AMERICAN SENTINEL.

WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND.

JOS. D. BROOKS, Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1910.

The lights were Bright in Hampstead.

It will be well for some of the embryo Democratic statesmen of Carroll "to take notice."

Roosevelt was on trial in New York and lost. Maybe the question "of what to do with our ex-presidents" has been solved.

We suspect our Democratic neighbor will claim the credit of carrying some of the outside states where the Republicans were fighting each other.

The result in this county shows that the people who have been opposed to a few people gobbling up all of the offices are still doing business at the same old stand.

The people of the large cities, under the false impression that the farmer can be forced to feed them cheaper, carried the day for the Democrats. Wait and see.

Now for a Republican administration in Maryland. The roads, high taxes, liquor questions, Baltimore city graft, assessment and a dozen other Democratic sins must be atoned for.

The vote in New York shows that Wall street and Tammany Hall are against any further investigations. They want to be left alone. They have had enough of Rooseveltism; so have some other people.

The farmers of the country stuck to their colors but the citizens of the cities and large towns outvoted them. The returns show very plainly that the increased Democratic vote came from the cities.

The statement of facts was very potent. The late John K. Cowen used to say that there was great potency in a fact. A majority of over 500 in Carroll is a "fact" from which some of our erstwhile critics may devote their leisure moments in extracting some "potency."

The Republicans of Carroll did not start out to beat Mr. Talbott in the balance of the district. They made their fight right here at home and delivered the goods in good shape. We are not responsible for any other county. "Act well your part, there all the honor lies," is a true saying and it fits the Republicans of this county.

Goodbye Teddy! Goodbye Wm. Jennings, the erstwhile Peerless! You have both been in the limelight for some time but somehow or other the American people have a habit of getting tired, very tired, of looking at, and of allowing one fellow to do all the talking. You may both be exactly right in your respective contentions but for the present the people prefer to have one president. They now have one of the best and are satisfied, as will be shown in 1912.

The Result in Carroll.

We, of course, are very much gratified with the result of the election in this county. We labored for such a result because we believed and still believe that a protective tariff is the very best thing for the people of the county. This is a strictly rural county and can only be prosperous by standing for the upbuilding of our home markets. The voters, with six million dollars to their credit, do not care to make any swaps while things are coming their way.

The Democratic gain in some of the states will only be temporary because the people of the large cities will very soon discover that the false promises made by the Democrats will never be fulfilled.

We are gratified at the result in this county because a majority of over 500 shows that the people are alive to their interests and ready to trust the party that does something.

We are gratified because it opens the way for a fair, stand-up fight next year on the many questions arising under the now discredited Crothers administration. The result shows that the people of this county do not intend to stand for increased taxes for roads they have not seen and never expect to use, and on hogs they have consumed.

We do not care how the balance of the country voted. We are for the protection of our home people and will, in the future, as in the past, do our very best to show them where, in our judgment, their interests lie.

Benjamin F. Crouse.

In the death of Mr. Benjamin F. Crouse, of this city, the community has sustained a severe loss. While we did not agree, at any time, with his political sentiments yet we could not help admire him for his many excellent qualities of heart and mind. He was trained in the law at the feet of Hon. John E. Smith and Hon. Wm. P. Maulsby, two of the leading legal lights of their day, and his respect and reverence for them was marked.

As a lawyer, Mr. Crouse held an enviable place among the attorneys of the local bar. While he was aggressive in the interests of his clients, as he, of course, should have been, he never forgot that he was a gentleman whose business it was to so demean himself that the honor and dignity of his profession might be upheld and the ends of justice subserved.

In all the positions of trust in which he was placed by his fellow citizens he made a record second to none. This is especially true as regards his last position as State Insurance Commissioner. Immediately upon assuming the duties of the office he set about to familiarize himself with its every detail and before many months he was master of the situation. His rise in the insurance world was rapid and well deserved, and at the time of his death he had reached the highest office in the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, an organization composed of all the Insurance Commissioners in the United States. As president of the association he became intimate with the leaders in the insurance business of the country and soon won their confidence and esteem, one insurance company of New York having made him a very attractive offer to act as its attorney, which he felt compelled to decline because it would remove him from his native state which he loved so well.

The insurance people of Baltimore had no hesitancy in pronouncing him "the only real insurance commissioner the State of Maryland has ever had," a compliment he richly deserved. He came into the office at the time of the insurance scandals in New York and through his efforts, as a member of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, some disreputable companies were put out of business and confidence was restored.

As a citizen of Westminster, Mr. Crouse was always ready with his money and intellect to help advance the system of improvements and the cause of good government. He was born and spent his whole life in the house in which he died. His genial countenance and sound judgment will be greatly missed by his host of true and tried friends of this city, this county, this State and the country at large. He died in the very prime of his life and we feel sure that had his life been spared there would have been other and greater honors awaiting him.

The dues are 75c a month, payable quarterly or semi-annually. No assessments.

AID

In the broad sense of the word the Loyal Order of Moose is an AID to its members. If misfortune overtakes a brother, if sickness or accident or business reverses befall him, It Extends The Helping Hand. For him it speaks the "Good Word," contributes to his purse and helps him to overcome difficulties.

Aid and protection at a timely moment are often of incalculable value. It may be that impending moral injury can be averted; that a home can be saved from blight; that honor can be preserved untarnished. Material calamities may be averted if there are those who will reach forth the protecting arm or utter the word of warning. The Loyal Order of Moose is a shield of offense and defense, not only for every brother, but also for those who are near and dear to him. Against all the ills and discouragements to which man is heir, it is a Tower of Protecting Strength.

WHAT THEY ARE

The Order of Moose is not an insurance organization. They are the clan whose blood circulates. Their cardinal virtues are to aid the sick, bury the dead and inject sunshine into dark places. They are not Saints, simply disbursers of practical Christianity. There are no Moose in Potter's Field or County Shroud. They live by the way and lend unto the Lord, for they give unto the poor. Their Mission is to do good. They hold high above all other things, as high as hope's great throbbing star, above the darkness of the tomb, the love of wife and home and friend.

GET IN ON THE GROUND FLOOR

The membership will run into the hundreds, and the installation will take place soon. After closing of the Charter the fee will be raised to $25.00. Now is your opportunity to save money. If you are interested, write to or call on
