Election—Tuesday, November 3rd, 1908.

Bryan is courting the labor vote, but his reasons for seeking it are not complimentary to intelligent laboring men. They know that the destruction of capital cannot inure to their benefit. They know that the election of Bryan will lead to the curtailment of manufacturing generally and the consequent non-employment of thousands of people now working at remunerative wages. They were fooled once by the specious arguments of Democratic politicians against the taxed tin cup and dinner pail, and realized an empty dinner pail as the result. They have not forgotten the hard times of 1893 to 1897. The truth of this statement was verified by the remark of a Baltimore Democratic journeymen who, in reply to the remark, "Well, I suppose you intend to vote for Bryan," said, "No, I voted for Cleveland and went half fed and hungry for four years. I will not vote for Bryan, as, if he should be elected, I would have a repetition of that experience."

Mr. Bryan may still be troubled with the ghost of free silver. Some weeks ago he declared that the question of the free coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1, was settled. Last week, in a speech at Syracuse, N. Y., he declared that none of the issues of the last twelve years has been settled by the Republican party. A reasonable inference from this is that the free silver issue is still alive, at least in the mind of Mr. Bryan, and that its spectre continues to stalk across his midnight dreams. If settled at all, it certainly has been done by the Republican party, which fought and whipped it in 1896 and 1900, when it was held up by Mr. Bryan as the panacea to save the country from disaster and ruin. But then Mr. Bryan is very much of a whiffler, saying something one day, unsaying it the next and then repeating it the day following. He was more consistent in his advocacy of free silver than of any other of the various issues to which he has at some time or other given the sanction of his name.

Hon. John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for the vice presidency of the United States visited this city and addressed a large audience in Odd Fellows' Hall, on Saturday night last. He is a modest, unassuming, democratic gentleman. Both Democrats and Republicans were pleased with his personality. His address was a quiet and argumentative presentation of his views, and free from invective.

If reports are to be credited, as much cannot be said of the address of Congressman Talbott, who followed him. The SENTINEL'S representative was compelled to leave the hall before he began to speak, and received his information from a well-known Democrat of this city, who said: "Mr. Talbott started out in the footsteps of Mr. Kern, and declared that he would have nothing unkind to say of anyone, but would discuss principles; and then immediately contradicted himself by proceeding to rip Mr. Garrett up the back. That Mr. Talbott did not confine himself strictly to the facts is indicated by the editorial, on the first page of this issue of the SENTINEL, "What Has He Done?"

Taft's Devotion to Principle.

President Roosevelt has made public a letter written by Judge Wm. H. Taft, the Republican candidate for President, which shows his sturdy and uncompromising devotion to principle at any sacrifice of personal advantage.

The letter was written July 20, 1907, in reply to an inquiry of a friend in Ohio, who desired to know whether he, Judge Taft, would acquiesce in the proposition of the Republican State Central Committee to indorse him for the Presidential nomination and Senator Foraker for re-election to the United States Senate. It will be remembered that Senator Foraker was contending with Judge Taft for the indorsement of the Ohio Republicans for this nomination. Judge Taft was assured that his agreement with the ... would give him a clear field in ... solid delegation to the Republi... ...onal Convention from that ...e his nomination a certain... ...f less earnest devotion to ...roposition would have ... temptation. Senator ...ower in Ohio, with ...Taft's acceptance ...ade the For... ... his favor. ... and in ...

determined, if this is to be a representative form of government, not by the question whether he has followed his conscience, but by the question whether he really represents the principles that his constituents desire supported and put into practice.

"The issue really is whether the Republicans of Ohio, therefore, as the constituents of either a senator or a presidential candidate, support the main policies maintained by the administration ... opposition to those policies. ...senting the policies of the adminis... ...n, I cannot stultify myself by ac... ...escence in any proposed compromise which necessarily involves the admission that the Republicans of Ohio regard this fundamental difference of opinion as of no importance and one that can be waived in the interest of party harmony or the settlement of factional differences."

In consequence of Judge Taft's attitude the contest between his friends and those of Senator Foraker, in Ohio, continued and Taft failed, as it was certain he would when the compromise plan was rejected, in securing a solid delegation from the State to the National Convention. But his course in the affair is a forcible index to his character. President Roosevelt probably knows him more intimately than he is known by any other person outside of his own family and it is not surprising that, knowing him and appreciating his honesty of purpose and his stern adherence to principle, is extremely desirous to have him as successor in the Presidency. It will be well for the country if an overwhelming majority of the voters share that desire with the President and will make it effective by voting for Judge Taft.

A Solar Plexus Blow to Mr. Bryan.

During the past week, Mr. William R. Hearst has been running amuck among the enemies of Mr. Roosevelt, the opponents of Mr. Taft and the supporters of Mr. Bryan.

He charged that Senator Foraker, the leading representative of the reactionaries in their hostility to the policies of the administration, had represented the Standard Oil Company, the chief of the law-defying trusts, and had received from that corporation large fees, once as much as $50,000, to prevent the passage of laws by the Ohio legislature, inimical to its interests. Mr. Foraker admitted the general allegation that he had been in the employ of the Standard Oil Company, and attempted to justify his relation.

Results—A practical demonstration by circumstantial evidence that his attacks on the administration and opposition to Judge Taft for the presidential nomination were made in the interest of the Standard Oil Company, and that the Brownsville matter was merely a pretext and not the real grounds of hostility—An opportunity given Judge Taft to show that he had been asked to compromise with Senator Foraker and preferred to forego the nomination for the Presidency, rather than sacrifice principle—The complete descrediting of Senator Foraker, and his elimination as a factor in the campaign.

Mr. Hearst charged C. N. Haskell, Governor of Oklahoma, selected by Mr. Bryan as chairman of the committee to write the platform on which he stands, and at Mr. Bryan's request made the treasurer of his campaign committee, with having attempted to bribe Attorney General Monnett, of Ohio, with an offer of $500,000 to let up on the Standard Oil Company in that State.

Governor Haskell denied the allegation and declared that Attorney General Monnett had gone to Oklahoma during his gubernatorial campaign and completely exonerated him from these charges. These accusations brought out the uncontradicted fact that as Governor of Oklahoma, Mr. Haskell last summer dissolved an injunction obtained by the Attorney General of that State against the Prairie Oil Company to prevent that corporation from building a pipe line in that State, digging up the people's land and across the pubblic highways "without color of law."

Mr. Roosevelt wrote a public letter in which the facts were forcefully commented on. Mr. Bryan rushed to his pen and sent to President Roosevelt a scathing telegram defending his campaign treasurer and declaring his belief in his innocence.

Attorney General Monnett characterizes Governor Haskell's assertion that he went to Oklahoma and on the stump exonerated him from the charge of attempted bribery as an absolute lie. He says that he did go to Oklahoma, and there stated the facts just as they had been brought to his notice and that all the evidence he had against Haskell was hearsay testimony, and that if Mr. Haskell would clear his skirts, he would willingly return to Oklahoma to do him justice.

Mr. Haskell has not disproved the charges against him in the Ohio matter, and the absolute truth of his connection with the Prairie Oil Company case in Oklahoma is conclusively established by the court records, which also show that of the $10,000,000 of stock of the Prairie Oil Company all but about $500 is owned by the Standard Oil Company.

To Mr. Bryan's telegram, Mr. Roosevelt has replied, clearly showing Mr. Haskell as the protector of Standard Oil interests, the opposer of the law prohibiting child labor, and in other relations most discreditable to his presumed support of the forces of law, order and decency, and pointing out the fact that Mr. Bryan's own record makes it natural that the law-defying trusts such as the Standard Oil Company should desire the election of Mr. Bryan to the Presidency rather than that of Judge Taft.

This morning's press dispatches intimate that Haskell will be removed from the treasurership, to which he should not have been appointed, if the statements of L. T. Russell, editor of the Ardmore (Oklahoma) Morning Democrat, are true. Editor Russell says that last Fall, when Mr. Bryan visited Oklahoma in the interest of the gubernatorial candidacy of Mr. Haskell, he (Russell) presented in person to Mr. Bryan 10 typewritten pages of charges against Haskell, covering his record in New York, Ohio, Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma, and that Mr. Bryan tore them up and threw them from the car window, refusing to read them.

No sadder story has been told in the history of American politics, and, if editor Russell's assertions are true and Mr. Haskell is what he is said to be, not only should Mr. Haskell be removed from the treasurership of the Democratic party, but Mr. Bryan himself should receive at the polls in November such rebuke that he will not have the temerity to present himself a fourth time as a candidate for the Presidency.
