Betrayed In The House Of Their Friends.

Whatever may be said of the need of legislation in the South to insure the preservation of the "white man's rule," the comparative number of white and colored voters in Maryland shows clearly that there is no possibility of "negro domination" in this State. Yet notwithstanding this fact a more drastic suffrage amendment is proposed than has been adopted in any other Southern Commonwealth, with the openly avowed purpose of disfranchising negroes. The Democrats of the South will find that they have been betrayed in the house of their friends if the proposed amendment shall be adopted, and all that they have gained in limitation of the right of suffrage will be jeopardized. In no case that has come before the Supreme Court of the United States has the question of constitutionality vel non of the constitutional provision or legislative enactment on this subject been squarely met and decided. The decision of every such case on some technical ground has been invariably possible and proper. But the proposed Maryland amendment is so drastic that when it shall be presented to the Supreme Court, the issue must be squarely met, and the declaration of the unconstitutionality of the Maryland amendment will establish the precedent by which the laws of other Southern States must fall.

The Disfranchising Amendment.

Elsewhere in the SENTINEL will be found the full text of the disfranchising amendment which the legislature has adopted for submission to the voters of the State at the general election in 1909. Comments at any length upon its provisions, at this time, are unnecessary and, for the present, the subject will be dismissed from discussion in a few sentences.

In the first place, it will be seen that the gist of the amendment lies in its grandfather's clause, a provision similar in substance to that of the Southern States which have adopted this method of disfranchising colored voters. In one respect, however, it differs essentially from the Southern constitutions—it is without limitation. The South seems to have had in view the ultimate enfranchisement of the colored people shut out by the provision in question, as it has fixed dates when this grandfather's clause shall cease to be operative. The Democrats of Maryland have made it as enduring as the amendment, which, if adopted, will become part of the organic law of the State and might thus become perpetual.

In the second place, there has been no effort to conceal the fact that the clause is designed solely to exclude colored men from the right of suffrage, a respect in which, in the judgment of many able constitutional lawyers it is in contravention of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and will be so declared by the Supreme Court if it shall ever come before that tribunal. This, if adopted, it will be sure to do.

And lastly, there is reason to suspect that its framers, and the legislature which has passed the act to submit it to the voters of the State, are not deeply anxious to have it either adopted, or, if adopted, to have it stand the test of a Supreme Court decision in its favor. The ground for this suspicion is, that if the question shall be once definitely settled and the colored voters constitutionally excluded, agitation of the question will cease and the Democrats will be deprived of one of the most potent means they have used during all the years of their misgovernment—appeals to race prejudice.

Anti-Local Option in Baltimore.

Opposition to the passage of a local option bill for the city of Baltimore has developed in city business circles. In reply to certain interrogatories of Mr. Wm. H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, the officers and directors of the Baltimore Property Owners' Protective Association have given expression, by a paid advertisement in the daily newspapers of the city, to the most pronounced hostility to such a measure, chiefly because, in their judgment, it would be seriously detrimental to business interests. This is not the only reason assigned for the association's attitude on the subject, but is the most prominent one.

The association, it is claimed, has a membership of 20,000, among whom are many church people, and the officers and directors assume to speak for them all. Whether this be an accurate representation of the entire body remains to be seen. The directors, however, are prominent and influential business men and their names carry weight. It is a matter of regret that they have deemed it necessary for the protection of Baltimore business and property interests to take this open and pronounced stand in favor of the liquor traffic. It is not our purpose, however, to discuss their arguments, generally, on the subject, but to call attention alone to one phase of their course of reasoning.

Addressing themselves to Mr. Anderson they say: "Under local option you ask these representatives (members of the Legislature) to delegate this question back to the people. If this be the 'fundamental principle of American government,' as you call it, why does not the Legislature delegate every question back for local vote? And if so, then why have a Legislature at all? Why do they not let each ward determine whether it wants a new corporation law, or a public utilities bill, or 80-cent gas?"

This is specious reasoning, but it is, after all, fallacious. In the first place, the people have a perfect right to petition the Legislature to submit any particular question to them for decision, just as thousands have done in reference to local option. In the second place there are material and essential differences between local option and most other questions in which the people are interested. It is, essentially, a moral as well as an economic question. In the third place, the people are divided into political parties and the result of an election is to be taken as directing the course of legislation upon the part of the triumphant party. The passage of a law to submit a disfranchising amendment to the vote of the people is a case in point. The Democratic party was committed to that action in advance. Upon the question of local option, however, the people are not divided by political party lines. Democrats are divided among themselves on the subject, as are the Republicans also, and a Democrat might be called upon to vote against his party candidates to cast his ballot in favor of prohibition, as a Republican might also be under similar circumstances. These reasons are amply sufficient to justify the relegation of the question of license or no license to the votes of the people. The right to petition for such submission is inherent. The justice of granting it, upon proper petition, is palpable, the judgment of the Baltimore Property Owners' Protective Association to the contrary notwithstanding.

Whatever may be the force of the association's reasoning in relation to the question as it affects property interests in Baltimore, it contains nothing to justify the withholding of the right to vote upon the subject from the people of the counties.

THE DISFRANCHISING AMENDMENT.

The Constitutional Amendment formulated by the committee of Democratic lawyers and favorably passed upon by a caucus of the Democratic members of the legislature was rushed through the House last week and was passed by the Senate on Friday, the Republican members of the committee to which it was referred in that body not having been asked to consider it and therefore having been given no opportunity to make an adverse report upon it. It was passed under a suspension of the rules, by a strict party vote. Following is the full text of the measure providing what shall be the qualifications necessary for registration and voting:

First—A person who on January 1, 1869, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote under the laws of this State, or of any other State of the United States wherein he then resided; or,

Second—A male descendant of such last mentioned person; or,

Third—A foreign-born citizen of the United States naturalized between January 1, 1869, and the date of the adoption of this section of this article; or,

Fourth—A male descendant of such last mentioned person; or,

Fifth—A person who, in the presence of the officers of registration shall in his own handwriting with pen and ink without any aid, suggestion or memorandum whatsoever and without any question or direction addressed to him by any of the officers of registration, make application to register, correctly stating in such application his name, age, date and place of birth, residence, occupation at the time and for the two years next preceding, the name or names of his employer or employers, if any, at the time and for the two years next preceding, and whether he has previously voted, and, if so, the State, county or city, and district or precinct in which he voted last, and also the name in full of the President of the United States, of one of the justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, of the Governor of Maryland, of one of the judges of the Court of Appeals of Maryland and of the Mayor of Baltimore city, if the applicant resides in Baltimore city, or of one of the County Commissioners of the county in which the applicant resides, and any person who is unable to comply with the aforegoing requirements, as to making application for registration in his own handwriting, solely because he is physically disabled from so doing;

Sixth—A person, or the husband of a person, who at the time of his application for registration is the bona fide owner of real or personal property in an amount of not less than $500, is assessed therefor on the tax books of the city of Baltimore or of one of the counties of this State, has been such owner and so assessed for two years next preceding his application for registration, shall have paid and shall produce receipts for the taxes on said property for said two years, and shall at the time of his application make affidavit before the officers of registration that he is the bona fide owner of the property so assessed to him and has been such owner for two years next preceding his application.

No person not qualified under some one of the above clauses shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter or be entitled to vote.

Mr. Thomas J. Griffee died at the University of Maryland Hospital, Monday morning, where he was taken about three weeks ago by Dr. J. A. Wright. The primary cause of his death was cancer of the liver. His funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. S. F. Cassen, in the presence of a large concourse of friends. Mr. Griffee was one of the registers of voters in this district, and was looked upon as an honest, upright, good man.

Rev. J. M. Sheridan, president of the M. P. Annual Conference, preached here last Sunday night, at the new Providence Church, to a large and appreciative audience, and left this morning for Baltimore.

A severe accident took place near here yesterday. Mr. Wm. Gibson was thrown from his buggy, his head coming in contact with a sharp stone, cutting a gash ten inches long, rendering him unconscious for a long time. Dr J. A. Wright sewed up the wound, and the patient is doing as well as could be expected.

Wants $25,000 Extra.

A large delegation, headed by State Comptroller Hering, visited Annapolis on Wednesday and asked the Finance Committee of the Senate for an additional appropriation of $25,000 for Western Maryland College. The gentlemen composing the delegation were Dr. Joshua W. Hering, President T. H. Lewis, Rev. F. T. Little, D. D., ex-president of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, Messrs. Daniel, William G. and Joseph Baker, Lynn R. Meekins, S. Simpson, M. Bates Stephens, State Insurance Commissioner B. F. Crouse, and W. S. Powell.

After Dr. Hering had stated the purpose of the delegation, described the work of the college and called attention to the fact that it is located in one of the most populous sections of the State, Dr. Lewis explained the need of an administration and library building for the erection of which $25,000 for two years is asked from the State, this sum not to militate against the yearly appropriation made to the college, in return for free scholarships to students from Baltimore city and the counties.

WESTMINSTER'S BEST STORE

Time Is Up for WINTER CLOTHES

EVERYTHING of a wintry nature must now be hustled out in a hurry. The selling season of garments usually closes about two months before the end of the wearing season which, though rather unfortunate for us, is fortunate for you. The two real winter months are ahead of us, so there's plenty of wear ahead for winter suits and coats.

It is sound business sense for us to cut the prices on men's clothing now, because it will leave our stocks absolutely clean and ready for entirely fresh supplies next season. It is sound business sense for you to buy one of these suits or overcoats at the reduced price, because it will not only serve you through the balance of this season, but be practically new to start next winter.

The Reductions

You will notice are of a rather sensational nature. Those who know us well will best understand why. The policy of The Miller Bros. Company is a policy of determination. There are no half way measures. When we decide to do a thing we direct our efforts to that one thing with a vengeance. Just now our determination is clearance for our reputation of selling the garments for a season within that season must be sustained. As clearance is our object and not profit, we have made reductions that will leave no room for failure of our purpose.
