Sample Ballots are ready for use. Candidates and committee men can get them at the SENTINEL OFFICE.

If you don't want your grandfather, your father and probably yourself disfranchised by the present election law, whether you be a Republican or a Democrat, you should vote the Republican ticket. There is no other way to escape the consequences of the law, which was passed by a Democratic Legislature and approved by a Democratic Governor for the purpose of making voting difficult, and which has made it practically impossible for aged, infirm or nervous persons to properly mark their ballots.

The illness of Judge Crothers, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has abated to such an extent that courtesy no longer requires silence concerning his part in the political history of his native county, Cecil, to which the only allusion we desire to make at this time is in relation to his unpopularity at home. He has been three times a candidate for the State Senate. The first time he was elected and served a term in that body. The second time, in 1901, he was defeated by about 100 plurality. The third time, in 1905, the plurality against him was 424, though on the State ticket the county was Democratic. Now, there must be a cause for this extraordinary opposition to the Democratic candidate in his own party? What that cause is may be only a matter of speculation, but it is more than probable that his arbitrary machine system of hossism accounts for it. If anything, Judge Crothers is a machine politician of the most emphatic type, and, if elected Governor, will use all the influence of that office to strengthen the grip of the Democratic machine upon the fortunes of his own party. The only hope for the exertion of salutary influence upon party affairs, by anti-machine Democrats, lies in his defeat. Such a result is of greater importance to Democrats of that stripe than to the Republicans.

The one issue of fair elections ought to be sufficient to assure the Republicans an overwhelming victory in this State on the 5th of next month. The existing election law disfranchised well nigh one-fifth of the legal voters. It was passed for the purpose of shutting out the colored vote, but experience has shown that instead of having had that effect, its victims are largely white men. In fact no man can tell when he votes whether his ballot will be counted. It is exceedingly difficult for the aged and infirm, especially, to mark their ballots correctly and on this account many substantial citizens of these classes are practically deprived of the right to vote. Probably more Democrats than Republicans are disfranchised by the iniquitous law, and as the Democratic managers give no assurance that they favor any improvement in the measure, the only hope of relief to those who have doubts about their ability to properly mark their ballots lies in the success of the Republicans. It requires no argument, therefore, to demonstrate to Democrats who want to be fair to the disfranchised voters of their own party, that the only action left them to that end is to vote for the Republican candidates for Governor and the Legislature. These are not only pledged to enact an election law that will be entirely fair to voters of all parties, but are all earnestly in favor of such a measure and certain to redeem the pledge if given power to do so.

COURT RECORDS DO NOT LIE.

"The whiskey seller who comes before the people asking for their suffrages for any office, goes into the race heavily handicapped. The whiskey seller, who goes before the people asking them to elect him as an officer of the law, a conservator of the peace and chief representative of law and order MUST BE A MAN WHO IS ABOVE SUSPICION, who has obeyed the law to the letter."

If he cannot point to his record and say "it is clean," he should not expect the support of either the temperance people or those who are engaged lawfully in a business which HE HAS HELPED MAKE DISREPUTABLE.

(Editorial AMERICAN SENTINEL, Oct. 18, 1907.)

It has been asserted that "Republicans are busy circulating malicious falsehoods about Mr. William H. Gettier, the Democratic candidate for sheriff." There have been many reports in circulation, some true, some exaggerated. For example it is not a fact that there are seven indictments pending against him for the illegal sale of liquor. The fact is that there are no indictments pending, and there has been only one and to that he plead guilty. There have been also stories afloat as to alleged breaches of the peace and assaults and battery. But one case of this character appears on the dockets of the Circuit Court for Carroll County.

(From The Baltimore Methodist, October 17th, 1907.)

The Baltimore Methodist, in an editorial, under the caption "FOR THE EYE OF CARROLL COUNTY," says: "The Baltimore Methodist is not a political journal. Its calling is not specifically to champion the principles or candidates of any party. However it circulates in thousands of homes. At times this paper feels the burden of an imperative duty to suggest. The Republicans of Carroll County have named Mr. J. Belt Townshend, a member of Centenary M. E. Church, Westminster, as their candidate for sheriff. He is an earnest, active, intelligent, Christian gentleman, in every way qualified for the duties of the office named. The Democrats present to the voters of Carroll County for the same office a saloonkeeper. Who in that county of Christian men should be elected? What is the duty of every intelligent respectable voter? To place in office a man who builds up manhood, womanhood, good society, the church, or the one whose sole business is to wreck the dearest interests of home and citizenship and church? A local party, whether Democratic or Republican, whether in Carroll County, Allegany or elsewhere, presenting a saloonkeeper as a candidate for the suffrages of an enlightened people should have its nominee BURIED POLITICALLY A THOUSAND FATHOMS DEEP.

George R. Gaither.

To offset the charge of hossism so clearly proved against Judge Crothers, the Democratic candidate for Governor, to say nothing of other allegations against him, the press of that party is calling Mr. George R. Gaither, the Republican candidate, all sorts of names, but giving no facts to justify such action, except in one particular—that is that he was once a Democrat. That he grew to manhood under Democratic influence and training is a well known fact, and that this training attached him to the Democratic party in his early manhood was perfectly natural. But when his judgment ripened and he began to contrast the principles and policies of the two parties he came to the just conclusion that the success of the Republicans meant the prosperity of all classes of the people. Mr. Gaither is about as far removed from demagogism as a man can be, but he is devoted to humanity and, seeing in the course of the Republican party the best means of advancing the interests of the people, he has given his best efforts to promote its success.

He came to the party when its fortunes in State and county were at low tide and apparently without the possibility of political preferment. To do this necessitated the severing of ties that must have cost him much mental sorrow; but to him it was the path of duty and he did not hesitate to take it. He should be honored by all men for this exhibition of moral courage and devotion to principle, pursued at great apparent self-sacrifice.

Mr. Gaither's public services have been such as to entitle him to the unlimited confidence of the people, and he will undoubtedly receive the votes of many members of the opposition party who know his sterling worth, his great ability and uncompromising integrity.

The Light Of The Square.

A story is told of Michael Angelo, that, at the solicitation of a young sculptor, he visited his studio to pass judgment upon a statue, which the young man was carving for the public square of a great city. After examining it carefully, the master artist pointed out its defects, but the young man would not heed his criticisms. No argument convinced him and finally the sculptor desisted from his efforts to persuade and exclaimed: "The light of the square will test it."

All things are tested by the light of the square. Especially is this true of men who seek political offices or preferment. The light of a political campaign is a search light, testing moral and intellectual qualifications and fitness for office. The press of the opposing party, standing for the whole ticket nominated by the party which it represents, is expected to turn the light on his political and public record, and this, in loyalty to its own party and ticket, it must do.

Only the most unusual circumstances could justify its touching his private record. But even this stands clearly in the light. The New York Press truly says: "Politics saves the reputation of men by their not going into it." If a man's private life is not clean, if he is a wife beater, a "boozer," a "grafter," is suspected of dishonesty, or a licentious man, from some direction the light will fall, revealing his unfitness. The man who fails of election because his public or private record does not bear the test of "the light of the square" has no one to blame but himself.

Why Was He Ignored?

It is a well known fact that it was expected by the friends of Guy W. Steele, Esq., State's Attorney, that he would be renominated for that office. If, in harmony with the Democratic theory of rotation in office, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Brilhart, or Mr. Clemson, who were aspirants for the honor, had received the nomination, neither Mr. Steele nor his friends would have cause for complaint. But Mr. Steele was not renominated nor was either of the young Democratic lawyers, who have never filled the office, chosen. On the contrary all were passed by and the honor conferred upon Mr. Reifsnider, who was the State's Attorney of the county from 1895 to 1899. It is alleged that at the time of Mr. Reifsnider's nomination in 1895 and at his suggestion, it was agreed that he should fill the office for a single term, and then give some other lawyer a chance, and that in future the theory of rotation should be put into practice. In line with this understanding, E. O. Weant received the nomination in 1899 and Guy W. Steele in 1903.

Now the question will not down: "If one, who had already filled the office, was to be taken, why was Mr. Steele ignored?" Was it because of his official record? His party admits that his record entitled him to renomination. The party's organ, on October 4th, 1907, says: "State's Attorney Steele is at work for the Democratic ticket with enthusiastic vigor and doing some very effective campaigning among his friends. Mr. Steele's record as prosecuting officer for the county during the past four years should be a source of pride to himself and to the party which is responsible for his election, as he is commended on all sides for his ability and efficiency as an officer. The conduct of such men and their record of faithfulness to public trusts is one of the reasons why Carroll county is the best and most economically governed county in Maryland. The record of men like Mr. Steele is one of the best assets a party can have when it presents its claim for continuance in office."

The Democratic party now "presents its claim for continuance in office" yet ignores "one of its best assets." For a record, which is a "source of pride to himself and to his party," that party repays him with empty phrases and high sounding words. He asks for bread and they give him a stone.

Was he ignored because of his political record? That could not possibly be the cause, for that record of loyalty to the party, of which boast is now made, is certainly clearer than that of the gentleman who received the nomination, who in 1901 openly championed the cause of the Hon. Chas. T. Reifsnider as the Republican candidate for the Judgeship of the Fifth Judicial Circuit, and worked against his party's candidate, the Hon. William H. Thomas; who in 1903 did not hesitate to seek the defeat of Hon. Johnzie E. Beasman, as his party's candidate for the State Senate, and openly avow as his reason that he was cutting Mr. Beasman because of the company he kept, supposedly meaning the Democratic leaders, who now reward his fidelity by another nomination as State's Attorney; and who is alleged to have sought the defeat in 1901 of Daniel J. Hesson, the Democratic candidate for county commissioner.

Some of the Democratic friends of Mr. Steele have requested the publication of his official record and that of the gentleman for whom he was turned down by the Democratic convention.

(5) That for all past offenses of whatever nature against the bribery laws of the State of Maryland there shall be no prosecutions; and that the assent of the present State's Attorney of Carroll County and of the respective candidates of the Democratic and Republican parties for that office be obtained to this article of agreement;

(6) That immunity be given to any party violating the law against bribery in the election to be held in Carroll County in November, 1907, who shall furnish evidence resulting in the arrest and conviction of any person violating the law against bribery at the election to be held in Carroll County in November, 1907.

Signed and executed in duplicate this ____ day of October, 1907.

Also the following to be signed by the State's Attorney and the candidates for the office on both tickets.

"In behalf of public morality and as an effective means of putting an end to bribery at elections, the undersigned hereby sanction the provisions in paragraphs numbered (5) and (6) of the aforegoing agreement, and promise to carry them into full effect so far as it lies in the power of the State's Attorney to enforce the same."

MARRIED

At the parsonage of St. Peter's P. E. Church, Ellicott City, Md., October 24th, 1907, by Rev. R. Andreas Poole, Mr. G. Wright Frizell, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Mary C. Vanderford, of Westminster, Md.

DIED.

In this city, October 20th, 1907, Josiah Q. Stitely, aged about 78 years.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear parents, Sarah E. Baile, who died one year ago, October 27th, 1906, and Fletcher A. Baile, who was accidentally killed, September 8th, 1907.

One mournful year has vanished
Think we, while the teardrops start,
But the memory of our dear mother,
Still is fresh within our hearts.
Her busy hands are folded now,
Her work on earth is done;
God grant we may rest as calmly
When our work, like mother's is done.

Oh, the memory of that morning,
As we stood with breaking hearts,
Seeing the father we loved so dearly
Pierced by death's most evil dart,
A bitter cup, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
By the children.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son, Joseph E. Haines, who died one year ago, October 18th, 1906.

Oh, Joe, could you speak to me,
And could you live again,
Your mother's heart would then be healed
But this we wish in vain.

Gone in the best of his days,
Blighted in manhood's bloom,
Torn from the hearts that loved him,
To sleep in the silent tomb.
By his Mother.

Dear uncle you are gone but not forgotten,
Nor will you ever be;
For as long as life and memory last
I will remember thee.

He seemed so good, so pure, so true,
To our admiring eyes
We never thought his glorious fruit
Was ripening for the skies.

And when at last the death stroke came,
So swift, so sure, so true,
The hearts that held him here so fast
Were almost broken too.

Dear uncle, how can we give you up?
You whom I loved dearly well;
How can we drink this bitter cup
That says the word farewell?
By his Nephew, Ernie Haines.

It is our business to please you and merit your patronage. We take great pleasure in announcing that we have secured the agency for

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS
The BEST in Patterns

This follows our usual business policy of carrying the BEST in everything, as these patterns are sold by only the best stores in the United States, such as John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia and New York, Marshall Field & Co., of Chicago, and all the largest stores in every city of the United States. These patterns possess many special features of merit. They represent the progressive idea in pattern making, being scientifically drafted by modern methods.

The Guide Chart, specially arranged for each pattern, wonderfully simplifies cutting and fitting. It shows how best to lay a pattern on material without uncertainty, avoiding any possible mistake.

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns are more stylish, better fitting and easier used than any others. They are economical, too, and do not waste material.

To see these designs on their first appearance you must have The Ladies' Home Journal by whom they are brought out.

We need not send you away from our store to buy THE JOURNAL as we have it at our own counter. We shall be glad to supply you by the month at 15c per copy or forward your subscription to the publishers at $1.50 per year.

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns cost but 10c and 15c. Monthly Style Book Free. See Window Display TODAY.
