SIDE ONE

1799

My mind has been so agitated by hearing disagreeable circumstances within this few weeks past that I could not prevail on myself to address my ever dear Louisa as I knew my doleful lines wd give no pleasure, I am now greatly gratified and I may say that I am infinitely happy at hearing from My Sister M'Cabb that she will soon be with us, I am certain she will be much pleased to find she will meet your good family here she long has expressed a great desire to form an aquaintance, and I hope now she will

I heard he was the gayest man at Winches wedding — I shall count the days as they pass till we meet — in the mean time believe me your my pen is a stick & truly attached MR —
may burn this scawl?
