MARYLAND NEWS.

After an idleness of several weeks two of the mills of the Consolidated Duck Company, at Woodberry, are again working on full time.

Mr. Smith, of Baltimore, introduced a bill in the House of Delegates to increase the salaries of Senators and members from $5 to $10 per diem.

Senator Gorman has introduced a bill in the Maryland Senate to grant an annual pension of $600 to Mrs. Randall, the widow of the author of "Maryland, My Maryland," who recently died in Augusta, Georgia.

Messrs. William Lanahan and Thomas J. Wilson have taken out letters of administration at Towson on the estate of Mr. Samuel J. Lanahan, a former resident of Roland Park and member of the wholsesale liquor firm of William Lanahan & Son, who recently died intestate. They gave bond for $4,000,000.

Cardinal Gibbons was on Sunday the central figure in the most imposing ceremony that has been witnessed in the historic city of New Orleans in many years, when he participated in the golden jubilee celebration of the apparition of the Blessed Virgin at Lourdes, France, 50 years ago. His return to Baltimore is expected today.

The Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, which began a campaign several months ago to raise $100,000 for the erection of a new library building, has purchased a site on Cathedral street, Baltimore, for that purpose, for $50,000. Their purpose now is to raise $200,000 and to make the new building not only a library, but a public health institute. The present Legislature has been petitioned to appropriate $100,000 for the purpose.

A car spring, supposed to have been dropped from a freight train, lodged in a switch on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, at the bridge at Frederick Junction. The Winchester accomodation train was derailed. The passenger coach turned on its side on the bridge over the Monocacy river. The car fell toward the middle of the bridge and broke the floor planking between the tracks but, was kept from falling into the river by the heavy ties and rails of the eastbound track. Fifteen or twenty passengers were badly shaken up, though none were seriously hurt.

Dr. Washington G. Tuck, postmaster of Annapolis, died last week. Dr. Tuck has always been a Republican leader in his county, and was well known in the counsels of his party in the State. His bondsmen have appointed Mr. Arthur B. Carter to the vacancy, to serve until the office is filled by the President. Messrs. Harry T. Levely, Frank Monroe, Arthur B. Carter, Collector of Customs; Lawrence Balliere, ex-mayor Samuel Jones and Charles H. Russell of J., a former member of the House of Delegates, all prominent citizens of Annapolis, are said to be the chief aspirants for the position.

Five nurses in the Washington County Hospital, at Hagerstown, who were dismissed by Miss Matthews, superintendent, for "disloyalty," have issued a public statement setting forth their side of the trouble. They allege that there were only four patients in the hospital and that they felt the need of more material if they were to secure the training which they were seeking; that in personal interviews they found that the physicians were indifferent; that they thereupon addressed a communication to the superintendent, requesting her to bring the matter to the attention of the board of managers. For this act of "disloyalty" they were dismissed.

Several weeks ago the house of a prominent Italian citizen, Mr. Di Georgio, was dynamited at Walbrook. The crime was the work of an Italian organization known as the Black Hand. A number of arrests have been made. Last week "Chavelier" Cemelia La Rosa was riddled with shot, in New York, and in the Hospital he was identified by Detective Atkinson as the man for whom the Baltimore Police have been looking. He died from his wounds on Saturday. Detective Pumphrey says that La Rosa was the head of the Black Hand organization in the Middle Atlantic States. Frank La Rosa, cousin and intimate friend of the murdered man is in the Baltimore city jail, charged with being one of the conspirators who dynamited Mr. Di Giorgio's house.

Professional Ethics.

'You'll have to send for another doctor,' said the one who had been called, after a glance at the patient.

'Am I so sick as that?' gasped the sufferer.

'I don't know just how sick you are,' replied the man of medicine; 'but I know you're the lawyer who cross-examined me when I appeared as an expert witness. My conscience won't let me kill you, and I'll be hanged if I want to cure you. Good-day.'—Philadelphia Ledger.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, last week, placed orders for 55,000 tons of steel rails. The contract price has not been announced.

The lower house of the Mississippi Legislature has passed a bill providing that all saloons in that State shall be abolished on December 31st of this year.

The cold weather of the earlier part of the week reached the South on Monday. Spartanburg, S. C., had seven inches of snow, the heaviest snowfall of many years.

Automobilists in Paris who attempt to escape after causing accidents will hereafter be punished by a fine of from 16 to 200 francs and imprisonment from six days to two months.

The State Corporation Commission of Oklahoma has issued an order that exempts any person, who can not find a seat in a railway coach, from paying fare or surrendering a ticket.

Ray county, Missouri, voted in favor of local option, on Friday last, by a majority of 1975 votes out of a total of 2,950. Sixty-seven of the 114 counties in Missouri are now "dry."

Advocates of the suffrage for women are planning for a monster parade, to take place in New York, next Sunday. It is expected that a large number of women will be in line.

On Tuesday afternoon, as the cruiser St. Louis was about to leave Mare Island, Cal., to start on her voyage to join the fleet at Magdalena Bay, a boiler tube exploded, injuring four men.

A bob sled, carrying 18 young men and running at a speed of 40 miles an hour, at Sharon, Pa., collided with a sleigh. Luther Miller was killed, Alfred Davis had his leg broken and three others were seriously injured.

Frank H. Hitchcock, First Assistant Postmaster General, has resigned, to take effect February 15th, in order that he may assist Secretary Taft in his campaign for the Presidential nomination of the Republican party.

Attorney General and Mrs. Bonaparte gave a dinner on Tuesday night to the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States in complement to Chief Justice Fuller, the venerable head of that august body, on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday.

The Court of Appeals of New York has decided that railroads must observe the injunction 'this side up with care' when marked on packages received for shipment. The decision was rendered in a suit to recover $350 for the damage of electrical batteries because the Pennsylvania Railroad Company paid no attention to the printed warning contained on the box.

Judge James Hargis, who was for a long time Judge of the court of Breathitt county, Ky., the head of organization of feudists, who are nothing but a band of murderers; the richest man in his locality, and political boss of his section, at whose door twenty murders have been laid, but who has been above the law, was shot to death by his own son, last week.

Senator Burnham, of New Hampshire, introduced, on Monday, in Congress, a bill providing for a parcels post rural delivery for merchandise, said to have the approval of the President and Postmaster General. The bill provides that only such parcels shall be accepted as shall be received from bona fide merchants or dealers, whose regular places of business are on rural routes, or from actual residents on such routes.

Miss Alice Baxter, president of the Georgia Division of the Daughters of the Confederacy has given out a statement that no inscription has as yet been adopted for the monument to Wirz, to be erected in Savannah. She declares that the published inscription which called forth such a storm of protest from Corporal Tanner and the whole Grany Army of the Republic, had not even been submitted to the executive board.

Preparations are under way for the celebration of the fourth centennial of the birth of John Calvin, at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1909. An international monument is proposed to commemorate his work as a reformer, and English, German, Scotch, Dutch, French and American committees already have been formed. The American committee includes Charles Francis Adams, of Boston; Prof. Edwin Alderman, president of the University of Virginia; Adams Brown, of New York; Cyrus McCormick, of Chicago; Oscar Strauss, Dewitt Tucker and Andrew D. White.

Seven months ago, the bandit Raisuli captured the British Caid, Sir Harry MacLean, and has held him in captivity for ransom. The British Government accepted his terms last week. Raisuli appeared before Tangier with his captive attended by 500 soldiers. He demanded permission to enter the city with his men but was flatly refused by the Morocan Foreign Minister. The British Minister persuaded him to come in accompanied by three attendants. MacLean was released and in payment the British Government released all Raisuli's followers who were in prison, paid him $100,000 and allowed him to depart undisturbed, with a pardon for past offences.

STRANGE HAPPENINGS.

The body of a man, who froze to death while waiting for a trolley car, was found near the tracks at the Mountain Park Station, Mass., on Monday. The tracks in the snow indicated that he had walked in a circle to keep warm, until overcome by the cold.

The Oklahoma Legislature is enacting some strange laws. A sweeping measure was passed by the House of Delegates on Monday, regulating hotels. The bill provides that every hotel must use nine-foot sheets, and shall use 'no cup, dish, vessel or receptacle for food that has cracks visible to the naked eye.'

A full grown deer wandered into the streets of Providence, R. I., and caused great excitement. A crowd soon gathered and made an effort to capture the animal. It was finally brought to bay in the lobby of the Westminster theatre and captured uninjured. It will become one of the attractions in the Zoo at Roger Williams Park.

Benjamin Glass, at Burlington, N. J., boasted that he could drink 30 schooners of beer, and walk home straight. He emptied the stems all right and started out to paint the town red. He awoke in a cell next morning and the police justice sentenced him to the county jail for one day for each glass that contributed to his spree.

The largest negro woman in the world, Emma Dillard, of Fort Worth, Texas, dropped dead at her home, on Sunday. The woman was 37½ years old and weighed 650 pounds. Because of her size she had been unable to walk further than across her room. The exertion of even this light exercise overtaxed her heart and she dropped over dead. Her coffin measured seven feet wide and three feet deep.

Solomon Schmuck, of Cross Roads, York county, Pa., entertained his own funeral party, last Friday. Relatives from Red Lion and other places came to attend his funeral, only to be greeted by the supposed dead man. The mistake was due to a confusion of names in the sending out of a funeral notice. Benjamin Schmuck, a brother of Solomon, had died at Wrightsville, and a mistake had been made in transmitting the message.

Mr. Daniel Scally, president of Frostburg Maryland Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, met his death one night last week in a most remarkable manner. He was one of the members of a committee engaged in preparing the supper at which the tenth anniversary of the order was to be celebrated. For that purpose he carried with him a large carving knife. After the supper, he put the knife in his pocket and started for his home, in company with several friends. On the street he slipped on the ice and fell heavily. He rose immediately and started to walk forward, when he discovered that he was seriously hurt. Taken back to the Eagles' quarters, the physicians who examined him found that the knife had entered his side, making a wound seven inches deep. He died in about an hour after the accident.

One night last week Albert Rossing, of West Division street, Chicago, left home to attend a church meeting. He returned two hours later and found his wife, bound hand and foot, tied to the legs of a sewing machine. The contents of the drawers of a bureau were scattered all over the floor. The woman seemed to be unconscious and her husband summoned a physician. After she had been revived, she said that two robbers had entered the house and bound her. The police were notified and three detectives came to investigate. The woman repeated the story she had told her husband but her too graphic description aroused their suspicions. After a little questioning she broke down and confessed that she had done it all herself to win her husbands' sympathy and induce him to stay in at night instead of going to church meetings. The Rossings were married only a few months ago.

To Cough Properly.

Few people know how to cough properly. It never occurs to the ordinary individual that there is a right way and a wrong way of doing it. Yet it is a matter of no small importance.

If every sigh means a drop of blood out of the heart, as people say, every cough means some greater or less proportion of time knocked off one's life.

Most people cough as loudly and forcibly as they can. But it is rather costly noise, for the single reason that it tears and inflames the lungs. The lungs consist of an extraordinarily delicate sponge-like tissue, which sometimes gets inflamed and choked with phlegm. When we try to get rid of this substance we cough. But obviously, if we remove it violently, we must necessarily injure the delicate lung tissue. Therefore, train yourself to cough as gently as possible.—Health.

SALE BILLS printed at this office cheap and in an attractive manner.

Big Bill Taft at Yale.

Taft was already a big fellow when, in the fall of 1874, he landed at New Haven. His 225 pounds of avoirdupois looked big to the sophomores, says the Circle. At the end of the first freshman scrap every one knew he was big.

During all his college days he never lost this reputation. In the fall games of his senior year he pulled on the tug of war team. Those who saw this event say that Taft started off and 'the rest came tagging after.'

But Taft was also big in other things. Here is a list of his college honors, furnished by Anson Phelps Stokes, the secretary of Yale:

Delta Kappa Phi Theta Psi, the Boule, Psi Upsilon, Linonia, Skull and Bones and Phi Beta Kappa, president of our class boat club in freshman year, member of the Delta Kappa campaign committee; member of the freshman class supper committee. He and Foster were equal in winning second place in the freshman scholarship. Divided the first mathematical prize with John I. McDonald. Won two first sophomore composition prizes. First vice-president of the Boule.

In the fall games, senior year, Taft pulled on the victorious tug of war team. Awarded the philosophical oration at junior exhibition and at commencement, and was a speaker on both occasions being the salutatorian of the class. He was class orator. Stood second in his class of 121.

Oldest Emblem Is Swastika.

Swastika, which is being used by women for the ornamentation of belts, is said by scientific authorities to be the oldest symbol in the world.

Long before the Christian cross was used it was known to the Druids of England, who called it flyfot, as well as to the Asiatics and even the prehistoric races of this continent.

Swastika, the name now in use, is a Sanskrit word, but the character to which it was applied was exactly the same as the Druids and other ancients knew.

The symbol is found on rocks in India, was found by the first white explorers on the walls of canyons in New Mexico and Arizona, was used by the Basques of the Pyrenees, even in the ruins of what is believed to have been Ancient Troy—the hill of Hissarlik in Asia Minor—it has been brought to light.

At the present day it passes as a token of good luck among the Chinese, Japs, Koreans and other people where Buddhism has a hold. In fact the Buddhists say that wherever the swastika is found there the teachings of Buddha once were paramount.

Prof. Max Muller says that it is a symbol of the solar motion in the form of a wheel, being an abbreviated form of the solar wheel with spokes in it, the tire and the motion being shown by the turns of the ends of the arms.

In The Name Of Charity.

Nearly all the giddy youth of the neighborhood attended the charity bazaar, and one by one they drifted to a stall where a tiny, shapely, scented gray kid glove reposed on a satin cushion, says the Popular Magazine. Attached to the cushion was a notice written in a delicate feminine hand, which ran:

'The owner of this glove will, at 7.30 this evening, be pleased to kiss any person who purchases a twenty-five cent ticket beforehand.'

Tickets were purchased by the score, and at 7.30 a long row of sheepish, not to say doggish young bloods, assembled outside the stall.

Then, punctual to the moment, old Tom Porson, the local pork-butcher, who weighs two hundred and twenty pounds, and is almost as beautiful as a side of bacon, stepped to the front of the stall.

'Now, young gents,' he said, in his best Buy, buy, buy, tones, 'this 'ere glove belongs to me. I bought it this morning. Now I'm ready for you. Comejon! Don't be bashful! One at a time!'

But nobody came on.

A Buffalo physician tells of two young friends in that city who entered simultaneously upon their respective careers of physician and lawyer. Late one afternoon the newly made medico dashed into the room of his legal friend, exclaiming:

'Great luck, old man! Congratulate me! Got a patient at last! On my way to see him now.'

Whereupon the legal light-to-be slapped his friend on the back saying:

'Delighted, old chap!' Then after a pause he added with a sly grin: Say, let me go with you. Perhaps he hasn't made his will.—Independent.
