SIDE TWO

Mrs. Caspar Morris
West River.
Maryland.

very weak this morning, but got stronger in the middle of the day. This afternoon she is suffering from pain flying about her. I suppose it is neuralgia. Still, I think she will take a little walk. She sends a great deal of love to you and Mary and says she is so much disappointed not to be with you this week, for she would so love to see you, and longs for a breath of country air. But it seems there is nothing to be done but to wait as quietly as possible till the weather settles. The Doctor tells us you have left down your carpets and ~~left~~ ~~all~~ ready to make up a fire ~~only~~ ~~in the room~~ ~~the~~ ~~room~~, on Annie's account. How can we thank you enough for your thoughtfulness and kindness? Please tell Mary we both send our love and thanks. I am sure Annie will be quite well after she has had some good fresh air, and I shall be so glad when she is out of the city. Please give much love from both of us to Mary & Harry, Teddie and baby. Looking very much for you-self.

Yours affectionately
Hannah Scott.

Please excuse that part crossed over. I have not time to write another letter, & I feels you will not mind that slight mistake.
