A strange accident happened to Mr. George Barnhart in this city afew days ago. He was driving along Main street with a load of potatoes in sacks, when a lady called to him that his wagon was on fire. The straw in the front of the wagon was blazing up. A number of ladies ran from near by residences with pails of water and the fire was put out. Several sacks and a blanket were burned, and Mr. Barnhart had his mustache scorched. He thinks that the fire was started by a spark from a pile of burning autumn leaves.

Mrs. Ecker's Barn Burned.

The fine large barn on the farm of Mrs. Hetty Ecker, widow of the late Solomon S. Ecker, near New Windsor, and five other outbildings were destroyed by fire shortly after noon on Saturday last. The barn contained about 600 bushels of wheat in the straw, a lot of hay &c., all of which were totally destroyed. A valuable colt was burned and also six hogs in their pen and some farming implements and other articles. The origin of the fire is unknown. It had gained such headway when first discovered that it was impossible to suppress it. Mrs. Ecker's loss in buildings and their contents exceeds $4,000. Upon this she had policies of insurance in the Middletown and Montgomery County Companies, amounting to $3,400.

Mr. Clayton's Church Burned.

The Methodist Protestant Church at Parksley, Va., of which Rev. George M. Clayton, son-in-law of Mr. S. P. Weaver, of this city, is pastor, was destroyed by fire last Saturday night. The fire, it is said, originated from the heater in the cellar, and before it was discovered was beyond control. By strenuous efforts the parsonage and other nearby dwellings were saved from sharing the fate of the church edifice. The loss is estimated at $3,000 and is practically covered by insurance.

Mr. Clayton's pastorate, which began a couple of years ago, has been very successful. When he took charge of the congregation it was burdened with a considerable debt and a mortgage rested on the church building. The debt has been paid and the mortgage canceled, and sometime ago it was burned amid the rejoicing of the people. It is a fortunate circumstance that sufficient insurance was placed on the structure as to greatly mitigate such a disaster as its destruction.

M. C. I. Notes.

The musical proved to be a sucess. All present were convinced that the Musical Makers have the right name. The sweet music of the myrambaphone was enjoyed by all, also the novelty of the instrument itself. We thank our friends and patrons for the interest manifested.

Our students enjoyed a delightful Hallow'en social on Monday evening in the Commercial Hall, under the direction of the committee on Social Culture.

Forty of our students and teachers attended the temperance lecture Friday evening in Alumni Hall Western Maryland College, given by the Hon. Seaborn Wright, of Georgia. The R. R. authorities furnished a special train west as far as Bruceville.

Our students from Washington county are not to blame that the saloon remains open in that county, for the voters from that portion of our commonwealth, Messrs. Long, Hicks and Anthony, have just returned from casting their votes in favor of the good cause of temperance.

Elder W. P. Englar, of Uniontown, preached in the chapel last Sunday evening On next Sunday evening Elder G. K. Sappington will preach.

WEDDING BELLS.

Bagent--Shipley.

Miss Cordelia A. Shipley, daughter of Mrs. Alice Shipley, near Oella, and the late Charles E. Shipley, formerly of Taylorsville, this county, and Mr. Howard Bagent, of Alberton, were quietly married on the 14th ult., by Rev. Vernon N. Ridgely. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Thos. N. Shipley, of Franklin district.

Price--Stoner.

The marriage of Miss Edna Stoner and Mr. Paul Price, on Wednesday evening, was an event of unusual interest, both by reason of the popularity of the young people and because the wedding ceremony took place in the Church of the Brethren, on Belle Grove Square, this city, and was the first marriage service ever performed in this meeting house. There were no floral decorations in the church and the ceremony was most impressive by its simplicity and quietness. Elder Mitchell Stover, of Waynesboro, Pa, was the officiating minister. The bride's gown was of white silk, covered with lace, and she carried Bride's roses, and wore at her throat orange blossoms that were worn by her mother and sister, Mrs. Geiman, at their weddings. Mrs. David R. Geiman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was gowned in pink silk and carried pink roses. The ushers were Messrs. David R. Geiman, brother-in-law of the bride, and Harvey Price, brother-in-law of the groom, and Doctors J. E. and J. S. Myers, cousins of the bride. A reception followed the ceremony at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Geiman, near this city, attended by between ninety and one hundred of the near relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and white and blue crepe paper. During the evening the Williams brothers played wedding marches and other beautiful music. The SENTINEL is grateful for a taste of the delicious wedding cake. The bride is a daughter of Mr. John D. F. Stoner, of Uniontown, and the groom is a son of Mr. Joseph Price, of this city. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Price were driven in a hack to Reisterstown, where they took the trolley line to Baltimore. After a week spent in visiting York and other Pennsylvania points, they will reside in Westminster.

Fatally Burned.

Mrs. Barbara Elizabeth Freeman, wife of Mr. Harvey C. Freeman, was so badly burned by the explosion of a coal oil stove, at their home, 735 North Fulton avenue, Baltimore, last night, that her recovery is extremely doubtful. The explosion took place in the hallway, the handle of the stove having broken as it was carried down the stairway by a member of the family. The stove rolled to the bottom when it exploded and set fire to the carpet. Mrs. Freeman endeavored to extinguish the blaze, but her clothing became ignited and speedily became a mass of flames and was almost entirely burned off. It is said that her entire person, except a small place on her right arm was burned. She was taken at once to the Maryland Homeopathic Hospital in an automobile. Both her daughters, Miss Hattie, aged 20, and Miss Tillie, aged 16 years, were severely burned on their arms and faces in their efforts to save their mother. Their screams attracted several neighbors who finally succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Mr. Freeman was not at home when the accident occurred. He and his family have only been living in Baltimore since May last, having been residents of this city for a year or two and of the county all their lives previous to that time.

RESULT IN THE STATE.

Few, if any, Republicans hoped for a victory in the State at large and the result of the balloting on Tuesday was not, therefore, unexpected. Trick ballots in the Wilson law counties have, undoubtedly, been the means of defrauding the Republicans of the due and proper effect of their votes and have sent some Democrats to the Legislature instead of the Republican candidates, who would have been successful if the election had been fairly conducted.

This method, however, could not save the iniquitous disfranchising amendment, which was snowed under by a large majority. The following tables, compiled from unofficial sources, give the vote on the amendment and the comptroller.

Elections in Other States.

Local elections were held in a number of States on Tuesday and in several of them Governors were chosen. In Massachusetts Governor Draper, Republican, was re-elected by a decreased majority. Rhode Island re-elected Gov. Pothier by an increased majority, the Republicans having made gains all over the State. Wm. Hodges Mann, Democrat, was elected Governor of Virginia by 23,000 majority, a large falling off from the usual Democratic vote.

General interest centered in the municipal election in New York City, where Judge Gaynor, the Tammany candidate, was successful. The Anti-Tammany ticket for the Board of Estimates, which controls the finances of the city, was elected by a handsome majority. It is composed of Republicans and Democrats who will prevent the city from being plundered by the henchmen of Tammany.

A Card.

I wish to thank all my friends regardless of party who so loyally supported me on Tuesday last.

Very truly yours,
Wm. F. Jordan,

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. DIED.

ZILE.—In loving remembrance of my husband, Howard M. Zile, who died three years ago, November 3rd, 1906.

Our home has been stricken with sorrow,
A loved one has been taken away,
And grief throws its gloom on the morrow
And darkens the face of its day.

To all the dear ones now dwelling
In the home which shall know him no more,
And we will be constantly telling
Of our father that's gone on before.

He was thoughtful, loving and tender
With us, each and every one;
Here he suffered, but is now rejoicing;
His joy in Heaven has just begun.

To each may this sorrowing warning
Be heeded as God's loving call,
And clad in Christ's beauteous adorning,
Arise from the gloom, one and all.

By his wife and children.
