Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1906.

The zeal of some of the enthusiastic Bryanites in the East has sensibly abated since Mr. Bryan's notable declaration last week that he is more radical than ever. There are, apparently, no false pretences about the great free silver advocate, and his supporters must take him for what he is. This much, at least, we believe can be said to his credit. The silver question with him is not settled; it is only postponed, and those who follow him must do so with their eyes open.

Alfred Beits, who is said to have been a billionaire, died in London, Eng., on Monday, aged about 53 years. He was born in Hamburg, Germany, in 1853, went to South Africa at the age of 22 years, engaged in gold and diamond mining and made what is said to be the largest fortune in the world, not excepting that of John D. Rockefeller. He was unmarried. Just what disposition he made of his vast estate is not known. From later accounts it appears that Mr. Beits' fortune is much less than the sum named, some 'estimates placing it as low as $50,000,000.

It is said the Democratic organization of this State is endeavoring to secure, through its central committees, the appointment of politicians to positions in the State Oyster Navy. It is understood that Governor Warfield opposes the scheme, but Comptroller Atkinson and State Treasurer Vandiver are said to favor it. As the three officers named constitute the Board of Public Works the Governor is in a minority on the question and the interests of the people are to be sacrificed for the benefit of Democratic politicians. There is crying need for a change of parties in control of the affairs of this State.

Hon. Frank C. Wachter, who was first elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress and subsequently re-elected to the Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Congresses from the Third district of Maryland, announces that he will not be a candidate at the approaching election in November. Mr. Wachter is a strenuous Republican and has been a useful member of the House of Representatives. He has a large following in the Third district, which lies in the eastern section of Baltimore, and his withdrawal from the pending campaign as a candidate is a severe disappointment to many of his friends. He has gone abroad and will probably not return until about the 12th of September. It is thought that he contemplates seeking the nomination of the Republicans of Baltimore as their candidate for mayor at the next municipal election. He was the Republican candidate against Mayor McLane, and it is thought by many persons that if the election then had been a fair one he would have been declared the choice of the people.

If, as Mr. Bryan says, the large increase in the world's production of gold has, for the time being, suspended the necessity for the free coinage of silver, why is it that the large additions to the world's supply of the yellow metal have not caused a near approach in the relative values of the two metals on the 16 to 1 basis? There was a time when 16 of silver was worth more than 1 of gold. Then the silver product became greatly enlarged, causing a striking change in these relative values. Much more silver—in value, not bulk—than gold was annually added to the world's supply and the white metal rapidly depreciated in value. Now that something like an equality of production exists the price of silver has not been largely augmented. Is it not a fact that this is due to gold being the common standard of value throughout nearly the whole world and that silver, as money, is only kept up to a safe standard because it is not coined free at the old ratio? Mr. Bryan evidently supposes that this condition will at some time be changed and he can, without doubt, be credited with the intention to exert his influence to promote such a change at the earliest opportunity. This fact will make the silver question an issue in the campaign of 1908 if Mr. Bryan shall then again be a candidate for the Presidency.

SHOULD BE AN ENERGETIC CAMPAIGN.

It is somewhat probable that Mr. Robert Garrett, who was the Republican candidate for Congress in the second district of Maryland two years ago, will be the nominee again this year. His name, at least, has been most frequently mentioned and there may be no other aspirant for the nomination antagonizing him. In fact, it is not certain that Mr. Garrett desires the honor, though it is intimated that he will accept the nomination if tendered him with unanimity by the Republicans of the district. He is a man of high character and integrity, not a spoilsman or factionist, and will therefore, it is presumed, be generally acceptable as a candidate, although the Republican organization of Baltimore county is said to favor the nonination of C. Ross Mace, and the name of Mr. John S. Ensor has also been mentioned as a possible candidate.

Sometime ago the name of Mr. Edward E. Reindollar, of Taneytown, was spoken of in connection with the nomination, but he has not, as far as we know, intimated a willingness to become a candidate. He would fill the bill admirably. He is one of the most energetic and best business men in this part of the State and has shown himself an excellent speaker whenever occasion has called him to the platform. If he had exhibited a desire to make a contest for the nomination he would have had a large following in this, his native county.

Whoever may be the candidate, however, should make an active, tireless and energetic campaign. Mr. Talbott's candidacy must be offensive to many Democrats. His political methods are of a character repugnant to good citizens of all parties and, while it may not be within the range of probability that his large majority of two years ago can be entirely wiped out, it is, at least, worth while to make the effort. More unlikely things than his defeat have occurred in the past and may happen again. Certainly, in the cause of political decency, his majority can and should be very largely diminished, if not fully overcome.

To The Sentinel's Subscribers in Carroll County.

The New R. F. D. Arrangement.

Unless the Postoffice Department can be induced to suspend the inauguration of the new arrangement of R. F. D. routes in this county, it will go into effect August 1st and, as has been heretofore stated, will, for the time being, at least, cause great confusion and difficulty in the delivery of the mails. The SENTINEL last week published a description of the seventeen routes having their initial beginning or a connection with routes beginning in this city. From this each of its patrons may be able to discover the number of the route upon which he or she will be located, respectively, in the territory covered by the routes named. In that case we trust each one who may be able to gain such information will immediately notify this office thereof, giving the number of the route to which the paper shall be directed.

There are routes beginning at Taneytown, Middleburg, Union Bridge, New Windsor, Manchester, Hampstead, Patapsco, Finksburg, Sykesville, Woodbine and Mt. Airy, of which this office has received no description. We hope the postmasters at the places named will furnish such descriptions at once that they may be published in the SENTINEL before the new arrangement shall go into effect.

In any event, however, this office will have but one recourse in directing the paper to its subscribers, until it shall learn the numbers of the routes upon which they are located, and that will be to send it to their old addresses. The carriers will, no doubt, be generally familiar with their several localities and will do the best they can to make deliveries, until the route upon which each subscriber lives shall have been ascertained. Subscribers, are however, earnestly requested to give us that information as soon as received.

Our information leads us to the belief that a number of persons heretofore reached by the R. F. D. will be left out in the new arrangement. The work of readjusting the routes was done by officers unfamiliar with the territory and some of the points named on routes are unknown to anybody. In some cases ancient names, long since out of disuse, have been revived and in others, routes which the department intended should avoid gates are so located as to make it necessary for the carriers to pass through several such obstacles to reach a few patrons. It is needless to say that some of the most intelligent citizens of the county are up in arms against what appears to have been an unnecessary breaking up of conditions which had, to a large extent, become satisfactory to the inhabitants thereof.

THE MEAT INSPECTION LAW.

It begins to be manifest that the meat inspection law passed at the late session of Congress will have a far reaching effect and will apply to products that probably the Representatives and Senators who passed it did not contemplate. Of course something of its effect will depend upon the fidelity with which the inspectors do their duty. It may be taken for granted, however, that under the administration of President Roosevelt, at least, these officers will be held to a rigid performance of this importatant trust.

Dr. Charles A. Schaufler, the inspector for Philadelphia, tells the Press of that city some interesting things about the law as it relates to that locality and which he says that "although it relates only to interstate traffic, is far-reaching in a degree that is surprising when it is examined. It must be remembered that there is hardly an establishment of any size that will not come under its jurisdiction either as bringing cattle or meat from other States or sending meat to other States. Why it means that a piece of meat cannot cross the river to Camden without the Government guarantee of its purity."

Dr. Schaufler further says: "That the law will be enforced to its limit is certain. Secretary Wilson called the various inspectors to Chicago and there it was made plain just what the attitude of the Government is and what is to be done by the department. The inspection is to be made so thorough and complete that it will remove the slightest doubt as to the purity of any meat that bears the seal of Government inspection."

This is a gratifying statement to the public, or should be so. Chicago is the center at which the most careful inspection is needed. From that point come most of the canned meats consumed in this country and the investigation made shortly before the passage of the inspection law was calculated to impress the public with the fact that these meats had not all been pure and wholesome, and that there was some degree, at least, of danger to the health of those who consumed them. Under the new law these fears may be dismissed. The United States Government is not in the habit of winking at violations of law and the people may now feel reasonably certain that they will get pure food from the source referred to.

Hon. Lyman J. Gage, Ex-Secretary of the United States Treasury, has written a letter denying his conversion to theosophy. He is at Point Loma, Cal., resting and recuperating, and expresses respect for Mrs. Tingley as a kind and cultured woman, but has not given attention to the mysteries embodied in the cult of which she may be called a priestess.

Nevin Raffensperger, of Gettysburg, Pa., a fireman on the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, in attempting to board an engine, on Thursday of last week, missed his footing and fell with his legs under the wheels and both of them were cut off between the knees and ankles.

Mrs. Sarah J. Melhorn, widow of the late Jerome Melhorn, died at the home of her son, Harry M. Melhorn, Hanover, at 3 A. M., Sunday, July 15th, of a complication of diseases, aged 70 years, 5 months and 8 days.
