REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR CONGRESS,
ROBERT GARRETT,
OF BALTIMORE COUNTY.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6TH.

Mr. William Jennings Bryan received a great ovation in New York, yesterday, upon his return from his year's trip around the world. He was cheered continuously for eight minutes by twenty thousand enthusiastic Democrats. This reminds one of the rousing receptions accorded Henry Clay, of Kentucky, the idol of the Whig party, but more than once an unsuccessful candidate for President of the United States.

The Advocate seems to think that because wheat has declined in price to about 72 cents per bushel, tariff protection fails to protect the farmer. But without this protection to American industries where would the farmer be with about the largest crop ever harvested in the country for consumption? He had some experience in this line a dozen years ago, when for a short period the Democrats had control of the executive and legistative branches of the goverment and tariff tinkering and reduction were practiced. Farmers who were then engaged in that business have scarcely forgotten that the price of wheat per bushel went as low as 46 cents and that 50 cents was about its average. Seventy-two cents, to be sure, is not an extravant price for the cereal but it "lies way over" 46 cents.

IS IT REFORM?

President Roosevelt sanctions an innovation in orthography recommended by a committee employed by Andrew Carnegie, of which Brander Matthews, of Columbia University, is chairman, and has ordered that it be followed in all public documents emanating from the executive department of the government. He has had 300 of the words most used selected for the purpose. The list contains many words which, by common consent are now, and have been for years, spelled as the committee recommends, but other of the spellings are based upon a new system which it will be impossible to force into general use, even with the approbation of the President of the United States. The omission of the letter "u" in such words as honor, ardor, arbor, &c., has been in vogue for half a century. "Programme" has been spelled "program" for twenty years. Even "catalog" is not a new orthography of that word. But when it comes to forming the past tense with the letter "t" instead of the letters "ed" the American public will kick and rebel.

America is a great nation, but it is not equal to reforming or changing the orthography of the English language. Other English speaking peoples must have a word to say on the subject, especially the people of England, and they, without doubt, are generally hostile to the innovations already made and those proposed by the Carnegie committee. Whether the proposed changes will be in the nature of reform, is doubtful. At any rate they can only obtain slowly and gradually, if it shall become apparent that they are real reforms. The President, we think, has made a mistake in adopting them and has transcended his authority in ordering their introduction into official documents.

NOT ACCIDENTAL.

It can hardly be supposed that the financial and business crises which marked many of the administrations of Democratic Presidents in this country were pure accidental. The Democrats boast that President Monroe was of their party and if that be conceded they must bear the responsibility of the condition which existed at the close of his second administration. The business of the country was then prostrated and in a deplorable state. Relief was brought during the administration of John Quincy Adams, by increasing the tariff, but reduction followed when the Democrats again came into power, with the usual consequences. When Martin Van Buren retired from the Presidency in 1841 the country was again experiencing a period of severe business prostration and hard times, which were relieved by the accession of the Whigs to power in 1841 and the passage of the tariff of 1842. In 1847, under the Democratic administration, another period of depression occurred, but the country was again comparatively prosperous with the Whigs in power from 1849 till 1853. Fairly good times prevailed during the Democratic administration of President Pierce from 1853 till 1857. During that period the Crimean War occurred and created such a demand for American breadstuffs as produced a prosperous condition in the country. But this was followed by the crisis of 1857 from which there was no recovery until the beginning of the Civil War. In 1860 the government was considered bankrupt and paid as high as 12 per cent. upon money borrowed to meet its current expenses.

When the war ended the country faced one of the most serious problems in its history financially. The currency was inflated, there was a large gold-bearing debt and many believed it impossible to get down to a solid financial basis and the resumption of specie payments without a fearful financial crash. But the Republican party was in power and, while it was equally impossible to perpetuate an inflated currency and to resume specie payments without reducing values and causing depression, the latter was accomplished with far less danger than was anticipated and predicted by many. Then business revived and no revulsion occurred until the Democrats gained control of the nation on a free trade platform and the second administration of Grover Cleveland saw the industries of the country prostrated, hundreds of people thrown out of employment and acute hard times generally inaugurated.

If all the people who passed through the crises here recited were living to day the Democratic party would be without the slightest prospect of success in most of the congressional districts in which it is making a contest, outside of the South, at this time. It is even doubtful whether success would attend it in some of the Southern districts, now considered certain, if such success should mean its return to power and a repetition of the conditions which prevailed from 1892 till 1896. It is possible that even the negro question might become temporarily subservient to this important issue in that section. The South is prospering under Republican administration as never before. Possibly it may not be willing to utterly jeopardize that prosperity by sanctioning the economic policy of a party that has brought repeated business disasters upon the people.

ASSASSINATIONS IN RUSSIA.

An attempt was made on Saturday last to assassinate the Russian Premier Stolypin, but failed. It is probable, however, that the purpose of the assassins was not confined to the premier alone, who was at his summer home on Aptcharsky Island and was surrounded by a number of prominent Russian officials. To this home four men, disguised as gendarmes, penetrated, ostensibly for the purpose of delivering reports to M. Stolypin. One of them carried a gilded vase which proved to have been a bomb of extraordinary power. Carrying the bomb thus disguised one of the men was making his way to the premier's private office, but, probably by accident, dropped the vase in an outer apartment. A terrific explosion followed, shattering the house, killing or mortally wounding thirty-two people and injuring, more or less severely, fully twenty others. Among the killed were the premier's daughter, aged 15 years; General Zameatin, his personal secretary; Ms. Voronin and Davidoff, court chamberlains; M. Khovostoff, former governor of Penza Province; Col. Fedoroff, chief of the premier's personal guard, and M. Doubassoff, an aid. The assassin and his companions were all killed and the carriage in which they had driven to the place was torn to pieces.

On Sunday night Gen. Min, a personal adjudant in the suite of the Czar, was shot and killed on the station platform at Peterhoff, by a young woman. Min was killed because of his harsh and severe methods and cruelties in dealing with enemies of the government. He had long been under sentence of death by the fighting organization of Social Revolutionists, but was generally surrounded by a strong body guard. Omitting this protection he fell a victim to the plans of the terrorists. The young woman who assassinated him was seized and held by his wife, but apparently made no effort to escape.

On Monday afternoon Gen. Vonliarliarski, acting military governor-general of Warsaw, Poland, was shot and killed while riding in a cab. Four shots were fired at him by an unknown young man, who escaped.

Col. Riemen, of the Seminovsky Guard Regiment, formerly commanded by Gen. Min, is reported to have been shot and killed at Ligna while on his way to Warsaw, on Monday.

On Sunday a police captain, two gendarmes and a conductor on a train were killed by a band of revolutionists.

Added to a recent attempt to kill Governor-General Kaulbars with a bomb, these acts indicate a widespread conspiracy to terrorize and overawe the officials of the Russian government. The inability of the vast military and civil constabulary of the country, with its large army of secret agents, to discover and frustrate the purposes of the revolutionists, indicates a strong and widespread organization engaged in the secret manufacture and use of death-dealing bombs as a means of freeing the masses of Russia from the grasp of the tyrany and oppression under which they are suffering. If possible, in this case, the means seem worse than the wrongs which they are employed to right. Freedom gained by such methods could hardly fail to degenerate into anarchy.

A prohibition convention, held in Frederick on Tuesday, nominated Mr. Francis B. Sappington, a merchant of that city, for Congress, in the Sixth district. Only Allegany and Frederick counties were represented in the convention.

Mr. David E. Dick, deputy surveyor of customs in Baltimore, has been dismissed from that position by Secretary of the Treasurer Shaw.

After a short illness Mrs. Mary Hurley died on Thursday, at her home at Saltville, west of Roanoke, Va., aged 106 years.

Thirteen persons were injured, some perhaps fatally, by the explosion of a boiler in a Dorchester county cannery.

John Freidinger, 21, was shot and killed by Robert Simons, in Petersville, Frederick county, after a quarrel.

The peach crop on the Maryland-Delaware Peninsula is said to be 2,000,000 baskets short.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Serious Accident.

While Mr. Thomas O. Lindsay, of this city, was engaged in painting at Mr. H. H. Harbaugh's new Palace Livery Stable, about 11 o'clock, this morning, the ladder upon which he was standing slipped, throwing him to the ground. He fell on his head and received severe injuries which rendered him unconscious. Some of the fingers of his right hand were broken and he was also considerably bruised. Dr. Joseph T. Hering was summoned and at this writing is still with him. It will be impossible to determine the extent of his injuries at once.

Miss Kate Frank has returned to Lynchburg, Va., after a brief visit to her parents here.

There was quite an excitement in our village last Sunday evening about 9 o' clock, when some of our people noticed a fire near here, which looked like a barn burning. The men started in the direction of the fire and soon discovered it to be a separator, which belonged to Mr. Howard Hare near Grave Run. He was in this vicinity last week threshing, and, instead of taking the outfit home, pulled it into the picnic woods here and the separator was burned to ashes. It was insured for $250 in the Dug Hill company. The fire, it is said, was caused by an incendiary.

Grand Mid-Summer Blanket Sale.

Genuine Reductions On Every Lot.

75c Blankets 49c.

Don't miss this rare offering, it will not happen soon again. These cotton Blankets are full size in white, gray and tan, actually worth 75c, during this sale 49c a pair.

Blankets at this time are a little abnormal. Yes, but listen—a money saving opportunity is always acceptable and this is certainly the greatest one of the season.

Think—ninety cents will pay for every dollar's worth of Blankets purchased at this sale, later you will be glad to get them at full value.

Consider—We made this vast purchase of over 1000 pairs of Blankets while the market was low. The same quality is worth one fourth more today. They are the product of the famous Muncy Mills, made of all wool, under the most sanitary processes.

They make their debut today.

11-4 Cotton Blankets.

These extra sized Blankets in white and gray will make good their mission, going at 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. If we had to buy the same today, the price would be nearly a half more.

This sale will continue next week. All Blankets listed below are subject to 10 per cent. discount after which they go to their original price.

10-4 Sanitary Gray's.

They are the Blankets we have sold so many of in the past seasons now $4.00 a pair, during this sale less the 10 per cent. makes the price but $3.60, really worth $5.00 today.

10-4 White Eiderdowns.

These blankets embrace the full meaning of their names. Softly finished, heavy weight, different colored borders, with silk bound edges, were $3.50 but the 10 per cent. discount puts them to $3.15 a pair.

10-4 Red and White Californias.

The glowing comfort produced from these Blankets can only be explained by actual experience. They are a very neatly woven $6.00 Blanket for $5.00 and during this sale less 10 per cent. the price is $4.50 a pair.

10-4 Gettysburg and Korea Grays.

These Blankets are among the nearest things to human warmth. Regular price $2.98 take off 10 per cent. and you get them for $2.68 a pair, genuine $4.00 Blankets.

Pen-Mar Scarlet Blankets

Are strongly fortified against the cold. Coming in strictly all wool.

10 4 regularly $3.98, less 10 per cent. now $3.68 worth $5.00.

11 4 regularly $5.00, less 10 per cent. now $4.50 worth $6.00.

11-4 Wool Wine White Blankets.

We had guard mount inspection and now ready to guard you against cold bleaky winter weather. They are extra large size, neatly decorated with a 6-inch blue border. The regular $3.50 kind, less the 10 per cent makes the price $3.15.

Hanover and Snow-Ball Blankets.

Here is the biggest bargain in the bunch—the color is white and prettily finished with pink and blue borders.

10-4 are $2.98 less 10 per cent. now $2.68 pair worth $4.00.

11-4 are $3.98 less 10 per cent. now $3.68 pair worth $5.00.
