0292

1884 May 2

and what sort of children they seem to be. It is as well to have our eyes open as there is no knowing what sort of a turn Henry may take at any time And Harry has had enough to do with him to feel that he will make no effort to keep him, he seems to be getting along pretty well just now, but every week or so he has a bad day or two just as he used to have when there is not much work done.

Can you bring some sort of a spring for shutting the sash door on the cellar steps the cheapest that can be found. for the minute the dining room door is open Mary creeps out and I am afraid she well get down those steps. I think you had better see about some starch when you are in Balt as ours is nearly out and also some flour we are using the last barrel I suppose there is enough to last three or probably