1869-1870 Cooper Morris Unsorted letters MS 7829

SIDE ONE

anxious to see some of our sons settled. My eldest daughter you know was married in the summer of 1868 - but all my sons are still single. My eldest second son, who are both in business, might marry if they cared; but they does seem to think much of parent's recommendation.

My father Charles does not entirely shake off the effect of what was thought to be a sun-stroke last summer; and has been a prisoner to the house since the winter. Esther, Robert, Bernard, Caroline are in usual health. With many thanks for your kind sympathy believe me to be sincerely affectionately yours.

My dear Friend,

I have before me your kind letter of the 15th Feb. and also your present of a little poem which we have read with interest & profit. The sentiments expressed in it are I think scriptural and at the same time comforting.

I have had it on my mind to write to you for some weeks past to tell you of my partial recovery, and to relieve you of any anxiety I may have caused you; but as you know the pressure of daily engagements, especially when one's strength is reduced, is very constant,
