The timely discovery of fire in a pile of wheat chaff on the floor of the barn of Mr. Howard Bixler, in Bachman's Valley, on Friday last pervented the destruction of the building. They will reach Vera Cruz on September 23rd, and thence will go by rail to the City of Mexico. "Dot"

"Dot" is the title of a new novel by Rev. L. M. Zimmerman, D. D, of Baltimore, which is very highly spoken of by the press and numbers of eminent residents of that city who have read it with close attention and pleasure. Dr. Zimmerman is the author of several novels and of many booklets written for the purpose of elevating the moral tone of society and inculcating the principles of Christianity, and this is conceded by all to be the best production of his pen. It is handsomely illustrated and the frontispiece is a fine picture of the author, who for many years has been the pastor of the large congregation of Christ Lutheran Church. In closing a commendatory letter to the doctor, Rev. Wm H. Dunbar, D. D., pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Baltimore, says: "I can congratulate you and am proud of you," a sentiment which is shared by his many friends in this county, of which he is a native, being a son of the late Henry Zimmerman, of Manchester district, and a brother of Messrs. David H. and Theodore Zimmerman, of this city.

P. O. S. of A. Picnic.

The annual picnic of Washington Camp No. 68, P. O.S. of A. was held at the hall at Smallwood last Saturday afternoon and evening, and was a great success. In the afternoon the crowd was not great; the farmers were too busy plowing and harrowing their ground, put in splendid condition by the recent rains. With the setting of the sun, however, they began to gather, and by seven o'clock a large crowd was present.

During afternoon and evening, the Carrollton Band entertained the crowd with delightful music, and about seven o'clock addresses were delivered by Dr. Candler. Past State President, of Baltimore, and Rev. W. L. Seabrook, in the open air, using the piazza of the hall as a restrum. A bountiful supper, such as the ladies of that neighborhood know how to prepare, provided by the wives and daughters of members of the camp, was served to the members of the order, the speakers of the occasion, members of the band and other invited guests. During the evening about forty gallons of Arthur M. Zile's fine ice cream, and a large quantity of confectionery, cakes, bananas, cigars &c., was disposed of, to the profit of the treasury of the camp.

Browning Rally.

The Rally of the Browning Literary Society of Western Maryland College will take place on Friday, 24 September, at 3 P. M., in Smith Hall Auditorium. This Rally is to celebrate the opening of the new society hall in the Library. It was planned by former Brownings of this vicinity who wish to make the occasion one of encouragement to the present members as well as a pleasant reunion for themselves. The plans were arranged last Tuesday evening at an informal gathering of old Brownings in the Davis Hall. A large number of old members were present, all of whom became enthusiastic over the rally. Their enthusiasm was substantially expressed in the subscription of a handsome sum of money to be used for furniture in the new hall. It is hoped to increase this sum by further contributions from other Brownings. Any members wishing to contribute may communicate with Miss Kitty Noel, of this city, who was selected treasurer of the fund. Many former members from different sections of Maryland and other states have written of their intentions to attend the rally, and judging from the stirring efforts being made by the committees on program, refreshments, and entertainment, the event will undoubtedly be a red letter day in the Browning's already illustrations history.

This bright and interesting little son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. The children were at play in a room at the home of the little victim of the accident, on East Main street, when the older one, after having snapped the rifle several times, it is said, without discharging it, and, supposing it was not loaded, pointed it at Raphael's head and pulled the trigger. The discharge followed, the bullet struck Raphael near the center of the forehead and went crashing into his brain. Drs. Billingslea, Sullivan and Coonan were promptly in attendance, but from the first apprehended a fatal result. It was thought best, however, to take the child to the hospital and Dr. Coonan accompanied his parents with him to that institution, where his death occurred within two hours after their arrival.

Any language would fail to adequately express the sympathy felt for the family of Mr. Shriver by the people of this city on account of this cruel bereavement. Raphael, who would have been five years old on Sunday next, was a very handsome and attractive child and was a great favorite with all who knew him. He was a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John T. He grew to manhood in the village of his birth, attended the public school in his boyhood and early youth, then became a salesman in one of the village stores and later followed the same occupation at Thurmont and in the large establishment of D. C. Winebrenner, in Frederick. It was while thus engaged that he was converted in the M. E. Church in that city and became an active church worker. In this he displayed such ability that, upon the advice of friends and feeling an imperative call, he decided to enter the ministry. He possessed only such education as he had obtained in the primary school and by private reading and study, but easily qualified himself for ministerial duties and in 1870 was admitted to the Baltimore Conference with which he remained identified until his death His first appointment was as junior pastor of New Windsor Circuit, and his next, in the same relation, at Hampstead, and thereafter, during his active ministry, he served the churches of Union Bridge, Smithsburg, Patapsco, Mt. Savage, Bloomington, Bu keystown, Berkeley Springs, Pa., Frostburg circuit, Liberty, Hyndman, Pa, Paw-Paw, W. Va., West River, Great Falls, then again as pastor of New Windsor circuit and, lastly, Magothy and Mt. Carmel. About five years ago, while on the last named appointment, he was stricken with paralysis and became unable to continue preaching. Subsequently he removed to this city. In his boyhood he was a schoolmate of the senior editor of the Sentinel. Their friendship was continued throughout his life and grew very close and tender during the years of his residence here.

Mr. Kolb was devoted and earnest in the discharge of his ministerial duties, in which he was successful in adding many members to the church Several years after he entered the ministry he married a daughter of Joseph Barnes, of Lisbon, Howard county, who survives him, with five sons and two daughters—Benj. The numbers of pupils at some of the schools at the opening were: Wentz's, taught by Walter F. Folk, 29; Tracey's, taught by Horatio F. Wentz, 22; Krideler's, taught by C. J. Sauble, 21; Ebbvalle, taught by Theo. Myers, 17; Mt. Ventus, taught by E. W. Burgoon, 13; Millers's, taught by Luther Wentz, 47; Lineboro, taught by Miss Wertz, 17; Bachman's taught by Bertram Strevig, 28. Your correspondent, who taught in the public schools from 1893 to 1903, a period of 11 years, advocates "Better salaries, better teachers." When he was teaching many older and experienced teachers quit because there had been a promise of better salaries which was not fulfilled. As taxpayers and patrons do we approve giving up a good teacher because the salary is insufficient and he goes into some business not so nerve-exhausting and more remunerative. We believe the patrons and taxpayers will in the near future rise up and ask both county and school commissioners to increase the salaries.

"Mission Worker" now goes to the Hawaiian Island where, a subscriber wrote, the temperature seldom goes below 78 and that it is an ideal place in which to live.

Making Good in West.

When Claude Tilden Smith, of the Westminster Bar, went West several months ago, he left behind him a host of friends, who regretted his leaving this city, and followed him with good wishes for his success in his new home. Mr. Smith located at Beaver, Oklahoma, and a business letter, received from him by an attorney of Westminster, indicates that he made no mistake in hanging up his shingle there Beaver is the county seat of a county containing about 1800 square miles, sparsely settled in proportion to its area, having only about 15,000 inhabitants. Nearly every resident owns 160 acres of land and there is much school land, embracing nearly a third of the county, which will be sold this Fall, and on which there will be settlers to increase the county's population. The average size of families in the county is about three and a half persons to every voter, as most of the homesteaders are young men, with small families or unmarried. There are only five lawyers in the county, and the future promises great things for a young man with the faculty of making friends possessed by Mr. Smith.

Mr. Dell is a prominent farmer and is 81 years of age. Mrs. Dell is 75 years of age. She was Miss Susannah Parker, of Carroll county. Mr. Dell is one of the oldest members of Shiloh Lodge of Odd Fellows, of Granite Mr. James Stanfield, who is 85 years old, and the oldest member of the lodge, was among those who extended congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dell.

Report of the W. C. T. U. Convention.

The annual convention of the Carroll County W. C. T. U. convened in the M. E. Church, Union Bridge, Thursday, September 9th, 1909. The convention was one of the most enthsiastic ever held. The fine reports of work along all lines were most encouraging. The organization of new unions, increase in membership, and subscribers to the various temperance papers were most gratifying facts to the convention. The afternoon session was taken up with the election of officers for the ensuing year, resulting as follows: For President, Mrs. Philena Fenby, Finksburg; Vice-Pres., Miss Sarah C Trump, Manchester; corresponding secretary, Miss Lizzie Trump, Manchester; recording secretary, Mrs. Emily A. Herr, Westminster; treasurer, Mrs. T. W. Mather, Westminster. The night address was made by Mrs. Amy C. Weech, of Virginia, a most stirring appeal, and enthusiastically received by a crowded house. I should like to be able to describe the noon hour in which we were feasted. Such hospitality is easy to take, but hard to describe. The stewed chicken, cold meats, delicious rolls, preserves, pickles and fruits were very fine, and we could do nothing but eat them. These were followed by ices and homemade cake.
