AMERICAN SENTINEL.

WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND.

JOS. D. BROOKS, Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1910.

In the leading editorial in its issue of July 15, 1910, the Democratic Advocate in speaking of its party says:

"Another thing that the leaders have omitted to do is to lay down a positive policy to guide the party in event of victory. A source of our weakness, heretofore, has been that the Democratic party was simply a party of opposition as it told the people only in general terms its proposed policy."

A owns two farms upon one of which there is a mortgage, while the other one is free of debt. According to Carroll county Democratic financeering A is out of debt.

Our old friend, the Green street bridge, is like Brer Rabbit, he is just laying low and saying nothing while the City Fathers are busy with the tar barrel proposition.

The tar for street improvement was a little tar-dy in arriving, but now that it "has arrived" we hope the tar-nel kickers will stop tar-rying on the street to talk like a lot of tar-heels.

Jacksonville has all the money it wants for the building of good roads. Now, if she will just build her good roads good. Very frequently "good roads" are a misnomer. The Ocala Florida Banner.

August 5th, 1910.

The above is a very familiar sound to Marylanders living under the present Crothers' administration.

The Democratic party does not seem to be of sufficient importance in the present campaign to attract the attention of the newspapers. The Republican party, as usual, is furnishing enough of action for all available space. It is the party of action and fully represents the active thought of the nation. When you vote the Republican ticket you help build up the country.

Mr. John F. Delaney, the Democratic congressional candidate in the Third district of Illinois, has inserted the following advertisement in a local paper:

"WANTED to rent, a donkey for campaign purposes: not a kicker."

The Democratic donkey was born a kicker and has been and still is a kicker. We are very much afraid Mr. Delaney will never be elected to congress if his election depends upon securing a donkey that does not kick. A kicking donkey is the emblem of Democracy.

Senator Rayner says the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Law is unconstitutional but that the framers were smart enough to get around the constitution. We suspect that before very long he will claim that the constitution is unconstitutional, but that the framers of it were smart enough to get around it.

So long as the country is enjoying unbounded prosperity the average citizen does not care about splitting hairs on constitutional questions. The happiness and prosperity of the people, as a whole, is and should be the aim of all good governments. When people are busy and prosperous they don't have time to listen to harangues on hair-splitting constitutional questions.

The County Debt.

We have been criticised by a Democratic official of this county for saying the county "is not out of debt." We said that as long as the School Commissioners owed $22,000 the county is not out of debt, and we repeat the statement.

The School Commissioners and the County Commissioners both represent the people of the county and whatever is owed by either is a debt owed by the people of this county. The County Commissioners may owe for bridges, improvements to buildings &c., and the debt would be one owed by the people of this county.

The School Commissioners owe $22,000 for school houses &c., and it is, therefore, a debt of this county. The people of this county owe it and not the people of any other county or of the State at large.

The School Commissioners cannot make a levy for school purposes, but are compelled to get along with whatever the County Commissioners see fit to give them. If, therefore, the School Commissioners are required to pay the interest on the $22,000 and $1,000 per annum on the principal, out of the money received from the County Commissioners, is it any wonder the teachers of the county are not receiving more money? Under the present policy of the Democratic party in this county it will be 22 years before the school debt is paid off.

We said that the passage of a bill by the Legislature requiring the School Commissioners to pay off the indebtedness was only a subterfuge, and we repeat that statement. The Democratic party in this county has used the cry of "low taxes" and "out of debt" in campaign after campaign, and the saddling of the debt on the School Commissioners was done in order to say that the County Commissioners were out of debt and did not need as much money as some other counties in the State.

The people of the county own the school houses, school books, school furniture and everything pertaining to the schools. They pay the salaries of the commissioners, superintendent, assistant superintendent and teachers and are bound for all debts created for the benefit of the schools. The School Commissioners, who simply represent the people of the county in all matters relating to schools, owe $22,000 which, under the law passed by the Legislature, it will take 22 years, unless the law is changed, to pay off. The County Commissioners, who have the right to levy for all county purposes, should be required to assume the $22,000 indebtedness and pay it off as soon as possible.

If this is done the people of the county will then be out of debt and there will be some prospects of the teachers receiving better salaries and of the lower grades having more teachers.

Wreck on W. M. R. R.

As the result of a head-on collision between eastbound freight train No. 204 and extra westbound freight No. 627 at Raven Rock bridge, on the Western Maryland railroad, one mile west of Edgemont, near Smithsburg, Monday night, three men were killed and seven injured two having died since. The dead:

Harry E. Gigous, 22, Hagerstown; fireman on train No. 204.

David E. Fouke, 22, Hagerstown; head brakeman on extra freight.

Clayton Koontz, Littlestown, Pa.; a train rider.

The injured:

C. B. Eichelberger, Hagerstown; engineer on through freight; head cut; not serious. H. E. Burgee, Hagerstown, head brakeman on through freight; hurt about head; not serious. O. N. Flynn, Hagerstown, engineer on train No. 627; cut and bruised about head. Roy Messner, Thurmont, Md., on train No. 204; injured internally. J. E. Fox, Hagerstown; fireman on train No. 627; badly injured in jumping from bridge, striking his head against a pier. G. W. Roach, Hagerstown; conductor on extra; head cut; not serious. Geo. B. McKane, Hagerstown; flagman on extra; slighlty bruised.

CREW FAILED TO OBEY ORDERS.

The wreck was due to the failure of the crew of train 204 to obey orders, which were received at Chewsville to pass train 627 at Smithsburg. The crew, it is said, overlooked the orders and the train proceeded east without stopping at the passing point. The engineers of both trains were unable to see each other, as there is a deep cut near the bridge. The bodies of the fireman and brakeman were found under the bridge. Koontz is supposed to have been riding on the trucks of a box car of train No. 204, and was thrown off when the trains struck. A check for $110, a gold watch and some money were found on his body.

Conductor Roach of train No. 627 started to jump, but saw the trains were on a bridge and went back into the caboose. The impact threw him against the side of the caboose, cutting his head and mashing several of his fingers.

INJURED IN HOSPITAL.

The injured were taken to a hospital. The bridge and track were not badly damaged and only four cars were derailed. A wrecking crew was sent to the scene from Hagerstown to clear the track. There was little delay occasioned by the wreck. The bridge on which the wreck occurred is a steel structure over Raven Rock run. It is 160 feet long, and spans a ravine about 40 feet deep.

Justice Ernest Hoffman, acting coroner, summoned a jury to investigate the wreck and the cause of the death of the three men.

Chester Messner who was hurt in the collision died on Tuesday night at the Washington County Hospital. Messner was 16 years old and a son of George W. Messner, of Hagerstown, recently of Thurmont. He was stealing a ride with his cousin, Roy Messner, on the westbound freight train that was in the collision, coming from Thurmont to Hagerstown. He intended taking a position in the Western Maryland Railroad roundhouse here and had in his pocket a first-class ticket, good from Thurmont to Hagerstown. It is thought he missed the passenger train and boarded the freight for this city.

John E. Cox, fireman on train No. 627, died on Thursday.

Big Creamery for Maryland.

The Casein Company, of New York, which has many creameries over the country, has closed negotiations with Harvey O. Spickler for the location in Washington county of a milk and cold storage plant, to cost about $50,000, on the property of Mr. Spickler at Woodpoint, near Hagerstown. The creamery is to be in operation by the middle of November.

Fifteen hundred cows owned by farmers living within nine miles of Hagerstown will supply the plant with milk, for which 10 cents a gallon will be paid.

At the plant the cream will be separated and shipped to New York. The solid part of the milk will be reduced to powder to be converted into imitation pearl buttons, etc., and the whey and other by products will be used in the manufacture of mucilage. Every part of the milk will be utilized in one form or another.
