B—meaning Barkis or Bryan—"is still willin'." At least it is reported that he says if the Democratic party shall want him for its candidate 4, 8 or 20 years hence he will make the sacrifice. As the party has been three times sacrificed to his ambition it will not likely call upon him for that sort of a sacrifice again.

The election for president of Cuba was held on Sunday and resulted in a victory for Miguel Gomez, who attempted to overthrow the government in power two years ago by revolution. The pretext for his action and that of his followers on that ocasion was not without some justification. They alleged, upon substantial evidence, that Palma had been elected president by packing the ballot boxes and other frauds and that the only method to prevent the perpetuation of the Conservatives in power, by the employment of such means, was to overthrow their government by force. The election on Sunday was held under the protection of the United States and was devoid of all unfairness. Gomez, who represents the Liberal party, won by a handsome majority and it is now predicted that his administration will have stability and success and will demonstrate the ability of the Cubans for self-government. It is to be hoped the expectation will be realized, but past experience is not calculated to give the most abounding confidence in that result.

A Great Project.

A convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association was held in Baltimore on Tuesday and Wednesday and was attended by hundreds of prominent citizens from the States along the Atlantic coast from Maine to Florida. Public sentiment is growing in favor of the improvement of the waterways in all sections of the country, but the project of this association is nothing less than the construction of an inland water route, paralleling the Atlantic coast from Massachusetts to Key West, Fla., and of sufficient depth and width to float vessels of the heaviest tonnage. If accomplished it will be a work of immense magnitude.

All the 500 or 600 persons who attended the convention of the association in Baltimore are enthusiastically in favor of the enterprise, but all seemed to realize the hopelessness of the project if left to private hands. There seemed to be unity of agreement in the opinion that the work should be done by the government and left to government ownership.

The object of the convention, apparently, was more to cultivate public sentiment in that direction than to formulate any other plan by which the project might be successfully inaugurated. As a preliminary it was strongly urged that the government promptly purchase the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal and enlarge it to 100 feet in width and to a depth of 35 feet.

The convention adjourned to meet the next time at Norfolk, Va., and was followed by a banquet at the Lyric at which nearly 600 persons were present, among whom were many distinguishd citizens.

Bryan's Ignes Fatui.

Mr. Bryan comes up again serenely after his third severe drubbing, and announces his determination to continue the fight for the success of the issues which he is pleased to denominate reforms. He does not, seemingly at least, realize that vast numbers of the votes cast for him at the recent election were only given in his favor because he bore the label of the Democratic party. If he had been a candidate on the same identical platform by any other name, it is pretty certain that several millions of Democrats would not only have voted against him, but would have denounced his dogmas as political heresies and in direct conflict with the principles of Jeffersonian Democracy. Some of Mr. Bryan's theories are so self evidently at variance with the doctrines expressed by Mr. Jefferson that they were tacitly omitted from the Denver platform. For instance, no more serious blow could be given to States, rights than government ownership of railroads. Yet Mr. Bryan declared, a dozen years ago and quite recently reiterated, that this was the only solution of the railroad problem.

His catalogue of reforms contains several other propositions quite as dangerous as this, but they need not be repeated here. They were threshed over during the recent campaign and were repudiated by the people of the United States by about a million and a quarter plurality, and we believe, as already stated, would have been shown much less favor if they had not borne the stamp of a Democratic National convention dominated by Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan announces that he will continue the fight along the lines of the recent campaign and it is up to the Democratic party to determine whether it will continue to follow these ignes fatui, which can only lead it into the quagmires of irretrievable defeat, or whether it will return to the safer and saner theories of its so-called founder.

The Way They Want It.

The Sunday edition of the Baltimore Sun contained a cartoon that forcibly illustrates a truth in relation to tariff reduction. The figures of four U. S. Senators—labeled, respectively, North, South, East and West—are giving one voice to the question, "Are they for tariff reduction?" and that voice is, "Sure! on everything—literally everything, except what my section produces."

Experience has demonstrated that there are few public men in this country who are not in favor of the principle of protection. They may clamor for tariff reduction and adopt platforms denouncing the "robber tariff," but the moment the withdrawal of tariff protection from some interest of their own, or of their constituents, is suggested, they interpose objections. It was this condition that brought about the failure of the Democratic Congress, during President Cleveland's second term, to carry into effect the ante-election pledges of the party and to meet the just expectations of Mr. Cleveland, who was among the few sincere free traders of the country.

Tariff protection is a principle as firmly fixed in the United States as if it were engrafted upon the National Constitution. The most ardent disciple of a tariff for revenue only is apt to add, "so adjusted as to afford protection to American industries," thus acknowledging and consenting to protection.

That the existing tariff needs revision is acknowledged by all parties. The "stand patters" are those who declare that in its revision the principle of protection must be maintained. The result of the recent election doubly insures such maintenance, but if it had been otherwise the free trade Democracy would not have dared to utterly ignore it. Wisely, the country has delegated the revision to those who not only believe in the doctrine of protecting our own industries and labor against unfair foreign competition, but who have the courage to boldly declare their adherence to that doctrine.

President-elect Taft has announced that immediately upon his inauguration he will call an extra session of Congress to revise the existing tariff. This work of revision is being considered by a commission and existing inequalities will be corrected, new schedules adopted and an equitable and just measure passed by the Congress. This has been promised by the Republicans and the party is not in the habit of violating its pledges.

Election Echoes.

From official and reliable unofficial sources it has been ascertained that the House of Representatives of the next Congress—the Sixty-first—will consist of 219 Republicans and 172 Democrats. At the recent election the Republicans lost 17 districts and gained 12, a net loss of 5 from the present representation. Seven of the losses were in Indiana, three in Colorado, two in Nebraska, three in Ohio, one in Illinois and one in Kentucky. The gains were: Three in North Carolina, two in Oklahoma, two in Missouri, two in Pennsylvania, one in New Jersey, one in Rhode Island and one in Wisconsin.

One of the most notable features of the election was the increased Republican vote in several of the Southern States. This increase was marked in Virginia, Alabama and Georgia. The majority of Parker over Roosevelt in Virginia in 1904 was 57,385, while Bryan carried the state by only 25,000.

The estimated vote in Alabama is: Bryan 60,000, Taft 37,000, showing a Bryan majority of 23,000. In 1904 Parker's plurality was precisely the same as that in Virginia, 57,385.

The increase in Georgia is about at the same ratio. In 1904 Parker received 88,331 to 25,335 for Roosevelt, a plurality of 62,996. Bryan's vote this year was 73,739, while Taft received 41,292, a Democratic loss of 14,592 and a Republican gain of 15,957, or a change of 30,549 in the Democratic plurality. Taft carried 27 of the 146 counties in the State. The Republicans also made considerable gains in North Carolina, Oklahoma, and Tennessee.

These figures indicate that notwithstanding the extreme political animosity of the Southern people, generally, to the Republican party, on account of its attitude on the negro question, many of the voters are thoroughly disaffected toward the Democratic party and its policies and at the recent election subordinated their sectional prejudices to what they regard the best interests of the country. It is said that while the leading Democrats of Florida voted for Bryan, on account of race prejudice, they do not hesitate to express their gratification over the election of Taft "for business reasons." Evidently the only thing that keeps the South solidly Democratic is the race issue, and, judging from the results stated there must either be some measure of subsidence in that, or the people are becoming too thoroughly disgusted with the vagaries of modern Democracy to tolerate them longer without making some show of protest.

15,000 barrels of whiskey were destroyed by fire at Bardstown, Ky., on Wednesday. Two of three warehouses of the Tom Moore Distillling Company, in which the whiskey was stored, were burned. Loss on buildings and contents $400,000, fully insured. A creek running by the plant was flooded with the liquor burning and its surface was ablaze for a long distance. The loss of prospective tax by the government is estimated at $750,000.

Sale of Real Estate.

Probably the largest single real estate deal in the history of Union Bridge was consummated on Tuesday evening, when a large tract of improved property lying east of the depot and owned jointly by Abram Stoner and George P. Buckey, Sr., was purchased by Geo. W. Albaugh, of Westminster.

The tract involved in the transaction includes the grain elevator, now conducted by E. A. C. Buckey, the hay shed, lumber and coal yard, conducted by Jos. Wolfe and Son, the James Six saloon stand and four dwellings on Elger Street. The consideration is said to have been $18,000.

MARRIED.

In Union Bridge, Nov. 12th, 1908, by Elder E. W. Stoner, Mr. Robert R. Shriner, of Taneytown, and Miss Carrie E. Greenwood, of New Windsor.

DIED.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, Silas A. Farver, who departed this life one year ago, November 20th, 1907.

Farewell, farewell, my husband dear,
We've spent one sad and lonely year;
You left us with a bleeding heart
That sad morning you and we did part.

How long you struggled against disease
Which baffled skill and care,
How long you lingered racked with pain
And suffering hard to bear.

Oh, how hard we tried to save you,
But our cares were all in vain;
Angels came and took you from us,
We trust to with the Saviour dwell.

What grief and pain you suffered here
None of us will ever know,
For Jesus took you home with Him
Where no tears will ever flow.

There is such a sad longing,
Deep down in our hearts to-day,
To see once again our father
Whom death took from us away.

The land that is free from sorrow,
Free from suffering and pain,
Where we hope to meet our dear father
Never to part again.

Good night, "dear father, sweetly rest
Until the dawn shall come."
We'll say "good morning" when we reach
Our father's promised home.

By his wife and children.

The Summer flowers are faded now,
And soon we'll have the Winter snows:
But wise ones now are trying on
The newest things in Schloss's Clothes.

Mr. Beaver (in trolley car) "How do you like your Schloss Overcoat?"

Mr. Furley—"Oh, I am wrapped up in it."

Style is what makes a man proud of his Clothes. It is the distinguishing feature of these Schloss "CLOTHES BEAUTIFUL" they have an individuality which appeals to men of good taste and good judgment—the Winners—the top notchers—the "doers" of the world.

Brainy Men recognize that clothes are a factor and therefore they insist on the Schloss Baltimore Clothes, they accept no others.

LETS TALK
Suits and Overcoats

Time to buy now and in justice to yourselves before doing so you should go the Big and Exclusive Clothing Store of Carroll County.

Remember, whether you want a Suit or Overcoat for $5, $8, $10, $12, $15 or $18, you can get better style, greater value, lower price here than at any store in the county.

See our exceptional values in Suits and Overcoats at $12 and $15. You would expect and have to pay at least $3 more for these qualities elsewhere.

FOR THE BOYS.

The stylish Reefer Overcoat at $5 and $6. Long Overcoats from $1.75 up, sizes 4 to 8. For the Boy 8 to 16 we have a swell line of Overcoats and Suits from $2.50 up.

ALL the NEW COLORS in SUITINGS to make to order. Let us make your clothes to measure; we will please you in style, fit and price.

Do you want the good warm kind of Gloves and Underwear? That's the kind we sell.

Our Cord Pants sales increase each year because people are finding out that they get the best made and wearing Cord Pants for men and boys here.
