Saved A Whole Town.

"Thou shalt call his name JESUS, for he shall save." When the parents of Jesus Garcia had him baptized in this great name, little did they dream that it would bear the same significance in his life as in that of him for whom he was named. Called by a worthy name, he bore that name worthily. Jesus Garcia, the Mexican, was a locomotive engineer on the Narrow Guage railroad of the Pilares mine. Last week, he was running a powder train over the road. In the train were two cars heavily loaded with explosives. Some of the cars caught fire just as the train approached the town of Nacezari, Arizona. Jesus Garcia realized that the town would be destroyed if the powder exploded within it limits. Calling to the members of the crew to jump for their lives he pulled wide the throttle and and ran the train through and away from the town at top speed. Just as the flaming cars passed a section house occupied by ten or twelve Mexican section hands, the powder exploded and Garcia and the workmen were killed, but the inhabitants of the town and their homes were saved.

A Church a Polling Place.

The Washington Post, in a special from Beaver Falls, Pa., after the election, says: "For the first time in Pennsylvania a large church was used for a polling place at the invitation of the pastor," and tells the story of how it came about. Rev. C. F. Swift, of the Methodist Protestant Church, in a recent sermon had urged the church members to take an active part in the election, and expressed the hope that he would see the day when churches would be turned into polling places. He was taken at his word and his church so used.

Such use of the church building does seem a little strange in these days, but the statement that this is the first time a church was so used is incorrect. There was a time in the history of the nation when the church building was the voting place, and the old meeting house was not less sacred on the Lord's Day because men voted in it on Monday—their voting was rather the more sacred. The congregation that assembled was not the less reverent because the people had stood at the ballot box in the presence of the altar. Their politics, no less than their religion represented the highest aspirations of the people. Though they had never heard the words now so well known "Let all the ends thou aim'st at be thy country's, thy God's and truth's," this was the principle controlling their lives.

To turn the churches of today into polling places, in harmony with the suggestion of Mr. Swift, is not needed, but there is need to return to the spirit of the men of the past, who believed that in exercising the right of suffrage they were fulfilling a solemn duty, to be discharged reverently and in the fear of God. That there are those who think it strange to speak of religion and politics proves that more religion is needed in politics, for what is religion but fidelity to every obligation to the Supreme Ruler of nations, loyalty to morality, truth, uprightness, righteousness?

DEATH OF HON. LOUIS E. McCOMAS.

Judge Louis E. McComas, who four times represented the Sixth District of Maryland in Congress, was for six years a United States Senator from Maryland, for several years sat upon the bench of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia as an associate judge, and since his retirement from the Senate has been a judge of the Court of Appeals of the District, died very suddenly at his home in Washington about 8 o'clock, Sunday morning.

Judge McComas had been in ill health for several months. He suffered an attack of pneumonia last spring, and again on his wedding trip, in the summer, became very ill with the disease. After arriving in London he partially recovered, but subsequently suffered a relapse while traveling on the continent. His temperate life, however, was in his favor and he came back with his bride, a month or more ago, much recuperated and apparently with returning health. One of the other three judges of the Court of Appeals was ill and absent and Judge McComas, against the advice of his physicians and the urgent protests of his friends, insisted on taking up his judicial duties. He probably overtaxed his strength and his heart, weakened by the strain and probably previously affected, failed suddenly to perform its functions and death speedily followed. He was up at 6 o'clock, Sunday morning, but lay down again and died about two hours later.

Judge McComas was born in Washington county, October 28, 1846. He was educated at Dickneson College from which he was a graduated in 1866. He studied law with Judge Alvey in Hagerstown and in 1868 was admitted to the bar of Washington county, where he soon acquired a handsome practice. In 1876 he married Miss Leah Humrichouse, daughter of the late Charles W. Humrichouse, of Williamsport, who died in Washington in 1903, leaving one daughter, Mrs. C. Goodloe Edgar, of Detroit, Mich. On the 14th of July last he was married again, his bride having been Mrs. Hebe Harrison Muir, widow of the late Judge Upton Muir, of Louisville, Ky.

Judge McComas was a man of solid ability and superior attainments, and strong intellectually. He was not of the showy, dashing style, but painstaking, thorough and substantial, trustworthy and reliable, impressing his personality strongly upon those with whom he was associated in public and private life. He was a very handsome man and in earily manhood had a cleancut, refined face which marked him as a cultured gentleman. Though his features were rounded out with increasing years they never lost this look of refinement nor did he ever lose the gracious, kindly and genial manner which was his by nature. He filled all the public stations to which he was called with such fidelity and ability as not only honored himself, but the State of which he was a worthy representative. His death, when the power of his mind was fully developed and he was fitted to render his best public service, is universally deplored and the grief caused by the sad event sharp and sincere.

Judge McComas' remains were taken to Hagerstown, where funeral services were held on Tuesday. Interment was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

GEN. W. E. W. ROSS DEAD.

After an illness of several months duration, following a general breaking down of his system, Gen. W. E. W. Ross died at his home in Baltimore, Tuesday, November 12th.

General Ross was born in Baltimore, February 26th, 1838. His ancestors for many generations were soldiers, and even as a boy, he was imbued with the spirit of his sires. As a lad, he was sergeant of the High School Cadets In 1858, he became a member of the Baltimore City Guard and was its drill Sergeant at the beginning of the Civil War. He was then assigned to drill the Maryland Guard and later drilled two regiments of men at the post office, many of whom became officers of Maryland regiments. After the riot of April 19, 1861, the military regiments were disbanded and General Ross reorganized the Baltimore City Guard, being elected major. In June, 1863, he recruited the battalion to a regiment and entered active service as its lieutenant-colonel. When the regiment was mustered out in 1864, he reentered the service as lieutenant-colonel of the Thirty-first United States Colored Troops. His regiment led the charge at the Crater, before Petersburg. In the charge he received a minnie ball in the knee, the wound necessitating amputation of his leg. For gallantry in battle he was breveted brigadier general on the field, a title subsequently confirmed by the war department.

Prominent in Grand Army circles, he has filled nearly every office in the gift of the Maryland Department, and has also served as vice-president of the national organization. He was the organizer of the Sons of Veterans and their first chief officer. General Ross has filled many political offices, municipal, state and national. He was buried with military honors on Thursday afternoon, the Grand Army Veterans having charge of the funeral.

STILL FOR CHURCH UNION.

At the recent meeting of the General Council of the Congregational Church, at Cleveland, Ohio, a committee of 28 was appointed to consider the proposed union of the Congregational, Methodist Protestant and United Brethren denominations. The committee held eight open sessions at which 91 addresses were made by members of the council and the consensus of opinion favored the union upon a modification of the basis adopted by the Joint General Council of the United Churches at Chicago in March last. Many Congregational Churches have voted in favor of that basis, but others have voted adversely. The committee appointed a subcommittee, consisting of Rev. Drs. Washington Gladden, William Douglas MacKenzie and William Hayes Ward, to present the action and proposition of the Cleveland Council to the other Churches and the plan proposed is being published in the papers of those denominations. A meeting of the General Council of the United Churches to consider the matter is requested.

APPENDICITIS

is due in a large measure to abuse of the bowels, by employing drastic purgatives. To avoid all danger, use only Dr. King's New Life Pills, the safe, gentle cleansers and invigorators. Guaranteed to cure headache, billousness, malaria and jaundice, at all drug stores. 25c.

A HARD DEBT TO PAY.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

HE FOUGHT AT GETTYSBURG.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alterative and body builder; sure cure for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c.

A SIGNIFICANT PRAYER.

"May the Lord help you make Bucklen's Arnica Salve known to all," writes J. G. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. It quickly took the pain out of a felon for me and cured it in a wonderfully short time." Best on earth for sores, burns and wounds. 25c at all drug stores.

The Companion as a Christmas Gift.

Nobody is too young, nobody too old, to enjoy reading The Youth's Companion. For that reason it makes one of the most appropriate of Christmas gifts—one of the few whose actual worth far outweighs the cost. Welcome as the paper may be to the casual reader on the train, at the office, in the public library, it is after all, the paper of the home. The regularity and frequency of its visits, the cordial sincerity of its tone, make for it soon the place of a familiar friend in the house. Like a good friend, too, it stands always for those traits and qualities which are typified in the ideal home, and are the sources of a nation's health and true prosperity. Is there another Christmas present costing so little that equals it?

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of The Companion for 1907 and the Four-Leaf Hanging Calendar for 1908 in full color.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1908 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

MARRIED

At the rectory of St. John's Catholic Church, this city, Nov. 9th, 1907, by Rev Jos. H. Cassidy, Mr. Wm. Albert Eckenrode, of this city, and Miss Eva May, daughter of John E. Masenhimer, of Manchester.

DIED.

In this city, Nov. 9th, 1907, Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Louis P. and Emily Manning, aged 26 years, 7 months and 24 days.

At Sykesville, Nov. 11th, 1907, Frank A., son of Columbus Parker, aged 37 years.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of Nathan H. Franklin, who died Nov. 8th, 1907, aged 67 years, 10 months and 9 days.

Oh the misery of that dreadful evening,
When we stood around his bed,
Till death stole upon him softly
And we knew his soul had fled.

By his wife, Ecenith E. Franklin.

Rest on, dear father, thy labors are o'er,
Thy willing hands will toil no more;
A faithful father, both true and kind,
A truer father you could never find.

By his daughter, Bessye.
