SIDE TWO

Mrs. Caspar Morris
Care of Dr. Caspar Morris
West River
Maryland.

will be so much benefitted by the country air, that she can entirely lay aside the character of invalid. Believe me, dear Mrs. Morris, we all feel your kindness deeply, and thank you all. If the weather should be unfit, or if Annie feels unequal to the journey on Friday we shall have to defer it till the next week. Pale will be able to take us down next Friday, and Lafe he cannot do so after that, so I hope we shall get off. I have had a lingering hope that the Doctor would go them, but he so strongly urged & entreated the other day, that I fear it would be useless to repeat them. But would it not be good if he would go with us? Annie has been feeling very badly yesterday and today. Tuesday it was greatly owing to a severe headache, and today she is very weak and good for nothing. But I do not think her cough is any worse. She sends a great deal of love ~~and~~ to you and Mary, and looks forward with much pleasure to her visit, though she thinks it very soon to intrude upon you. If it is any inconvenience, please let us know, and we can leave it till it suits you better. As Pale is watching me very anxiously, I think I had better surrender the paper to him so with much love to Mary Deddie, little Mary and Harry
