Those who fail to hear the lecture of Rev. Frank M. Gibson, Ph. D., on "Egypt, the Land of the Pharaohs," next Tuesday night, 12th inst., will miss what the editor of the SENTINEL believes is the best and most interesting illustrated lecture ever delivered in Westminster. Dr. Gibson should have an overflowing house on the occasion, to show the appreciation of his fellow-townspeople of the opportunity to hear a lecture and witness its illustrations, both of which are surpassing of interest. It is proper to add that while the lecture is intensely entertaining, it is also highly instructive, so that more can be learned about ancient Egypt, in an hour, in this way, than by a long course of reading and study.

63 Years a Printer.

Mr. Wm. Harry Lockard, one of the compositors in the SENTINEL office, is the oldest printer in this county, and there are few in the State, if any, who exceed him in longevity and in the period in which he has followed that occupation. Mr. Lockard was 79 years old on Sunday last, and has been employed in typesetting, with few intervals, for 63 years. He became an apprentice in the office of The Democrat, then published by the late Joseph M. Parke, at the age of 16 years, and since learning the trade has has been, for the larger part of the time, employed in the SENTINEL office. He enjoys exceptionably good health, and still sets type every week-day for well nigh ten hours. He was twice married, but has no family, both his wives and an only child being dead. He is a son of the late Wm. Lockard, of Reese, and the only survivor of the children except one sister, Mrs. Samuel Hughes, who now resides near Carrollton.

His funeral took place from his late residence on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Katie Hilton.

Mrs. Katie Hilton, wife of Mr. C. M. Hilton, died suddenly at her home, in Mount Airy, Monday morning, aged 51 years. Pleasant, Westmoreland county, Pa., December 1, 1815, and removed to Uniontown 60 years ago. For the last 50 years he was engaged in merchandizing in that place, of which he was, at his death, probably the oldest resident. He was a man of decided character and fidelity to his convictions of right and duty. He was not, however, intolerant of the rights of others and his friendships were many and sincere. He was a decided Republican and always took a deep interest in public affairs. His death was probably hastened by a fall, which occurred a month or more ago, and by which one of his hips was fractured. Up to that time he had been remarkably vigorous for a nonogenarian. He leaves one daughter and two sons, all well known and highly esteemed residents of this county—Miss Sallie E. Weaver, Mr. Harry H. Weaver, of Uniontown, and Dr. John N. Weaver, of Union Bridge—and also six grandchildren. His funeral will take place at 1 o'clock, tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Sarah E. Jones.

Miss Sarah E. Jones died at her residence, 202 N. Fulton Ave., Baltimore, on Tuesday afternoon, of the infirmities of old age, in her 86th year. She was a daughter of Capt. Thomas Sprigg Jones, one of the "Old Defenders" of Baltimore; a granddaughter of Judge Thomas Jones, of the first Court of Appeals of Maryland, and great-granddaughter of Capt. Philip Jones, Jr., who, in 1720, surveyed and laid out Baltimore Town. Until a few years ago she resided with her brother, John T. Jones, and her sister, Miss Ella R. Jones, at the ancestral home, Walnut Grove, Patapsco Neck, but after the death of her brother she and her sister moved to Baltimore and leased the home place, for a term of years, to the Cresent Club of Baltimore for a club house. At the age of 79 years she crossed the ocean and spent sometime in Europe, and her recollections of the trip had been a great pleasure to her ever since. She was a woman of remarkable memory and had a host of warm and devoted friends. Her funeral took place on Thursday afternoon. Two sisters survive her, Mrs. Susan Martin and Miss Ella R Jones. She and Mrs. Harry Ecker lived together and the accident occurred in Mrs. Greenwood's room. The venerable lady was doing something about the stove when her clothing was ignited about the neck and she was severely burned before the flames could be suppressed. She was considerably upward of 80 years old and the shock and injuries together caused her death. She leaves no children. Before her husband's death they resided near Sams Creek, but for some time she had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ecker, in Baltimore, and continued with Mrs. Ecker after Mr. Ecker's death, which occurred recently. She was a daughter of the late Levi Devilbiss and a sister of Mrs. Hannah Baker, of New Windsor, and of Mr. George W. Devilbiss, near Sams Creek. Her remains were taken to the home of the last named on Sunday afternoon and funeral services were held on Tuesday morning at Bethel M. E. Church, Rev. L. E. Bennett, of New Windsor, officiating. Mrs. Greenwood was a gentle, amiable, kind and benevolent lady and had many warm and sincere friends.

The members of Carroll Division No. 42, Sons of Temperance, of this city, with ladies of their families and other lady friends, to the number, in all, of 38, enjoyed an elegant banquet at the Westminster, on Tuesday evening. Mitten, constituting the committee of arrangements, announced that the banquet was in readiness and the members and their guests formed in line and, led by Rev. and Mrs. Jesse C. Starr, proceeded to the dining room and to the unalloyed enjoyment of the feast, upon which the Divine blessing was invoked by Mr. Starr. At every cover lay a beautiful white carnation to be worn as a boutoniere. After the viands had been fully and freely discussed short addresses were made by Dr. Charles Billingslea, Rev. Jesse C. Starr, Mr. Henry B. Grammer and other members of the Division Following was the menu.

Carroll Division is among the oldest, if not the oldest, beneficial association in this county, and is one of the few surviving divisions of the order, which once flourished extensively in this State and accomplished a good work in reclaiming men who had fallen into intemperate habits, and especially in restraining young men who were inclined to dissipation, from yielding to the temptation which attracted them from the paths of sobriety.

A Farmers' Institute.

Mr. Wm. L. Amoss, director of Farmer's Institutes, announces that an institute will be held in the court house, this city, on Monday and Tuesday, 18th and 19th inst., from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M., each day. The program for the institute will be as follows:

FIRST DAY.

Receiving and arranging Boys' Corn Exhibit.
The Farm as a Factory.
Question Box.
Poultry as a Side Line for Farmers.
Management of Orchards.
Announcement of College Prize to Boys' Corn Exhibit.

SECOND DAY.

Poultry Houses and Yards.
Practical Plant Feeding.
Question Box.
Producing Eggs for the City Market.
Market Gardening.
Discussion by local men.

Women will be welcome at all occasions.

Fifteen minutes of each session will be devoted to the Agricultural College and its departments.

It may not be generally understood that the trustees of the Maryland Agricultural College have offered to the farmers' sons of Maryland twenty-three free scholarships to a special course of two weeks at the college, upon competitive contests in the exhibition of corn. Each competitor is to exhibit ten ears of corn, to be judged, as will be seen by the program, on the first day of the institute. The boy, or youth, whose exhibit shall be regarded as the best, will receive the two-weeks' scholarship for this county. The competitors will be furnished an explanation of the points required in the exhibits and the method of judging, upon application to Mr. W. L. Amoss, the institute director, College Park, Md. While these exhibits will be an attractive feature of the institute, they will form a very small part of the important proceedings on the occasion. Experienced, competent and thoroughly well informed instructors will discuss the several questions outlined in the program.

It is one of the great features of these institutes that the speakers are not theorists but practical men who have tested by years of experiment the truth of what they undertake to impart to others.

Judge L. P. Slingluff, of New Windsor, is the Carroll county institute correspondent.

Shipley-Wilson.

On the afternoon of the 27th ult., Mr Joseph H. Shipley and Miss Maggie Wilson, two of our most highly esteemed citizens, were united in matrimony by the Rev. G. C. Harris, at the parsonage of West Falls circuit in Taylorsville. They returned to the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kanaugh, which was also the home of the bride, where they found in waiting a sumptuous supper, and many of their most intimate friends and relatives, who very agreeably and cheerfully gave them hearty congratulations, and many kind wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life.

The table was large and well supplied with the most choice edibles of the season, to which all present did ample justice. A jocular spirit seemed to prevail. To say the bride and groom looked their best would be but speaking mildly. The bride was dressed in white silk and the groom in a handsome suit of conventional black. The calithumpian band gathered at an early hour after supper and gave the happy couple a good old time serenade, coupled with more congratulations. A large table, containing ices, cake, nuts, lemonade and confectioneries were spread in the dining room at 7 P. M., and kept supplied during the evening.

Those who were present to enjoy the occasion, were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. Grove C. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Wagner; Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Biddenson, of Baltimore; Mrs. Mary J. Haines, Misses Pleasant Shipley, Rena Snyder, Pearley Shipley, Esta Wilson, Melvie Shipley, Elsie Wagner, Eva Baker, Elsie Easton, Belle Easton, Messrs. George McQuay, Edward Kanaugh, Donald Shipley, Roy Snyder, Oland Wilson, Robert Shipley, Willie Davis, Herman Wagner, Lue Barber, John Easton, Amon Shipley, Roy Wagner, Elbert Shipley, Earnest Haines, Paul Easton, and Arthur Shipley.

On the 28th ult., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Shipley gave a reception to the aforesaid friends, together with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Shipley; Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Oursler, of Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. Elias G. Shipley, and Mr. Walter Edmondson, at their home residence, and entertained them at an apppropriate and elegant dinner. It is needless to say that all present did ample justice to the choice viands set before them. All seemed to enjoy themselves hugely and the afternoon was whiled away in pleasant conversation, until 3 o'clock, when the friends began to separate to their respective homes, bidding the host and hostess and each other a social adieu. The happy couple have our good wishes for a long and prosperous life, filled with the sunshine of peace.

Her remains were interred in the Union Bethel cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Elder L. F. Murry, of Bark Hill, a former pastor of the Church, assisted by Elder Victor K. Mr. John C. Harman, who has been laid up since the beginning of the present year with a large carbuncle on the back of his head, is now able to be up and about the house. He was attended by Drs. Hering and Woodward, of Westminster, Westminster, who had little hopes of his recovery at the start. They pronounced it the worst case of the kind they had ever seen.

Your correspondent, who has been confined to his room since the 29th of December, can say very little, from personal observation, about the winter. Neighbors and friends who visited him frequently did not agree about the groundhog. Some said he saw his shadow, others that he did not. One party declared that he did not come out at all. A few days before Mathias' day they said if he found ice he'd break it, and if he found none he'd make it. Looking from his window, as the day dawned, your correspondent saw plenty of ice and snow, and there is still plenty of it at this writing.

Well! March has come again and with it all that belongs to the season seems to be in evidence. Blue birds are singing, wild geese have been going north and spring croakers (frogs) are still looking through glass (ice) windows, but we feel that spring has come and soon all nature will be looking alive. The moving season is beginning again and before the 6th of April many changes will have been made hereabouts.

The grip and pneumonia have been holding sway with us and Dr. Mathias, of Westminster, is kept quite busy visiting our sick.

Mrs. Geo. C. Freyman, Mrs. Wm. A. Gibson and Mr. Harry Wagner are all on the sick list, besides many others who are convalescing.

Our farmers are very actively engaged preparing for their routine spring work and procuring their farm labor for the year. Good hands are scarce and those who will work on farms are demanding good wages.

The thaw, on the 2nd inst., moved much snow and ice from off our farms in the form of running water and our roads and fields got a good "hackling." Big Morgan Run spread all over her level valley. The waters in all the streams were up and in many places carried trees, logs, lops and all such debris before them to out-of-the way places and left them. The February freeze found many of our water pipes and thus cut off many conveniences arranged for watering purposes on the farms. But we have not heard of any damage by freezing.

"The Ladies' Mite Society" of Bethesda Church, which held an oyster supper at the P. O. S. of A. Hall in Gist on the 21st and 23rd ultimo, as previously announced, was quite a success. The society cleared $36.00.

The Deer Park circuit held its 4th quarterly conference at Harmony Grove Chapel on the 2nd inst. The meeting was well attended and the various appointments were well represented. Bro. Wm. Shilling, of Deer Park, was elected delegate to the Maryland Annual Conference which will meet at Washington, D. C., on the 3rd of April. Bro. J. J. Brandenburg, of Brandenburg appointment, was elected alternate.

We were visited, at night, on the 5th inst., by quite a wind storm which lasted for 30 minutes, and seemed to be of great velocity.

We have just received a letter from Mr. H. C. Hahn, who lives at Minneapolis, Minn., who says the ice there is 28 inches thick and is being harvested. If the extreme cold weather continues it will get a great deal thicker. If we had had some of that kind of ice last summer how glad we would have been even for a very small piece, as there was almost an ice famine here.

Mr. John Study, near here, who was taken to Baltimore a week ago, was operated upon on Monday and is doing as will as can be expected at the present writing.
