The progne, or purple martin, made its appearance in this city on Thursday, 5th inst., thus demonstrating that the belief of some persons that it always arrives in this locality on Good Friday is a fallacy. One of the pleasing incidents of the recent meeting of the Maryland Annual Conference, M. P. Church, was the presentation to Rev. Dr. S. B. Southerland, the oldest clergyman of the body, of a gold piece contributed by a member of the denomination at Chestertown. Dr. Southerland has been a member of the conference for 65 years. A quarter of a century ago he was the pastor of the M. P. Church of this city and there are still numbers of citizens who recall their association with him with more than ordinary pleasure.

A street car of the Frederick avenue line, Baltimore, collided with a runabout belonging to Cortez Verney, of Woodstock, last Saturday night, injuring all the occupants of the latter vehicle. Dr. Lewis has been an exceedingly busy man for the last 20 years and has brought the college to a high state of prosperity. He needs a thorough rest from his arduous and laborious duties and will go abroad, accompanied by some members of his family, immediately after commencement in June, for a period which will be determined by circumstances. During his absence the college will be in good hands, Prof. Wm. R. McDaniel, as vice-principal, having been designated to take charge as its executive.

As will be seen by the list of appointments made by President Little, of the Maryland Annual Conference, M. P. Church, Rev. L. F. "Hope Divine," a beautiful Easter service, will be rendered by the Sunday School in the evening.

An incident on Saturday last, in which Miss Ella Crouse, of this city, was the principal actor, gave some of the Baltimore newspapers the text for a story. The facts, briefly recited, are that Miss Crouse went to Baltimore to visit a lady friend on Saturday afternoon, and upon reaching Fulton Station entrusted her suit case to a messenger to be delivered at the residence of her friend. Unfortunately her name did not appear on the case and when it reached her friend the latter refused to receive it, not knowing to whom it belonged. Finally the messenger, very sensibly, conveyed it to the Northwestern Police Station and it was recovered by Miss Crouse during the evening.

Rev. H. M. Rider, the new pastor of Centenary M. E. Church, this city, preached to large audiences at both the morning and evening services in that church on Sunday last, and was heard with profound interest and attention. His hearers were impressed with his ability and convinced of the justice of the encomiums passed upon him when his appointment to Centenary Church was announced. Mr. Rider is here and his wife and little son will arrive today. The parsonage, which is one of the most convenient in the State, has been renovated and put in excellent order for their reception.

Important Ordinances.

At a meeting of the Mayor and Common Council of this city on Wednesday evening, two important ordinances were passed and approved, to take effect from that date. The first of these ordinances, No. 157, provides that hereafter all new buildings erected in this city shall be roofed with tin, slate, metal or other recognized fireproof material," and similar material shall be used in roofing buildings already erected. Certain small outhouses are exempted from the provisions of the ordinance. Penalties for its violation are provided.

The second ordinance, No. 158, prohibits the erection of wooden buildings within the business section of the city which is defined by a line 450 feet long parallel with the centre of Court street on the southeast and with Norment's lane on the northwest, and lying between the centre of Green street and a paralel line 450 feet northeast thereof. The ordinance excepts certain small outbuilding from its provisions and imposes penalties for its violation not only upon the owners of property but also upon workmen who may engage in the erection of such building as are prohibited.

Proceedings of the School Board.

Notwithstanding the very inclement weather, all the school Commissioners were present at the regular meeting of the month, Monday, 9th instant.

Through lack of money to do otherwise, it is the custom of the Board to consider the question relative to building, or adding new rooms only, when the necessity seems to be so pressing that it would really be wrong to postpone the matter. After careful consideration, the Board decided to put an addition to the school house at Patapsco, and appointed a committee to take into consideration the question of rebuilding the school house at Oregon, near Taneytown. This house is badly in need of repairs, but it is a question as to whether or not the house is in condition such as would justify any attempt to repair it.

The Board has recently purchased a wall map of Maryland for each of the school houses in the county.
