AMERICAN SENTINEL.

WESTMINSTER, MARYLAND

JOS. D. BROOKS, Editor.

Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

We have been assured that the state road at New Windsor will be finished in the year A. D. 2000. Perhaps!

The Democrats of Maryland will never forgive Senator John Walter Smith for voting to impose a duty on imported lumber.

When it comes to making promises Governor Crothers has got the other Democratic candidates for the nomination of governor licked to a "frazzle."

Buying turnpikes is one ting. Keeping them in passable condition is another and very often a more expensive one.

So long as Baltimore city is dominated by a corrupt ring it need not expect to increase its number of representatives in the legislature. The peopeople of the counties will not stand for it.

Governor Crothers is as silent as the grave when it comes to the suffrage amendment, because, as a lawyer, he knows the whole thing is unconstitutional and a dead issue in Maryland.

The Democrats of this state are determined to pile up the road debt of the state. They should stop buying turnpikes and use whatever is left of that $5,000,000 loan in improving our soil roads. They have started at the wrong end of the job.

If current reports be true the Baltimore and Frederick turnpike is getting in very bad shape. Sometime ago the state bought it, removed the tollgates and stopped there. There being no money available for repairs the road will soon be worthless.

People who never use turnpikes should not be taxed to keep them in repair for those who do. It is not equitable. The cltizens of the towns and villages and the farmers residing on soil roads are now being taxed to build hard roads that some of them will never see, let alone use.

The first thing we know some one will be killed by an automobile, right here in Westminster. When small boys are allowed to run machines, more dangerous than locomotives, on a trackless road, some one is going to get killed. Not merely hurt, but killed.

Baltimore City has all the representation it is entitled to and the amendment to the state constitution increasing its members in the Senate and House should be defeated. The city needs "better" representatives in legislature, not more representatives.

Political promises from Democratic candidates are very different from their performances. Governor Crothers promises enough to keep ten governors busy. What he now promises will not be considered. What has he accomplished during his administration is what people will want to know.

The Democratic politicians are beginning to realize that the farmers are tired of paying to have their children educated away from the farm. We have been preaching against the system and are glad to learn that some people are sitting up and taking notice. Perhaps the coming election will drive the idea into their heads and bring about a radical change in the personel of the State Board of Education.

Since the decision of the United States Court declaring the Annapolis Grandfather Election Law unconstitutional we have heard very little from our Democratic friends on the subject of the amendment to be voted on this fall. Some people may openly defy the constitution but the law-abiding ones never think of such a thing. The ones that have gone up "against it" have returned in a rather dilapidated condition.

An automobile is not a toy to be played with by children, but the way some are handled around this city one would think the drivers imagine they are. When children are allowed to handle a gun some one is going to get hurt. The automobile business is about the same thing. We have been under the impression that the law requires a person to be licensed to run an automobile. If we are correct in our impressions the state must be very lax in the enforcement of the law.

Hammering down the price of a turnpike owned exclusively by our own citizens and afterwards allowing a non-resident four times as much per mile to build an extension to the same pike is not the way the people of the state wish their business conducted, in view of the fact that when the extension is completed according to specifications it will not be as good a road as the purchased turnpike. If the price paid for the turnpike is a fair one then the amount allowed for the extension is outragious.

The meeting of the Republican County Central Committee, Thursday, was one of the largest and most enthusiastic and interesting one for years. All signs point to another Republican triumph at the fall elections.

You don't fool the Dutch; not much.

Chairman Tucker of the Good Roads Commission has resigned. One down. Next!

Seven applicants for the Democratic nomination for sheriff of this county. Why don't some of you fellows get off the bench, or quit your crowding?

The Democratic organization will meet, Monday. Watch it sift out the Democratic candidates. The new fangled primary law may be all well enough, for some people, but———.

The Westminster district Democrats are just itching to get one of the D—— Dutch from Manchester on the ticket. What they have promised to hand out to him is something awful.

Tht Republicans pay taxes—some of them pay pretty good sums—but we never hear of a Republican landing a contract to build a new road. Most of the roads, however, look like they were built by Democratic politicians.

It is a great pity that the supply of offices ran out before some Democratic families were supplied. One family was lucky enough to get a grandson in office before the supply became exhausted and from the last report he was still holding on.

Some of the Democratic claims for nominations at the coming primaries have become mossgrown. Some of the applicants have been seeking office from the time whereunto the memory of the present generation of men runneth not to the contrary.

Don't forget to kill the amendments. The franchise amendment is unconstitutional and the other one relating to an increase representation in the legislature for Baltimore is bad in principal Baltimore needs better representation; not more representation. One -trong-minded logical brain is worth a dozen figure heads.

The demoralized condition of the Democratic party of Carroll county as mentioned in the Democratic Advocatt of last week, was brought about by too much personal politics One man in Congress for life, others in state offices for years, with a rotation in and a rotation out, but all the time the same men ,or their families was, and is now, just too much for the people to stand. The same thing is now going on. If you don't believe it look around.

The Republican party will win this fall because it has a just cause of complaint against the mismanagement of the Democratic party. The latter has been in power so long that it has became insolent and overbearing. It has acted with an eye single to the elevation of a few men who have grown gray in office has had no regards for the rights of other members of the party, to say nothing of the rights of those who pay large tax bills but vote the Republican ticket.

FOND HOPES?

The Democratic Advocate in its last issue, under the caption of "A Timely Word for Democrats" said: "It will profit us nothing to review the causes which have brought about the demoralized condition of the Democratic party in Carroll county, for whatevtr they were, they will not, and connot obtain under our existing primary election law."

We don't know who wrote that but whoever did must be blind to the conditions now existing in the Democratic party in this county. We know, as a matter of fact, that the same old ring, minus one member of it, is now engaged in making up the ticket which will be nominated at the coming primary. Its present methods are not the same as formerly used but they are just as effective. The benighted anti-organization Democratic candidates who fondly imagine that the present law is to be a great boon for them will be sadly disappointed when the votes are counted, if their names are not wiped entirely off the slate when the organization calls its meeting.

MANCHESTER.

The members of Trinity Reformed Sunday school with their friends embarked on board of two large straw wagons accompanied by private conveyances on Saturday morning at 9.30 and drove to the Meadow View Park, 2 miles north of here, where they spent a delightful day picnicing. It was not long after their arrival when the smoke from the picnic fires was curling upward indicating that the large vessels would soon send forth the aroma of the good old coffee so much enjoyed upon these occasions, while the ladies were busy unloading the monster boxes and baskets of good things for the inner man, which were A. No. 1, all along the line, tempting the appetite of the most fastidious, and which were enjoyed by all. Dinner over, base ball had its period, to the satisfaction of the players, while the girls and boys had a fine time with the merry-go-round. The arrival of the Meadow View Park Band added much to enliven the occasion. Though small in numbers they certainly played well. A candy sack contest, wheeling match and grand parade kept matters lively for the afternoon. The Zepp brothers with their warves of ice cream, pop and confections did quite a nice business. Everything was very agreeable except those little fellows with yellow jackets that were most impudent all along the line in the jellies and sweets, and if interfered with were ready to show fight. One gentleman friend grew tired of their impudence and tried the trick that the whale did on Jonah but it would not work He dropped him, no doubt, with the quotation of the Irishman that was trying to make a pet of a wasp: "Jabers but his feet are hot." But the friend found a balm for his wound in the weed that is his comfort, a wad of tobacco and all came right. Supper was heartily enjoyed and as the sun was hiding in the Western sky all were homeward bound.

The remains of Miss Lucinda Berwager were brought here, Tuesday, from Hanover and laid away to rest beside her parents in the cemetery, Rev. Lau officiating. Where The Parson Scored.

[From the Christian Guardian.]

A certain sceptic was contending before a minister that the work of the Creator was manifestly imperfect. "Have you not youself," he asked, "noted defects in the human organism, for instance, and thought of better contrivances"

To his delight there was a frank reply, "Why, yes, I really think I have."

"Why," drawled the parson, "you see when I want to shut out anything disagreeable from my sight I can draw down my eyelids and it's all done, but unfortunately I haven't any flaps to my ears."

Free conversation ceased at about that point.

Then She Kissed Him.

"You have not kissed me," she pouted, "for fifteen minutes."

"I know it," he said. "I have a very sensitive tooth, which is liable to ache if I do."

"What do you mean, sir?"

"Why, you're so sweet, you know!"
