It was unfortunate that two such lectures as those of Dr. Moore and Dr. Curtis Lee Laws should have occurred in this city the same evening. Not many citizens heard Dr. Laws' lecture at Alumni Hall on "Switzerland, Its Lakes, Mountains and Cities," but those who did so speak in eulogistic terms concerning it. Dr. Laws' lecture on "Holland and the Rhine" will be delivered in Alumni Hall tonight and will be well worth attending. The subject is full of interest and those who have heard any of Dr. Laws' lectures know that it will be treated in a masterly way.

While the winter months are about half over and for the most part the first half of the season has been exceptionally mild, there is still time for plenty of severe weather, as this week's experience indicates, low temparatures with high winds having made roaring fires and heavy clothing necessary for comfort. Yesterday was the coldest day of the season the temperature having been as low as 2°.

Those who attended the lecture of Rev. Dr. Robert M. Moore on "Ireland and Its People," at Odd Fellows' Hall, this city, on Friday evening last, were well repaid for braving the elements and risking a walk on the slippery sidewalks. The stereopticon illustrations of the lecture were very attractive and gave many vivid views of Irish scenes of more than passing interest. The lecture was delivered in a distinct tone and every word uttered was heard and understood in every part of the hall. It was couched in simple, but admirable and sometimes eloquent language, and must have afforded unusual pleasure to the audience which occupied most of the seating capacity of the auditorium.

The dead body of Marshall Washington, a colored man aged about thirty years, was found on Sunday morning in a field of Mr. Steinberg, about two miles west of New Windsor. He had been missing since the previous Wednesday night, and had evidently died from exposure. He was lying, face downward, with his arms under his head, by the side of a wire fence, where he had fallen in the snow which then covered the ground. His body was viewed by Justice J. Edward West, of New Windsor, who found no marks of violence upon it and therefore considered an inquest unnecessary. Washington, who was a laborer, had no fixed home. He sometimes stayed with his sister, who lives on what is known as "Hawk's Hill." It is supposed that he was making for her home when, under the influence of liquor, he fell at the wire fence which he could not climb and, having been unable to rise, perished.

Complimenting a Westminster Boy.

Numbers of South Carolina newspapers are saying complimentary things about Mr. Wm. B. Seabrook, grandson of the editor of the SENTINEL, who was appointed city editor of the Augusta, Ga., Chronicle on the 1st inst. The following from the Newberry Herald and News is about as moderate in tone as any of the compliments paid him by the press:

"We are pleased to note the rapid rise of Mr. W. B. Seabrook on the Augusta Chronicle. Only a short time ago he received a reporter's position on the paper and on the first of this month he was made city editor. The position was won by dint of hard and efficient work. We are pleased we say because he received his first newspaper training at this office, but that is the least of our pleasure. We are pleased because his promotion is a recognition of the newspaper genius. We congratulate him and the Chronicle."

TANEYTOWN.

State President Dr. A. B. Candler and State Master of Forms Marion H. Taylor were the guests of Washington Camp, No. 2, of Taneytown, last Thursday. The visiting brethren took the brothers by surprise by getting in town ahead of time. The afternoon was spent in visiting the various places of interest in the community and calling upon some of the brethren. The reception committee, composed of District President William E. Wheeler (chairman) and Brothers Brown and Bowers, took the brothers to the Buffington Hotel. At the regular meeting at 8 P. M. the camp was well filled. State Master of Forms Taylor, assisted by the state president, district president and junior past president of No. 2, installed the officers of the camp. The state president, in his address, requested each one to do his part in bringing into the order 2,000 more members before June 30 next, and thanked the camp for its hearty support in the past. The state master of forms was introduced as being one that put the district president in mind of the Irishman's flea, being "here, there and everywhere." Brother Taylor took the motto of the order, "God, Country and Order," as the basis of his remarks. The state president was congratulated on the success of his administration, and the hope was expressed that he would be able to make this year the banner year of the order. After adjournment a fine banquet was served.

The sleighing of last week was short lived in this section but brought out the cutters and sleds pretty generally. The moderate weather which soon set in was accompanied by dense fog, that for several days was most disagreeable. The roads became almost impassable at some places. But a change came Sunday and the temperature again dropped and at this writing the roads are solid, with mercury down to within 4° of zero. A week's continuation of the present conditions is much desired for an ice crop. Farmers are rushing their grain to market since the freeze.

The funeral of Mrs. William Redding took place on Monday. Services were held in the U. B. Church on High street, Rev. Zuse officiating. The remains were brought here from her late home in Hanover where she died from tuberculosis on Saturday while Rev. Hay was performing the last sad rites over the remains of a little nephew of hers, who died in the home on Thursday from having been badly scalded by falling into a bucket of boiling water. The remains of the child were buried on Saturday at Mount Union Cemetery near Snydersburg. Mrs. Redding's maiden name was Ada Green and she lived with her family several years in this town and section. She leaves a husband and two children.

The members of the Missionary Society of Emanuel Lutheran Church of this place celebrated their second anniversary on Sunday evening last, with an interesting program. They had with them Mrs. Heilman, wife of Rev. Mr. Heilman, of Baltimore, who addressed them along the lines of Missionary work. M., have put their shoulders to the wheel and are fitting up their hall in the Hoffacker building in an up-to-date manner, to be in readiness until the 31st inst., when a double team from Hanover will be here and enliven the occasion for the membership with the latest initiatory work.

This community was shocked on Wednesday evening when the news was heralded all along the line that Howard Berwager, living two miles east of town, was killed near Maple Grove. He left his home with a load of wheat with three horses to the wagon and almost within sight of the station his team was found standing in the road with the front wheel on his breast and his head fastened in the rut with the line in his hand, dead. When he left home he was seated in the front part of the wagon and it is supposed he was thrown forward as the wagon went down the hill, the ruts being quite uneven, and fell in front of the wheel. Mr. Geo. Frank was passing along the road and found him. Word was sent to Maple Grove and the home that brought help to extricate him from under the wheel. His body was taken to his home where Dr. J. H. Preston found the neck dislocated and the breast badly crushed. He leaves a wife and five children. A month or more ago he sold his farm and bought a house in town, which the family will occupy in the spring. He is an only child of Ex-Steward of the Alms House Edward Berwager. His remains will be laid away to rest in a family lot in the Greenmount Cemetery. He was aged about 36 years.

Cassidy, of Westminster, held services at the house and grave. The deceased leaves her husband and two sons, Philip and Lee Crawmer, and one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Lambert, all of New Windsor district.

On Sunday last the remains of Marshall Reuben Washington, colored, were found in a field of Mr. Steinburg's, near this place. He had been missing from his home since the Tuesday before. He had been at work at Mr. Marshall Hartsook's and left there in the evening, taking a jug of cider along which was found not far from where he lay face downward alongside of the fence. Constable W. Mitten and magistrate J. E. West found no marks of violence on the body and decided that death was caused by exposure.

The deceased had over two dollars in his pocketbook when he left Mr. Hartsook's and when found he had the pocketbook in his pocket but no money. His age was 30 years, 11 days. His remains were interred at Mt. Olive Cemetery on Tuesday.

Mr. C. C. Currens, of Thurmont, spent Sundry last with his daughter, Mrs. M. D. Reid.

The young friends of Miss Edna Haines gave her a surprise party, at her home near town, in honor of her sixteenth birthday.

MARRIED

At the parsonage of Salem charge, Lutheran Church, this city, Jan. 23rd, 1907, by Rev. R. W. Doty, Mr. E. Edward Martin, of Carrollton, and Miss Barbara M. Brown, of Sandyville.

DIED.

In Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 8th, 1907, George M., son of Harvey J. and Birdie V. Mark Formwalt, aged 1 year and 11 days.

In this city, Jan. 22nd, 1907, Mrs Margaret E., widow of Wm. Hamilton Grumbine, aged 65 years and 11 months.

In this city, Jan. 23rd, 1907, Barbara E., wife of Richard Kane, aged 55 years, 2 months and 9 days.

In Cranberry Valley, Jan. 23rd, 1907, Catharine, widow of Washington Louey, aged 79 years, 10 months and 3 days.

IN MEMORIAM.

Hiram Englar died Jan. 27, 1893.

The words of the dying are treasured as evidence of future realities, but the observation is apt that they are ever the echoes of antecedent belief.
No Virgin by Protestant, no Christ by Niravana's heir is seen or heard.

Evelyn Larue, only daughter of Edward and Annie L. King, of Carroll street, this city, died on Jan. 11th, 1907, of pneumonia and measles, aged 2 years, 3 months and 7 days.

Oh, how hard we tried to save her,
But our care was all in vain;
Angels came and took her from us,
She's with the Saviour, free from pain.

By her Parents.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear wife, Virginia Frizzell, who departed this life January 14th, 1906.

"Asleep in Jesus."

How long she struggled against disease,
Which baffled skill and care,
And long she lingered racked with pain
And suffering hard to bear.

And yet through all at times she'd smile,
A smile of heavenly birth,
And when the angels called her home
She smiled farewell to earth!

Farewell dear Jennie, may your slumber
Be as gentle as your love,
And when God shall call us home
May we meet in heaven above.

By her Husband.

It has been one long year today
Since our mother was taken away,
Her sweet face and smiles haunt us yet.

Our mother is sleeping so free from pain,
Oh, wake her not to suffer again;
She slumbers so soundly, let her sleep.

Her sickness is ended, her troubles are over,
One mournful year has vanished,
But the memory of our dear mother
Is still fresh in our hearts.

By her Children.

A light from our household is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.

One by one earth's ties are broken,
As our loved ones are borne away;
But the hope of the resurrection
Turns our darkness into day.

Dearest daughter, thou hast left us,
We thy loss most deeply feel;
But in Heaven we hope to meet you,
Where we meet to part no more.

By her Mother.
