According to the statistics of the weather bureau at Baltimore for August for the last thirty-seven years the mercury went down to 51 degrees on August 24, 1890. The highest temperature was 100 degrees on August 10, 1900. The coldest month was in 1903 and the warmest in 1900. John A. Davis, a Western Maryland Railroad fireman, who resided at Beryl, just west of Westernport, was impaled on a marker on the top of a new switch signal post at Dill, W. One hundred thousand dollars of the first issue of the State bonds for road improvement was purchased on Saturday by the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Baltimore. The offer of this Company was the only one received by the Board of Public Works when it met to open the bids at noon Monday, and was accepted after a brief executive session. Through President Michael Jenkins, the Trust Company offered for the $100,000, determined as the amount of the first issue at a recent meeting of the Board, 100.5 per cent. This aggregates $100,050 for this part of "Series A" of the $5,000,000 issue.

Henry M. Nixdorff, a life long resident of Frederick, died at the City Hospital, on Saturday night, after a lingering illness, aged 77 years. For more than 50 years, he conducted the mercantile business, on West Patrick Street, established by his father, Henry Nixdorff. He was an intimate friend of Barbara Frietchie, to whom he always referred as "a grand old woman," and after her death complied a volume on her life. Until overtaken by ill health he was for many years superintendent of the Sunday School organized by himself and others in the old stone tavern. One sister, Mrs. Susan Hinks, widow of Samuel N. Hinks, who was Mayor of Baltimore in 1854, survives him.

An evidence of returning prosperity was furnished by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, which has placed an order for 14,500 tons of steel rails. The Maryland Steel Company and the United States Corporation will roll all but 1200 tons of the material, an order for that amount having been placed with the Bethlehem Steel Company. It is understood that the Maryland Steel Company's share of the order is 6650 tons. The total cost of the rails is about $406,000. The contract calls for immediate delivery. The new rails will be used on various parts of the system to replace those worn or otherwise unsuited for the needs of the Company.

The audience lasted one hour and the general condition of the church, particularly in the United States and South America, was discussed. Details, however, were not taken up at this meeting because the Pope will receive the Cardinal several times during the latter's sojourn in Rome. The pontiff expressed great satisfaction with the condition of the church in America, as well as with the Catholic University and the mission house under the direction of Father A. P. Doyle of Washington. Speaking of the changes made recently in the organization of the Roman congregation, Cardinal Gibbons expressed his admiration for the activity of the Pope in this matter. In reply the Holy Father said: "You and I are of the same age, and we are still quite young."

The animal was being transported through the streets in a crate, in an express wagon. It forced the top bars from the crate and leaped into the street. Miss Clara Kontu, 18 years old, of Glenville and near Pittsburg, Pa., disappeared last week, and it was thought she had been kidanpped. She returned home as mysteriously as she had disappeared, and did not speak for 100 hours after her return. She then became rational for a short time and said that while seated in the sun, after writing a letter, she lost consciousness. She has no other recollection than this. She appears to have lost consciousness her identity as a young woman and to have returned to her doll days, dressing and undressing her old time dolls. Physicians attribute her conditon to sunstroke.

An improved apparatus has been made by Dr. Fritz Lang, of Munich, by which the inside of the stomach can be clearly photographed. The camera is actually swallowed by the patient, and when it reaches his stomach the walls thereof can be illuminated by a small electric lamp attached to the apparatus. At the bottom of the camera is wound a photographic film 20 inches long and a quarter of an inch wide. All the surgeon has to do is to pull a cord and thus run the film past the lens. The electric light is then turned on, and after the sensitive film has been impressed with the image the current is turned off and another section of the film is brought into play until the required number of pictures has been obtained.

Made over seven years ago, at the time of the Boer War, for consumption by the British forces at the front, 957 cases of puddings and pies were offered for sale by public auction at the London Commercial Rooms recently, and found ready purchasers. The puddings and pies, which were made in London, were sent out in airtight tins to be a private and special treat for the troops, but they never fulfilled the purpose for which they were made, and after much journeying and years spent in store, they were sent back to England. They were catalogued as "not fit for human food," and with other goods were sold by order of the London and India Docks Company to defray freight and other charges, and because they had exceeded the time limit for warehousing. The puddings and pies weighed 18 tons, and were sold in lots of 33 and 50 cases. Each lot of 33 cases fetched 12s., and the bouk of the others 37s. a lot. "They will make excellent food for pigs," said an official of the docks company.

Sign of a Beaten Man.

"There are many more good distance runners now than in my days," said an old time champion after watching the three mile scratch race at the New York Athletic Club games in Madison Square Garden. "But the habits of the runners have not changed any, for I noticed one little trio in the final sprint for victory when that used to attach to it.

"To the casual onlooker there was nothing to choose between the two leaders when they were beginning the last quarter of a mile. Right from the crack of the pistol they were running almost stride for stride with the low, gracful, easy action of the real long distance runner.

"Neither had called into use the reserve power which must be utilized in the final sprint for victory when they turned into the stretch for the final lap. Then one of them slightly turned his head to see where the third man was.

"'That man is beaten,' was the thought which occurred to me at once, and it proved true, as always, for when the dash for the finish began he allowed his rival to get a lead of five yards before going after him in earnest pursuit.

"From that point to the finish there was no perceptible difference in the speed of the men, but the man who had turned his head to make sure that he would get second place, instead of bending every energy to win, of course landed where his thoughts placed him."—Exchage.
