Railroad men are endeavoring to create the impression that the rate bill passed by Congress will retard the construction of new roads and tend to restrict the existence of railroad mileage below a point necessary to move the products of the country. This is probably only a dodge to induce Congress to modify the terms of the law, but, if it be true, other means should be developed to meet the condition alleged. The country now has many navigable waterways and the days of canals should be revived. Products not perishable, such as cereals, could be carried to market by water at much lower rates than is being charged by the railroads; the one drawback being the greater time of transit by canal. There is nothing so objectionable in that, however, as to render the construction of canals impracticable. If enterprises of that character were undertaken railroad men would soon be singing a song very different from that to which they attune their voices at this time. The rate law should stand as it is or be made more stringent.

BALTIMORE REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

The Republican City convention, of Baltimore, met on Monday night and nominated E. Clay Timanus, the present incumbent, for mayor, George R. Haffner for comptroller and Samuel H. Tattersall for president of the Second Branch, city council. All the nominations were made unanimous. Dr. A. Edward F. Grempler was the choice of a majority of the delegates for president of the Second Branch and was one of Mayor Timanus' running mates in the primaries, but he declined the nomination for professional reasons. Mr. Tattersall was the Wachter candidate for the same office and when Dr. Grempler declined was tendered the nomination, which, after consulting with his friends, he decided to accept. The office is an important one, its occupant, in the event of the death of the mayor, becoming his successor during the remainder of the term. As president of the Second Branch Mr. Timanus succeeded to the mayoralty upon the death of Mr. McLane. The nomination of Mr. Tattersall, therefore, gives the Wachterites an influential place on the ticket and this action by the convention should assure a solid Republican vote for all the Republican candidates. The friends of Mr. Wachter in the convention, at his request, united in making the nominations unanimous and this action gives promise of a perfect union of action by organization and anti-organization forces at the election in May.

FIVE MILLIONS TO DEFEAT ROOSEVELT.

The political world was recently thrown into a state of unwonted excitement by the announcement that Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, had "given it away" that a five-million fund had been raised to prevent President Roosevelt's renomination for the Presidency and to secure the nomination of somebody hostile to his policies. The names of a number of leading officials and statesmen were coupled with the story, but denials have emanated from several of them and some discredit has been cast upon the whole story, though there seems to be real ground for its circulation.

It is regarded as absolutely certain that Mr. Roosevelt not only does not seek renomination, but would absolutely refuse to accept, if again nominated. If this be true it is an evidence of true wisdom on his part. When his present term shall have expired he will have practically served a sufficient length of time to retire in obedience to what may fairly be termed the unwritten law of the case. He will have served within a few months of the full two terms accorded to a number of his predecessors and should voluntarily relinquish any prospect of a renomination. This appears to be his own attitude on the subject.

It is reasonable, however, that he should desire the nomination of a candidate in sympathy with the policies which have marked his administration, and, it is alleged, that he finds that man in the person of the Secretary of War, Judge Wm. H. Taft. How far Judge Taft has committed himself to the President's tendency to centralizing the General Government we are unable to say. We regard this as the weakest spot in the Roosevelt Administration and trust that Judge Taft is too profonnd a student of the Constitution to press the theory of Centralization to the point of tresspass upon the reserved rights of the States. These are matters in which the General Government should be given greater authority than is now possessed; but such authority should not be assumed upon the theory that it already exists by implication.

Judge Taft would be an admirable candidate for the Presidency if holding conservative opinions on this subject and this he probably does. The people of the country, as a mass, can hardly be otherwise than favorable to such legislation as will force the railroads to place all their patrons on an equality, and President Roosevelt deserves the thanks of the people generally for his efforts to bring about such a condition. It goes without saying that Judge Taft is in harmony with this view. None of his acts, hitherto, have indicated a radical desire to push the authority of the Government beyond the ground legitimately taken by Congress in passing the railroad rate, pure food and other bills of a kindred character.

But Judge Taft is only one of a score of men any one of whom would be acceptable to the Republicans of the country as their candidate for the Presidency, though he has the vantage ground in being the favorite of the administration. Whether the story of a conspiracy to checkmate the President by the use of a large sum of money to prevent the endorsement of his policies be true or false, it may be set down as certain that the Secretary of War is, at this time, a formidable candidate for the nomination and would be as strong before the people as any man who can be named.

A dispatch from Cumberland says that on the Durbin branch of the Western Maryland Railroad there is almost a blockade of snow, at Gladys, a lumbertown on the line, the snow being 22 inches deep. From the glades in Garrett county, west to Terra Alta, the snow is six inches deep.

Fifteen persons were probably cremated in a wreck on the Canadian Pacific railway yesterday.

The trial of Harry K. Thaw, for the murder of Sanford White, in New York, bids fair to be without result. It was given to the jury two days ago, after long argument by counsel, but at the latest report a verdict had not been reached. The jury has called for the testimony relating to his sanity and is evidently divided upon the subject. It is to be hoped, however, that the case will be finally disposed of on this trial. It would be something of an outrage on the public to have the daily newspapers loaded down again with the prurient stuff elicited during the trial now about to end.

G. A. R. Encampment Officers.

The thirty-first encampment of the Department of Maryland, Grand Army of the Republic, was begun Tuesday at Red Men's Hall, Baltimore.

About 300 delegates were present, representing 40 posts of the department in the State, and much routine business was transacted.

Major Fred C. Tarr, of Custer Post, No. 6, Baltimore, was elected commander for the ensuing year. The department delegates, besides electing officers, also selected delegates and alternates to represent them at the National Encampment, which meets at Saratoga, N. Y., in September. The other officers elected were as follows:

Senior Vice Commander—Mr. Edward Schilling, of Tyler Post No. 5, of Cumberland.

Junior Vice Commander—Mr. Henry O'Neal, of Rogers Post, No. 28 of Havre de Grace.

Medical Director—Dr. G. Lane Taneyhill, of Wilson Post No. 1.

At his installation Major Tarr, the commander, announced the following official appointments:

Assistant adjutant general, Mr. R. C. Sunstrom; assistant quartermaster general, Mr. John C. Erdman; delegate-at-large to the National Encampment, Mr. John T. Holmes; alternate, Thomas J. Hunt. The four delegates in addition allowed to the Department of Maryland this year are Messrs. Reuben N. Conaway, Joseph Dulaney, Capt. John A. Thompson and James S. Baer, while the alternates will be Messrs. W. S. Drach, Robert Waters, Wm. Brown and Daniel Tatem.

Gen. Robert B. Brown, the commander-in-chief; Gen. John C. Black, the past commander-in-chief, and United State Senator James McCumber, of South Dakota, visited the encampment, and each of them was given a hearty and enthusiastic reception.

Colonel Prechtel, the retiring commander, was called to the front of the rostrum and presented with with a diamond-studded past commander's badge by Mr. Louis P. Henninghausen on behalf of the delegates.

Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge Meets.

The Grand Lodge of Maryland, Knights of Pythias, began its annual convention on Wednesday at Pythian Castle, Gay and Lexington streets, Baltimore, with a large attendance of delegates. At the morning and afternoon sessions the reports of the grand chancellor, grand keeper of records and seals, grand master of the exchequer and the trustees of Pythian Castle were received and accepted. The Grand Lodge elected the following officers:

Grand chancellor, Wm. F. King, Pocomoke City; grand vice chancellor, Olin Bryan, Baltimore; grand prelate, Benjamin H. McKindlass, Baltimore; grand keeper of record and seals, Jas Whitehouse; grand master of exchequer, Lewis Reitz. Delegates were present from all the lodges in this county. Mr. Theo. A. Kauffman, represented Charity Lodge of this city.

Stolen by a Scrub-Woman.

Several weeks ago $173,000 mysteriously disappeared from the United States Sub-treasury in Chicago and the Evening Journal of that city says the mystery surrounding the theft has been cleared. The alleged thief is said to be a negro scrub-woman, whom the Secret-Service officers have taken charge of and are endeavoring to get from her some trace of the missing money. The clue to the woman is said to have been obtained from the display of a $1000 bill by a negro in a saloon. A search warrant has been issued and the Secret Service officers will search the home of the scrub-woman, but they do not have, apparently, much hope of success.

A state conference of charities and corrections will be held Thursday and Friday, April 25 and 26, at McCoy Hall, Baltimore. All of the important charitable institutions and societies of Maryland will be represented. Officers will be elected, and a permanent organization effected, with the idea of holding similar conferences annually. The conference is intended particularly to provide opportunity for public discussion of those charity problems and needs which are of state-wide importance, and it is planned to make these discussions serve to bring out especially those needs which may be met by the legislature at its next session. Dr. J. W. Hering, of this city, is one of the vice-presidents of the society.

Mr. Gordon Taylor Hughes, son in-law of Ex-Governor Frank Brown, of Maryland, died at his home in New York, very suddenly, on Wednesday, at the age of 37 years. Mr. Hughes and Miss May Brown, the Ex-Governor's daughter, were married November 4, 1903. Mr. Hughes' death, it is said, was caused by rupture of the aorta, which had been weakened by strenuous activity in athletics. Mr. Hughes was a successful lawyer. He was a man of splendid physique. He was a graduate of Harvard and also studied in Switzerland, Germany, and at Oxford, England, receiving a degree from the last mentioned institution.

Mrs. Maria R. Berryman is seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Logue, of Reisterston. She was 97 years old last month, has enjoyed good health until this week and has possession of all her faculties. Her husband, Ephraim Berryman, died about 18 years ago. Her children are: William, John and Charles Berryman, of Baltimore; Ephraim Berryman, of Arlington; James and Stanley Berryman, Mrs. Lida Logue, Mrs. Margaret Uhler, of Reisterstown. There are about 35 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

On next Sunday, April 14, Mrs. Catherine Klein, of Baltimore, will pass the one hundred and fourth milestone of her life. In the second-story back room of 1320 North Chapel street, where she has been confined to her bed for the past five years, she is as bright and cheerful as can be. For her age Mrs. Klein is a remarkable woman. While her face is much wrinkled, her body waned and her eyesight failing, she, nevertheless, retains all of her other faculties to a wonderful degree.

Dr. John S. Fulton, who has been secretary and executive officer of the State Board of Health for over 10 years, has resigned that position to become organizer of the International Congress on Tuberculosis, which will meet in Washington next year. The resignation will become effective on May 1, when the vacancy will be filled by the State Board. It is believed that Dr. Fulton's assistant, Dr. L. Marshall Price, of Baltimore county, will be promoted to fill the vacancy.

Veterans of the Civil War from many sections of the United States gathered about banquet tables at the Hotel Belvedere, Baltimore, Tuesday night and celebrated the forty-second anniversary of the surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee at Appomattox Court House. Those present from this county were Messrs. W. S. Drach, Nathan Hymiller, James Easton, John W. Gill, James S. Baer, R. N. Conaway, Richard Harris, D. W. Wilhelm.

At the monthly meeting of the House of Correction managers the superintendent made a favorable report and five more laborers were assigned to work on the State road from Baltimore to Washington.

R. K. Lewis, foreign missionary steward, reported that $8,427 had been raised during the year. The report was accepted.

The report of the Superannuate Fund Society stated that 99 per cent. of the amount due superannuates had been paid.

Better Salaries Needed.

The special committee composed of Rev. F. T. Little, Rev. J. D. Kinzer, Rev. L. F. Warner, Rev. T. Pliny Fisher and Rev. J. H. Roberts, to which was referred the resolution of Mr. Daniel Baker, of Baltimore, providing for an increase in the salaries of ministers, made an extended report, which was adopted.

The report of the committee on education, which was read, complimented Vice-President W. R. McDaniel on his work at Western Maryland College, expressed the hope that $10,000 for the fund will be raised by commencement, 1907. The committee devoutly and gratefully records its thanksgiving and joy that the Heavenly Father gave His protecting care to Rev. Dr. T. H. Lewis, the honored president of this institution, during his extended travel, "and we trust that, with renewed vigor of mind and body, he may long continue to guide the affairs of the college he has served so well."

The Westminster Theological Seminary was especially commended and gratification expressed that its endowment fund has gone beyond $5,000. It was recommended that the district be assessed $1,800 and that Rev. Dr. Elderdice be assigned as president of the seminary.
