SIDE TWO

such were the thoughts and feelings with which I entered on the duties of the day: and now after having been permitted the privilege of passing them on the sabbath of the church, as I sat waiting for Richard to bring me the carriage to make a few visits I turn once more to my pen and would fain make it the vehicle for conveying to you somewhat of the feeling of love which I experience and know is reciprocated by yourself and those with you.
The day has been very pleasant, and I hope you and Mary have been able to get to Chapel this afternoon and perhaps you are now listening to Mr Dillon as it is five o'clock. I trust you are being edified: our dear children here are all well and happy I believe. Galloway and I dined with Chester & Hannah and the two dear little boys - and I shall take tea with the family at Mrs Buckleys - They were well yesterday. Annie Perot was at Church this morning & Galloway reported that she was not very much fatigued.
Cousin Emily is spending a few days with Mrs Montgomery at Germantown previously to their removal to the Place d'Armes house: the Parsons will not be here for some weeks yet.

I am glad to be able to report an agreeable addition to the family here in two misses Dupuy, who are quiet inoffensive girls, formerly patients of mine, and two misses Sanford, and their brother friends of Mr Frederick's who appear very intelligent good persons.
They will give a tone to the family for the winter I hope though there are still unoccupied the best rooms in the 3d story and the entire south or the first floor. Mr Cushman is still absent but will return this week I believe I must now have you tell I get through my out door duties.

And now 10 P.M. having just got in from a very pleasant evening in 8th st. I can report that Annie Perot was in the parlor at dark and came down stairs for tea. I sat with our dear children singing Hymns and talking pleasantly over Sunday schools & other matters till I thought it time to summon Galloway and we walked up street together.
Israel and Annie hope to be able to make a visit to you & Mary & Harry but are somewhat doubtful about getting away from here during October as Winter calls of Shooting that month at Newport & I do not cannot be absent at the same time.
You do not mention the Dillons so that I suppose Mrs D has decided to remain with you & not accept Jacques offer. Our church is in about the same state as it has been
