SIDE ONE

I am indeed very sorry to hear of my Dr Mr Chestons indisposition but you letter was the first information we had of it – it seems all most out of the question for me to think of getting out – but when Mrs Cy goes to Washington I will try hard to pay you a real Visit – I no you will receive my little encumbrance poor little Chien H – she is really a very good Boy – Mrs Cy left Dr William well and quite satisfyd yesterday at Annapolis – I thank you for the Potatoes but after the Bag of Turnips I thought unreasonable to send for them – Mrs Cy has had a good deal of business to do for Mamma and my Brother lately which has called him very much from Home – and we have but the two Carriage Horses, which has altogether confind me – he intends to go there to day and most probably to see you this evening but has a retound of a pain in his side which has allarm'd him and been troublesome for some time – he is now in Bed where I shall persuade him to continue some hours – my affectionate Love to Mr C and the Dr Girls – I believe I can just get Ink enough to say how sincearly I am

My Dear Nancy

I know you will be anxious to know how your Dear Brother does this morning as he has asked repeatedly if I heard to day from the Neck I send Sam to enquire how you all do after an extreme wretchedness night with a Cough that could not be relieved with Paregoric for he took seventy Drops at first & thirty afterwards he was taken with a Chill about day light his fever is high & lays a good deal in his head but he has just had a little sleep & says that he thinks that he is getting into a fine sweat. I pray to heaven that it may be so for he has not been in the least perspire for two days past. he desires me to tell you that he had the Gout manifestly in his feet last night & that now it is leaving his right foot I have told you exactly his situation my Dear Sister pray write me what you & Mr C
