1873 April - July Caspar Morris

SIDE TWO

points –
Dr Hodge's
Early life.
Early professional career – as well as his teaching & colleagues at this time –
His peculiarities of character –
His peculiar views on any subject professional or otherwise –
His Moral & Religious Character –
His Social and domestic qualities.
His force of character as illustrated by the anecdote of Bishop Ives & the use of tobacco – as well as any other illustrative anecdote you may furnish –
His benevolence and charity
His bearing & dealings with the Profession –
I ask this, my dear Doctor, as a labor of love to the memory of your old friend – for I knew Dr Hodge as well as you did, & no one save you, can give me a correct view of him as the Religious Doctor –
With kindest regards
I am with much esteem
Sincerely yours
R A F Penrose
Dr Caspar Morris –