1899 October-Nov

SIDE ONE

Monday morning

Our little Deedie has been very sick all night a high fever very restless, talking in a very random manner and from the way in which she twitched her limbs and picked with her finger and thumb I was afraid at one time she would have a convulsion. But this morning since she had her breakfast She seems quite bright. We sent for the Dr but by the time he came the fever had gone and of course there seemed to be nothing the matter, & we had to send for him to