The barn was about 75 feet long and 40 or 45 feet wide and the blaze lighted up the west end of this city, despite the fact that a terrific rain storm was raging. Mr. Corbin was unable, owing to the absence of neighbors, who were kept away by the storm, to do very much in the matter of saving his personal property.

For the Sentinel.

We learn with regret that the plans submitted and adopted by the Odd Fellows, for the improvements to their hall, call for a stage only twenty ft., six inches wide. This is five feet in width less than the old stage, and we had hoped that the improvement would give us a much wider stage than the old one.

The smallest popular theaters of Baltimore have stages that are not less than 25 feet wide. It was supposed that this new building would give us the largest stage in Westminster, so that no improvements along this line would be necessary for years to come. It now looks as if in the next few years some one would have to construct a theater in Westminster that will accommodate regular plays from Baltimore.

We learn that when the present hall was built, years ago, some of the members wanted to built it 50 feet wide and some wanted it 30 feet, they compromised on 30 feet which the present generation of Odd Fellows regret, as they could have made a much more satisfactory job of the present proposition had the building been 50 feet wide.

We think the new stage should be at least 30 feet wide, but by all means make it as wide as possible so that we can take care of any show that may come here in the next 50 years, and eliminate the necessity for a new Opera House in a few years.

A Great Enterprise For Hoffmanville, Baltimore County.

We learn that the Rockdale Roofing & Asbestos Products Co., with its principal business office at York, Pa., is going to erect at Hoffmanville, Md., a large and modern plant for the manufacture of ready roofings, asbestos paper, mill board and pipe coverings, also a complete line of asphalt cements, paints and roof coverings, and when completed this will be one of the most modern and up-to-date plants of its kind in the world.

There are only a few plants making asbestos goods in this country and there is a wonderful demand for their products.

The gentlemen promoting this project are all very conservative business men and are meeting with good success in selling the stock.

Connected with the company as General Manager is Mr. O. R. Emigh, who has been with some of the largest concerns in this line in the world.

Mr. Emigh and Mr. E. W. Loucks will be at the Main-Court Inn, Westminster, Tuesday, September 12th, to explain the details of this great enterprise and solicit stock subscriptions.

This industry will not only be a profitable one for the stockholders, but will be a very great benefit to the entire community for many miles around Hoffmanville.
