The tidings that Rev. H. M. Rider, who has been the pastor of Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church, has been transferred to the Franklin Street Church, Baltimore, has been received with deep regret by a multitude of friends who have become warmly attached to him during his pastorate in this city. Mr. Rider has attracted many hearers by his strong presentation of the truth, and is very popular both as a preacher and as a man. The surprise, disappointment and regret at his removal from the pastorate is only mitigated by the fact that his successor will be the Rev. C. Herbert Richardson, D. D., a former pastor of the Church, who has many admirers and warm friends, especially among the older residents of this city.

Frank Long, of Reisterstown; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers, of Baltimore; Mr. Charles Lee, of Annapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bowers, Master J. Denton Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Long, Mr. Andrew Long, Misses Annie Lee, Marie and Mattie Long.

Winfield Academy.

The students of Winfield are busily preparing for their Easter entertainment. More interest is being taken in this one than any before. They hope to make it the best given this year. The play is a short four act comedy entitled "College Days." It was written for the occasion by the principal.

Much attention is being given to the musical program also. Although it is far from complete it bids fair to be the best given for several years. Many who have helped before have promised to help this time. It is expected that a former leader of the St. John's College Mandolin and Glee Club will render several vocal and saxaphone solos. As he is a skillful musician this one part is looked forward to with much pleasure.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Forrest, of Littlestown, Pa., celebrated their golden wedding on Thursday of last week, at their home in that place. Mr. Forrest is a grandson of the late Jonathan Forrest, near Stone Chapel, this county, who was one of the founders of the Methodist Protestant Church. Mrs. Forrest was a Miss Kitzmiller, of Conewago township, Pa. They were married in the old United Brethren Church, at Littlestown, April 2, 1858. They have eight children—Rev. John Forrest, of Trout Run, Pa.; Granville Forrest, of Jersey City; Emory Forrest, of Lewiston, Pa.; Eddy G. Forrest, of Philadelphia; Dr. Fletcher Forrest, of Bellewood; Judson Forrest, and Miss Emma, at home, and Miss Annie Forrest, a missionary to Japan. The last named is expected home from Japan sometime during the coming summer. An Open Switch and a Collision.

As the train due in this city from Baltimore at 10.04 A. M., was approaching the station on Monday, it was diverted from the main track to the siding of the N. I. Gorsuch & Son Company's mill and warehouse by an open switch. The train was still running at a high rate of speed when the engineer, Mr. Edw. Snyder, who was watching the track intently, discovered that the Gorsuch switch was open and that his train must, of necessity, turn into the siding. He immediately applied the airbrakes and thus in some measure checked the speed of the train before the engine collided with two box cars which were standing on the track. The momentum, however, was sufficient to smash the box cars into kindling wood and derail the engine, which tore up the track on both sides for a considerable distance. The pilot of the engine was demolished and the tender driven into the cab and wrecked. The engine was not badly damaged and about the only damage to the passenger coaches consisted in broken windows. None of the passengers was seriously injured but all were badly shaken up and some of them were severely bruised and sustained slight cuts. A Mr. Woltz, of Dickeyville, had his back badly sprained, the nose of Elder Wm. E. Roop, of Meadow Branch was cut and bruised and a colored man, whose name has not been ascertained, was hurt considerably. All three required the attention of a physician and were treated by Dr. L. K. Woodward. Mr. Frederick Himler, of this city, was returning from Baltimore, and was standing on the steps of a car when the collision occurred. He was hurled to the ground and stunned and bruised, but not badly hurt. The train was delayed upward of an hour and a half by the accident.

It seems a fortunate circumstance that the box cars were on the siding, as the collision of the train with them served to stop its progress. At the head of the siding and fronting on West Main street is a small one-story frame building occupied by the C. and P. Telephone Company as an office. Several persons were in it at the time and if the track of the siding had been unobstructed the train would certainly have crushed through it, probably with a fatal result to its occupants.

Engineer Snyder, who is a brother of Engineer Samuel Snyder who was killed in a collision on the road sometime ago, is to be credited with close attention to his duty. Having by watchfulness discovered the open switch at some distance before reaching it, he was able to check the momentum of the train to an appreciable degree and thus probably avoided a much more serious accident.

He was, we believe, on his way to attend a session of the Baltimore Conference and was about to step from the street to the curb at 14th and P streets, when he was struck by a cab, knocked down and the rear wheels of the vehicle passed over him. His skull was probably fractured and concussion of the brain was another result of the accident. Dr. Chapman was about 79 years old and the injuries and shock sustained proved fatal as stated. He was ordained a minister in Baltimore in 1847 and was in the active ministry 51 years, going on the retired list about ten years ago. He served many charges in Baltimore and elsewhere in the State and is said to have been a great friend of Abraham Lincoln He was a native of Middleburg, Va., and a son of Rev. Wm. H. Chapman of that State. Six children survive him. He is remembered by numbers of the elderly residents of this city, who speak of him in terms of affectionate regard.

David H. Leister.

Mr. David H. Leister, one of the most widely known and highly respected citizens of the county, died on Monday evening last, at 8 o'clock, at his home, "Eden Hill" farm, near Lauver, aged 61 years, 5 months and 10 days. Mr. Leister was familiarly known by those who knew him best as "Hay Dave Leister." This soubriquet was given him by reason of the fact that he was probably the largest landholder in Carroll county, and was noted for the great crops of hay raised on his farms. It is said that he was the owner of about 1000 acres of land in Hampstead and between 500 and 600 acres in Woolery's district. Upright and honorable in all his dealings with his fellowmen, he enjoyed their highest esteem. In politics, he was a staunch and enthusiastic Republican. He was a member of St. John's (Leister's) Lutheran Church, where he was buried on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, his pastor, Rev. R. W. Doty, officiating, assisted by Rev. Mr. Zuse. E Church, Gamber, on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Wm. L. Seabrook, of this city, conducting the service, in the absence of the pastor. The high esteem in which Mr. Brothers was held by the people among whom his long life was passed was indicated by the attendance at his funeral, the large church having been crowded to its utmost capacity. Mr. Brothers was twice married and leaves an aged widow and the following children: Mrs. Thomas Harris, of Baltimore; Mrs. James Gosnell, Mrs. J. Alfred Edmondson, Misses Mary Anne, Jane and Rose Brothers and Messrs. Thomas and George Brothers, all of the southern section of this county. He also leaves two brothers, Messrs. Mr. Green was familiarly known to hundreds of people as "Uncle Bob," but, notwithstanding his more than four score years, was still legally designated Isaac Green, Jr. He has been engaged for many years in farming and milling, on Beaver creek, near Sandyville and was a prominent and influential citizen. He was a man of strong and tenacious convictions and a strenuous and uncompromising Democrat, but genial and pleasant in manner and generally respected and highly esteemed. He was always fond of the music of the hounds and one of the greatest diversions of his old age was to roam over and rest on the hills about his home, in the autumn, and listen to a pack in full cry after some of the many foxes having dens in the neighborhood. In this respect he was like his elder and only surviving brother, Mr. Lewis Green, of Hampstead district, who at the age of 84 or 85 years still sometimes rides in the chase. In addition to the brother named he leaves two sisters, Mrs. John Magee, of Reese, and Mrs. Frank, of Manchester district, and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. John Ogg, and seven sons, Messrs. "Gone but not forgotten.

By his wife and daughter, Lottie.

In sad and loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Fred. S. Leatherwood, who died one year ago, April 8th, 1907.

All his pain and grief are over,
Every restless tossing past,
He is now at peace forever,
Safely home in Heaven at last.

'Twas in the morning of his day,
The Saviour called him to His side,
In youth and love he past away
And with the Lord he doth abide.

He sleeps within the cold, cold grave,
The dark blue skies above him,
He was too pure and fair on earth;
None knew him, but to love him.

And often standing near his tomb
We sigh for him in deepest gloom,
His face our minds will ever see,
Forgotten, he will never be.

By the Family.
