Convention Comes to a Sucessful Close.

Some new officers elected, some changes made in Constitution and great work planned.

The New Executive Board.

President, Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, Moylan, Pa.

Vice president, Miss Jane Adams, Chicago.

Recording secretary, Mrs. Susan Walker Fitzgerald, Boston.

Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, New York.

Treasurer, Miss Jessie Ashley, New York.

First Auditor, Mrs. Belle LaFollette, Madison, Wis.

Second Auditor, Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, New York.

Editor Woman's Journal, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, Dorchester, Mass.

Enthusiasm or equal suffrage runs high in Kentucky this week as women from all parts of the country throng the spacious streets morning, afternoon and evening for the annual convention. Everyone is thrilled by the fact that we have with us on our platforms not only some of the most distinguished men and women in America, but also three of the most renowned women in the whole world, Mrs. Pankhurst, Dr. Shaw and Jane Addams.

The equal suffrage victories in Washington and California have been pictured to us most graphically by men and women who have traveled across the continent to make the triumph more real and inspiring, and to tell us how they did it. Spirited adherents of the cause have also come to tell how political equality has worked when it has been tried, and others are here to tell of their unbounded confidence.

Altogether it is a most inspiring and encouraging convention, and we are daily thrilled with news of the good prospects of more States and more victories in the very near future.

New Courage Galned.

New courage to adopt new and progressive methods of work and especially to be resourceful and original is perhaps the most significant characteristic of the convention, and there is no question but that the whole body of delegates and visitors will return to their State work with new zeal, new determination and a grist of new methods to be put into operation.

At intervals during the convention Dr. Shaw gave excerpts of what was to have been her annual address. She said in part:

"The 18 months which have elapsed since our last convention have been permeated with suffrage activity. Never in an equal length of time has there been such rapid progress in the enlistment of recruits and the development of active service.

"Thus by the aggressive out-of-door campaign the message has been carried to a not unwilling people. We congratulate ourselves for the triumphant vindication of the women of Washington. Never was there a more signal example of manly loyalty to womanhood than in the three to one vote for woman suffrage in Washington in 1910.

"Following close upon it comes the signal victory of California. Here as never before were the friends and foes of woman's freedom more equally lined up. Wherever vice, corruption and cupidity held sway there the vote for woman suffrage was weak. Wherever refinement, education, industry and self-respecting manhood and womanhood dwelt there the vote in favor of women was strong.

"These are the battles in this war for justice which have been victorious. Others have been and are being fought at the present time with equal courage and against greater odds, and yet the foe is always the same."

The public sessions of the convention closed on Tuesday with Mrs. T. P. O'Connor's address in the afternoon, and the addresses of Mrs. Pankhurst and Mrs. Desha Breckenbridge in the evening.

Hydro-electric Power for Constantinople.

Scientific American.

Constantinople is soon to be supplied with electricity from a hydraulic power station on the Sakania River, 80 miles away. Here two turbine stations will be built, one of 15,000 horsepower, using a 180-foot head of water, and the other of 8,000 horse-power, employing a head of 120 feet.

Electric Railroads in the Pyrenees.

Scientific American.

About 300 miles of railroads are being built in the Pyrenees. These railroads are to be operated by electricity which will be furnished from water power stations in the mountains. Power will be furnished at a voltage of 55,000 volts, which will be stepped down to 12,000 volts for the trolley wires. The locomotives will be provided with transformers for further reduction to 235 volts.

Novel German Transmission Poles.

Scientific American.

A novel type of reinforced concrete pole is now being used in Germany for trasmission lines. The pole is perforated from the top to a point near the base. The perforations are large enough to permit of inserting the foot, so that the lineman does not require climbers to reach the wire brackets at the top. The poles are thus virtually given the form of narrow ladders.

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"Reports from the principal trade centers are nearly satisfactory, indicating a fair volume of activity, and in the Northwest the feeling is that conditions in that section have fully recovered from the setback of last year.

"Limited stocks of cotton goods and woolens result in a prompt revival of consumptive demand and inducements are now offered for increased production. Favorable prices named on dress fabrics and men's wear are also stimulating factors. Immediate shipments are asked for and small orders are frequently repeated. Heavy brown and colored domestics are being ordered to the end of the year. In woolens there is an active demand for heavy weight men's wear and some lines of fancy worsteds have sold so well that advances have been obtained. Trading in footwear has been checked to some extent by higher quotations, but Eastern manufacturers are well employed on current orders. Leather continues firm."

Bradstreet's says:

"Trade displays little change, with perhaps a slightly greater tendency toward irregularity. Yet the consensus of reports from many markets, barring some at the South, indicate that retail trade has been materially helped by cooler weather. Proceeding to the larger lines, the reports, as a whole, do not indicate anything better than fair, though the low condition of retailers' stocks, coupled with the fact that final distribution is now likely to increase, may, and probably will, eventuate in much small-lot buying, as well as in the reinstatement of orders heretofore canceled by timid buyers."

Test for Water.

To test drinking water, put one teaspoonful of granulated sugar in a pint of the water you want to test. Cork tightly, place on the kitchen mantel shelf. If pure the water will remain clear, if not it will cloud densely, and ought to be analyzed.

HOWARD AND LEXINGTON

MEN'S FALL UNDERWEAR OF UNUSUAL GOODNESS

The men's underwear business is a plain everyday business—but we have lifted it out of the rut by handling it in an unusual way.

First, we have an unusually wide range of styles at each price; and, second, we have the out-of-the ordinary sizes which most of the stores do not handle. So, if you are extra-tall or extra-short, or for any reason require underwear outside of the standard scale of sizes, you can be practically sure of finding it in the Hochschild, Kohn & Co. Men's Store.

As a result of our policy, our men's underwear business has grown steadily; and as a result of this growth, we can purchase in quantities sufficient to secure to us every possible price advantage. You are sure to get from us the best men's underwear that your money can possibly buy.

Goes 30 Miles to School.

Going thirty miles a day to attend school is a part of the work of Karl Dalrymple of this county, who is taking advantage of the Barnes high school law and attending the high school at Salina. The young man lives fifteen miles northeast of this city. He makes the trip back and forth on a motorcycle. He started the first day, last Monday, and declares he will not miss a day unless he is ill. Young Dalrymple helps milk the cows both morning and evening and does the other chores about the farm. He leaves home about 8:30 o'clock, and so far has not been tardy. School begins at 9 o'clock. He frequently makes the fifteen miles in twenty minutes, but does this only when the roads are good. He has never consumed as much as thirty minutes on the road. The boy is sixteen years old and has passed through the graded schools in the country district where he lives. The Salina high school is the nearest school of the kind to his home.—Salina correspondence, Kansas City Star.
