Realizing his danger he threw himself down and, while his leg was carried over the saw and a piece cut out of the calf as large as a man's hand, the limb was saved from being severed. It was only the presence of mind and prompt action of the young man that prevented such a result. Dr. D. F. W. Md. College Appropriations.

The Baltimore Evening News of Thursday, 26th inst., reports that Gov. Crothers vetoed the bill appropriating $31,000 for certain scholarships in Western Maryland College, in the belief that the College was fully provided for in the general appropriation bill; but that when it was explained to him by Comptroller Hering and Senator Beasman that this was not the case, he withdrew his veto and signed the bill. He however vetoed the bill of Senator Beasman appropriating $2600 to the college for tuition and board of certain students, and the Senate, on Thursday, by unanimous vote, sustained the veto.

The general appropriation bill contains the appropriation of $25,000 a year for two years, asked for by the college, for building purposes.

Sears, Roebuck & Company Lose Out.

The suit by the Vermont Farm Machine Company and the Empire Cream Separator Company, jointly against the Chicago mail-order house of Sears, Roebuck & Co. has been decided against the latter, and a sweeping injunction has been issued by the U. S. Court against all users of the infringement of the patents of the former. The Court decided that the "Improved Economy Separator" sold by the defendant corporation infringed the patents of the Empire Cream Separator Co., of Bloomfield, N. J., its "old style", "new style" and "latest model." The Eastern Dealer, a large trade journal of implement and vehicle manufacturers, published in Philadelphia, calls attention to the fact that the Court's decision involves not only Sears, Roebuck & Co. but also all who use their machines for the purpose of separating cream from milk, in a continued infringement of the patent. It is said that a number of these separators have been sold in this county.

Lieutenant John E. Buffington Worthily Honored.

Every member of Co. C 6th Maryland will be honored in the presentation to Lieutenant John E. Buffington, of Middleburg District, of the gold medal awarded him for distinguished gallantry at the battle of Petersburg, Va., April 2, 1865. It has been known for years that Lieutenant Buffington is entitled to such a distinction under the Act of Congress of March 1865, and that he was promised it at the time of the battle, by his corps commander, Gen. Ricketts. But the war closed, General Ricketts died, and the incident and promise were lost sight of, except as a matter of entry on the records of the company, and in the memory of the few survivors of the battle. Recently Hon. Joseph A. Goulden, Member of Congress from New York, became acquainted with the case, and so prompt and well directed were his efforts, that the medal has been awarded by the War Department by order of President Roosevelt. The medal has been delivered to Mr. Goulden, and invitations have been issued to the survivors of Co. C. to members of other companies of the old Sixth, and to other friends, to attend a public presentation of the medal to Lieutenand Buffington, in the Opera House, at Taneytown, tomorrow, Saturday, March 28th, at 2.30 o'clock, sharp. The presentation address will be delivered by Hon. Joseph A. Goulden, and addresses will also be delivered by Colonel John R. King, United States Pension Agent, of Washington, D. C., and others. A large number of the friends and old comrades of Lieutenant Buffington will be present.

A Stamp-Vending Machine.

An automatic stamp-vending machine, which was originated by Mr. W. Frank Thomas, of this city, is being tested at the postoffice in Baltimore. It is one of five machines recommended by the Postoffice Department to be subjected to test. Three of the five have dropped out of the contest, leaving but two which promise successful and satisfactory results. The other machine is being tested at the postoffice in New York. The Baltimore machine is owned by three persons, of whom Mr. Thomas is one, and who form the International Vending Machine Company. The machine is arranged with three slots for the sale of 1, 2 and 5 cent postage stamps. A penny dropped in one of the slots delivers a 1-cent stamp, 2 pennies in another slot delivers a 2-cent stamp, and a nickel in the remaining slot a 5 cent stamp.

The contest for a satisfactory machine for the purpose indicated and for use in this country was practically international. Forty two machines were submitted to the department, including one or more each from France, England and Germany. Out of forty-two, five were recommended for test, as stated above, one of them being the German machine, which with two others has since dropped out. The Baltimore machine is acknowledged to have advantages in some respects superior to any of those submitted and, we are informed, there is some probability that it will be accepted by the department. It is the only machine that does not require the removal of the stamps from the roll by the purchaser. It severs the stamps purchased automatically. All the purchaser has to do is to drop a proper coin in the slot and receive the stamp in his hand.

To U. S. Pensioners

The following letter, addressed to the editor of the SENTINEL by Gen. John R. King, U. S. Pension Agent at Washington, should be read and its directions heeded by all U. S. pensioners in this county who have been in the habit of dating their communications, transmitting their vouchers to the agent, at places which are not postoffices:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
U. S. PENSION AGENCY,
WASHINGTON, D. C., MARCH 24, 1908.

Editor of the Sentinel:

Dear Sir:—I must again ask your indulgence to call attention through you to the great annoyance I have by U. S. Pensioners in Carroll County giving wrong addresses in their pension vouchers and the consequent return by the Post Office officials marked "No such office." The most numerous and frequent places named are: Silver Run, Gamber, Gist and Louisville. These offices, I am informed by the Assistant Postmaster General, were all discontinued in December, 1899, and why pensioners persist in giving these addresses I cannot understand. It means delay to the pensioners, and double work and worse annoyance to this Agency. Mail for all of these places should be sent to the office at Westminster.

In the future, I will give orders that when vouchers are received in which the address is given as of any of the above named places, no pension checks will be issued until after the entire quarterly payment to the fifty-five thousand pensioners on my rolls shall have been completed, which will mean a delay of twenty or thirty days.

I trust I will not again be compelled to trouble you with this matter.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN R. KING,
U. S. Pension Agent.

Every persons receiving mail by R. F. D. carrier should, in writing to the agent, give the number of such carrier and the name of the postoffice at which his route begins. All difficulty in the transmission of the vouchers and checks would thus be obviated.

William H. Taft Club.

A well attended meeting of Republicans of the Westminster district was held at the AMERICAN SENTINEL office on Tuesday night to perfect the organization of a Republican Club for the district. Mr. H. Peyton Gorsuch, who was the temporary chairman chosen at the preliminary meeting, held March 17th, was elected president; Mr. George W. Babylon, secretary, and Mr. Oliver M. Crouse, treasurer.

When it came to the choice of a name for the club, only one name was suggested, and the strong Taft sentiment of those present was very manifest. The club name is The William H. Taft Republican Club of Westminster District.

Dr. George E. Baughman, Dr. L. K. Woodward, and Messrs. John H. Cunningham, Frank T. Schaeffer and J. Belt Townshend were appointed as an executive committee, who in conference with the president will suggest the names of committees to have supervision of the registration lists of the district, and will report at the meeting to be held next Tuesday night, at 8 o'clock, at the same place. The present enrollment of the club is 100, and that number will probably be largely increased by the time of the next meeting, to which all Republicans are invited.

Judge James Revell.

Hon. James Revell, Associate Judge of the Fifth Judicial Circuit of Maryland, died at his home in Annapolis on Saturday last, of paralysis, in his 78th year. Judge Revell had a long public career and filled several important offices with efficiency and ability and to the entire satisfaction of the people who were brought into contact with him officially or otherwise. He was a native of Annapolis and a lifelong resident of that city. He was educated at St. John's College, from which he was graduated with honor 55 or 56 years ago. He was, for a time, private secretary of Gov. Enoch Louis Lowe and also filled that office throughout the entire term of Gov. T. Watkins Ligon. During that period he studied law and in 1857 was admitted to the bar of Anne Arundel county. The same year he was elected State's Attorney of that county and was repeatedly re-elected to the office mentioned, in which he served for a period of about 17 years, making a splendid record for ability and fidelity. During his incumbency of the office he was engaged in many important cases, the most conspicuous of which was probably the prosecution of Mrs. Wharton, who was charged with the murder of Gen. Ketchum. He was assisted in the case by the Attorney General of the State, but took a very prominent part in the prosecution. He voluntarily retired from the office at last and devoted himself successfully to private practice until his elevation to the bench. After brief service as Associate Judge under appointment by Gov. Brown he was elected for the full term of fifteen years, and when he reached the age limit, during the term, the Legislature unanimously extended his incumbency of the office. While on the bench he frequently sat in the Circuit Court for this county and became widely known, honored and respected by our people.

Judge Revell was an ardent Democrat and a member of the Catholic Church, but was extremely tolerant of the opinions of other men, religiously and politically. The senior editor of the AMERICAN SENTINEL made his acquaintance in 1857, was for several years his near neighbor in Annapolis and was often brought into contact with him in a social way, but they maintained friendly relations even during the period of the Civil War when so many bitter estrangements occurred between persons who had previously been on friendly terms. Judge Revell was, in fact, a large-hearted, broad-minded citizen and eminently worthy of the esteem and respect which were freely accorded him by all who knew him. Many incidents in his life exhibiting these traits of his character might be recited, but to those who are familiar with his life it is unnecessary to do so.

Judge Revell's wife, to whom he was most tenderly attached, died some time ago and he leaves no children. Numerous relatives, however, survive him and six of his nephews were the pallbearers at his funeral, which took place from St. Mary's Catholic Church, Annapolis, on Monday.

While Mr. Geo. Theiret, living 1½ miles southwest of town, was milking in his barn, about 5 o'clock Saturday morning, 21st inst., his lantern, which he had set in the feed entry, exploded, starting a fire which destroyed the building, farm machinery, &c. Mr. Theiret saw at once that it was impossible to save the barn and most of its contents and so turned his attention to rescuing his horses and cattle from the flames, which he succeeded in doing. When the fire was seen from here, numbers of persons hurried to Mr. Theiret's, and, with his neighbors, did much to save the other farm buildings. The property was insured in the Dug Hill Company and as the board of directors met on Saturday afternoon, a check for $636 was drawn in Mr. Theiret's favor. He also has a policy in one of Mr. Chas. Public School Notes.

During this week Professor Simpson has visited the schools in Manchester district. Last week he was in the schools of Middleburg district. In cases where number of pupils in attendance will no longer justify the expense, the assistant teacher has been taken out. The summer term will open on Monday, 30th inst., and there are some small schools in the county in which the number of pupils will fall below the required average. The Board orders the closing of these schools before the end of the summer term; but we are glad to say that most of the schools in Carroll keep up a good average, and will run until the close of the school year.
