AMERICAN SENTINEL.

WESTMINSTER, - MARYLAND.

W. L. W. SEABROOK, WILLIAM L. SEABROOK, } Editors.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1909.

A WORD IN PARTING.

Tomorrow the connection of the undersigned with the American Sentinel, as its editors, will cease, and a word in parting, covering a brief review of that connection, may not be inappropriate.

To many of its present patrons and readers it may not be known that the senior editor became one of its proprietors and its sole editor October 1st, 1868, and continued in that relation until January, 1874. During that period the subscription list was increased about 60 per cent. In May, 1888, he again became sole editor and so continued until the incorporation of the American Sentinel Company, which took over the paper September 14, 1907, a period of more than 19 years. During that time he edited the entire issue of the paper, every week except one when he was suffering with severe illness. Although confronted with strong competition the subscription list was not only maintained undiminished, but was increased about 8 per cent., and the proprietress, and later her estate, received a handsome income from the business. Since September 14, 1907, he has been the senior editor.

That he retires with regret from connection with the Sentinel, as one of its editors, after these many years of devotion to its interest and to the cause which it represents, goes without saying. That his work as editor has been generally satisfactory to its patrons and to the Republican party of the county of which it has been the organ is a claim which seems justified by the success which has attended its publication. He has come into personal contact with many of the subscribers and patrons of the paper and that intercourse has been of a very pleasant character. He is glad to believe that he will carry with him their personal friendship in his retirement and that that friendship may be maintained during the remainder of his life.

The junior editor will sever his official connection with the Sentinel as regretfully as does the senior editor. During the little more than two years since he became associated with his father in its editorial management, the business of the office has increased fifty per cent, two semi-annual dividends have been made to the 83 stockholders of the American Sentinel Company, and there have been valuable additions made to the equipment of the office. This success could not have been achieved without the cordial cooperation and uniform courtesy of the company's board of directors and the printers, who are the men behind the guns.

The tender of the appointment to the chief deputy clerkship of the Circuit Court came to him as a great surprise and in view of his deep interest in the Sentinel, he would have declined it, if it had been possible to do so. Influenced by the kindly expressions on the part of the members of the bar, the apparent universal desire of the members of the Republican party and citizens of the county generally without respect to party, and desiring to cooperate with the Clerk-elect in serving the best interests of the county, he has felt constrained to accept the appointment.

Thanking all friends, correspondents and patrons of the Sentinel for courtesy, kindness and cooperation, the retiring editors wish to express, in advance, their gratitude to their friends for the same kindly cooperation with Joseph D. Brooks, Esq., in his editorial management of the paper and plant, to which he has been elected by the board of directors.

Wm. L. W. Seabrook,
Wm. L. Seabrook.

A Faithful Servant,

No man has ever retired from any office in any State of whom it can be more truly said than after forty-two years of official life it is said of Mr. George A. Miller "Well done, good and faithful servant." Not only has he been faithful, but the long years during which he has been continued in the service of the Court proved his efficiency. Always accommodating not only to the members of the bar but to all who had business in the clerk's office, by his uniform courtesy he has won to himself a host of warm friends, who will always hold him in highest esteem. His successor can only hope to equal him in faithfulness in the discharge of the duties of the office and in time to approach his efficiency in their performance.

"Call Me Not Dead."

On Thursday night, November 18th, Richard Watson Gilder, editor of the Century, America's greatest poet of his generation, learned for himself that his own great answer to the question "What is Death?" is the true answer. In his poem "Non Sine Dolore," he sang that following Death comes

"Life, still Life that leads to higher Life," and
"Death but the pause between."

On Friday, 19th, a few hours later, Father John B. Tabb, Maryland's blind poet priest, learned for himself the glorious truth of Gilder's "After-Song:"

"Through love to light! Oh, wonderful the way
That leads from darkness to the perfect day!
From darkness and from sorrow of the night
To morning that comes singing o'er the sea.
Through love to light! Through light, O God, to thee,
Who art the love of love, the eternal light of light!"

and of his own words of immortal faith:

"Out of the dusk a shadow,
Then a spark;
Out of the cloud a silence,
Then a lark;
Out of the heart a rapture,
Then a pain;
Out of the dead, cold ashes,
Life again.

Gilder and Tabb, as all great poets, lived "as seeing the invisible," and their glorious, triumphant faith is voiced in the priest's lines "To Death,"

"So sweet to tired mortality, the night
Of Life's laborious day,
That God himself, o'erwearied of the light,
Within its shadow lay;"

and of Gilder's,

"CALL ME NOT DEAD."

"Call me not dead when I, indeed, have gone
Into the company of the ever-living
High and most glorious poets! Let thanksgiving
Rather be made. Say—He at last hath won,
Rest and release, converse supreme and wise,
Music and song and light of immortal faces;
Today, perhaps, wandering in starry places,
He hath met Keats, and known him by his eyes,
Tomorrow (who can say?) Shakespeare may pass,
And our lost friend just catch one syllable
Of that three-centuried wit that kept so well;
Or Milton; or Dante, looking on the grass
Thinking of Beatrice, and listening still
To chanted hymns that sound from the heavenly hill;"

and to both has come the answer to the poet's beautiful prayer, with which Gilder closes a volume of his song:—

"O Lord of Light, steep Thou our souls in Thee!
That when the daylight trembles into shade,
And falls the silence of mortality,
And all is done—we shall not be afraid,
But pass from light to light, from earth's dull gleam
Into the very heart and heaven of our dream."

Church extend a cordial invitation to the citizens of Westminster, to their oyster supper and bazar, at the Firemen's Building, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. FORCED INTO EXILE.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla. was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles, I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Grip, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by all druggists.

The Egg Factory on your farm will work full time if you feed your hens Fairfield's Egg Producer regularly. It provides them with egg-making materials and makes egg production regular and exceedingly profitable. Costs but a trifle. (Ask for Fairfield's Free Book.) Sold under written guarantee by the W. H. Davis Co., Westminster, Geo. W. Yeiser, Union Mills, T. W. Mather & Sons, Manchester, Shipley & Bonner, Gamber, N. E. Franklin, Englar, J. E. Evans, Carrollton.

A SCALDED BOY'S SHRIEKS

of headache, as well as older women, but all get quick relief and prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood, and strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 25c at all druggists.

KILLS HER FOE OF 20 YEARS.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up, I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, its unequaled. Only 50c at all druggists.
