluctance present mode of hand-sewing is very easy requires so little to ca good figure with - tha thing short of a best pair will do perfectly - I shall settle at home for the winter in a week - when I will collect patterns & send th a specimen of the [illegible] be now worth Muslin effect - is more attend to than neatness - I so hope to find an gooseyance for a theatre the winter season - the best for that commodity - Poor Mrs Dulany - I feel for her loss - hope her next will be a son - tho I have neglect answering a long lett from her long since - ever intend to do it - & feel interested about her - pray tell her so, when her - I also will praise you if please God my health - to write much more frequently have lately done - for I have no greater than frequently hear of you all - & keep much as possible, in to your modes & ha of life - which seems a matt to bring as acquainted - If ever I can get a little rich I send you our faces. Pray you will do the sa you can - that that I see any near prospect coming to pass - for our income is better - article in life is so enormously high in cons of this horrible war - they hardly keep pace & to live upon a tolerable footing with the which a patrick ma must do - requires no on I believe he may be of doing it on as frug as matt - More of this other matters when no for the servant waiting to take it to Town. So ad Sister. ever yours aff
