ERICAN SENTINEL
WESTMINSTER, MARYLAN
JOS. D. BROOKS, Edito
Entered at the Postoffice at Westminster, Md., as Second-class matter.

Five days till Thanksgiving.

One month till Christmas.

Some of our Democratic friends will walk.

Gov-elect Goldsborough will take a well earned rest. Office seekers take notice.

Brother Galt and Brother Bright should hold a conference and compare notes on political liars.

We will soon have a fine little opera house in "our midst." The Odd Fellows are pushing it along. Good luck to them.

When soliciting votes from members of the opposition be sure to have a ballot box along. In other words, "get them while they are hot."

The women of Maryland are the equals of any in the country and will soon have the right to vote. Why not?

A man will depend on his wife's judgment in many important matters but thinks she hasn't sense enough to vote. Some women may not be endowed with an abundance of political sense, but how about some of the men?

The small number of cases on the trial docket of the November term of court of this county is an indication that our people are prosperous and happy and at peace with each other. This is an ideal condition. Thanks to a Republican president and a Republican administration.

"That newspaper men are generous was borne out by the fact that the late Joseph Pulitzer left $100,000 to his valet, but as soon as some of our delinquent subscribers pay up we have determined to follow Mr. P.'s good example and leave our office devil about $4.80 worth of pink chewing gum. This will at least keep him from chewing the rag about making the fire these cold mornings."—Emmitsburg Chronicle.

There are others.

A fellow who was very anxious to serve as a juryman in a murder case was summoned to court. When the court asked him if he had any conscientious scruples on the subject of capital punishment, he replied that he had. The judge very promptly excused him. When he went out the door he was heard to remark: "There, by George, I made the wrong answer."

Some of the defeated candidates for the Senate and House of Delegates may, by this time, realize that they too "made the wrong answer."

The fellow that is so all-fired independent in politics had better stay off of tickets. The rank and file of a party don't care to vote for the fellow that thinks he knows more than his party. They prefer the fellow of opposite political faith who has been straight with "his" party. Independents are all right and perform a very important and valuable function in the management of our government, but don't ask the "boys" to stand for them when it comes to electing them to office, because they are not going to do it. Offices are a part of the game of practical politics and the "boys" don't think they should be filled by any but "straight fellows." This perhaps, should not be the case, but we are not talking about "what should" not be; we are talking about "what is."

Brother Galt, of the Emmitsburg Chronicle, who was the Democratic candidate for State Senator from Frederick county, intimates that he has discovered that a good many liars live in Frederick county. He is very much like a certain gentleman who once ran for the House of Delegates on the Republican ticket in this county and was defeated by about 400 votes. During the campaign he recorded in a little book he carried with him the name and address of each and every Democrat who promised to vote for him, and, on the eve of the election, being asked what his chances of election were, replied: "I have the names of 400 Democrats who have promisd to vote for me, and if I receive their votes and hold my party vote I will be elected by a good majority."

After the election he, like brother Galt, was fully convinced that Carroll county contained more liars than any spot on earth.

Forget it, brother, forget it.

SUGGESTIONS TO GRANGES.

We believe a good way to keep up the interest in the Granges is to give every member something to do. Divide the Grange membership into sections for special lines of work. For instance make one class for boys on the care of corn, the selection of seed, the cultivation and care of same, calculate accurately how much corn an acre of ground can properly ripen under favorable conditions. Another for girls in domestic economy to prepare menus for the farmer's table and demonstrate at one or more meetings at least. The assimilation of foods should be taken into consideration by this class. Another class for women of maturer years for demonstration of the old time ways in comparison to more modern conveniences of the country homes of today. Another for men of experience on fruit growing, grafting, care of orchards and small fruit, this to be demonstrated also. Another class of girls to collect specimens of wild flowers and be able to give some account of their growth and native homes whether in fertile or swampy lands.

MANCHESTER.

The members of the Willing Workers Aid Society of Trinity Reformed Church held their Nut Social in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Thursday evening, 16th inst. It was a success socially and financially. The room was in autumnal attire and arranged for a good social time, and being new along the lines of entertainments everybody seemed inclined to suit themselves to the freedom of the occasion. An admission of 10 cents was charged and an ice cream, tea and coffee table was presided over by Mrs. J. E. Musselman, Mrs. George Leese and Mrs. Frank Brilhart, who were kept busy supplying their patrons, while Mrs. H. Loats and Miss Laura Burns at the other end of the room did a thriving business in cakes, carmels, pop corn, &c., all of which had a sprinkling of nuts. While the early hour was enjoyed in patronizing these ladies the entertaining committee was busy behind the curtains on the stage arranging to present the following program at 8.15: Singing, by the Lippy Quartette, followed by a pantomine "Josephus' Daughter." Mrs. John H. Staub read the poem and the Misses Corinne Sherman, Eva Bixler and Mollie Brilhart did full credit to the pantomine gestures. The tableau that followed under the colored light brought down the house in applause. After a short intermission there was singing by the Hoffman Quartette. In the tableau, "Abide in Me," which followed Mrs. Charles M. Masenhimer was fine and was a perfect statute in the colored light. The Lippy & Hoffman Quartettes in song, after an intermission, introduced Miles Standish's Courtship, that was well given by Mrs. J. H. Staub, Miss Sadie Masenhimer, Mr. Harold Frankforter and Mr. John B. Baker. Singing by both quartettes in concert closed the entertaining part of the affair by which time the ladies at the tables were entirely sold out of their wares, so that everybody returned home well pleased with the evening's pleasures. The Young Americas that held sway on the front seats must have had their heels charged with electricity from the noise they made. The society held its monthly meeting at the home of their treasurer, Miss Sadie Masenhimer, on Monday evening that was well attended. After the opening exercises the monthly dues were collected amounting to $5.85. The treasurer reported net receipts from the social $35.25. After which the company was entertained by a number of Misses. Adjournment to meet on Monday, December 18, at the home of Miss Fannie G. Ross.

The remains of Charles Menchey, 15 year old son of Mr. Wm. Menchey of Greenmount, were brought here by undertaker Bair, of Hanover, Pa., to the establishment of undertaker Wink, Friday, from whence they were taken by the latter to the home of the grandfather, Mr. George Menchey, of GGreenmount. Charles was in the emplo of Mr. Jacob E. Shultz, a baker, of Hanover. Thursday evening he retired in company with a son of Mr. S. in his usual health. Friday morning young Shultz awoke and finding Charles asleep he thought he would have the laugh on him and be the first one up. He arose and went to the bake house made the fire and attended to the usual morning work and went to the house for breakfast. Finding Charles was not up he went to the room to cal hhim and to his surprise he was sleeping his last sleep, having died during the night. A physician was summoned who upon examaton found he had died from heart trouble. Rumor says he was an incessant cigarette smoker. His remains were laid away to rest Sunday in a family lot in the Lutheran cemetery of this place, Rev. Lau officiating. There were two corpses in the home of Mr. Shultz Friday. His mother-in-law, who was quite aged having died the evening before.

Mr. Stanley Bowlus, principal of the high school here, in company with Mr George S. Motter, went to Baltimore Saturday morning to see the battle between the Hopkins and St. John's teams. During the evening Mr. B. went to get off a trolley car that was still in motion and fell, striking the stones with his forehead. He was picked up unconscious and carred to a drug store where the cut above the eye was dressed, the wound requiring three stitches. After recovering from the shock he was taken to the home of a friend but was not able to come to his boarding house until Monday evening. He says the last he can recollect was stepping from the platform of the car until he rallied in the drug store. At this writing he is teaching. The schools have undergone a change this week. Miss Carrie Lamotte of the primary department, who was overcrowded during the first term, having 62 on roll with an average of 53, from the beginners to the 3rd grade, has been relieved and Mr. Dooley, of Delta, Md., was put in charge of the 5th, 6th and 7th grades. Miss Shower, of the 3rd and 4th. Miss Lamotte the primary, while Prof. Bowlus has the higher grades. Miss Stabler is here this week at the home of Mrs. Motter and is visiting the schools of the district introducing primary methods for each school.

The Rebeckah visitors to Hanover last week had quite an experience getting home in the snow and rain with a balky machine.

Our hunters have been thinning the rabbits since the season opened. A party of four left here the first morning and killed 40, while other parties have been equally successful. Birds are scarce and but few have been reported.

The Embroidery Club met at the home of Mrs. Claude R. Hoffman, Thursday evening, 16th inst., and enjoyed a pleasant social evening as well as the fine refreshments of Mrs. H.

Charles G. Miller of Harrisburg, Pa., accompanied his grandmother, Mrs. Ganter, home from a visit to Harrisburg, looking hale and hearty.

Dr. David G. Everhart and Miss Eva S. Bixler were driven from the home of Mrs. Washington Musselman, grandmother of the bride elect, in the Hoffman auto to the Reformed parsonage, where Dr. T. S. Land launched them upon the matrimonial sea, in the presence of a few friends, at 5.40 a. m. After hurried congratulations they were driven to Greenmount and left by the early train for Baltimore and Washington, D. C.

Population of Maryland According to Color.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23, 1911.—A preliminary statement of the white and negro population of Maryland, by counties and principal cities, as shown by the returns of the Thirteenth Decennial Census, taken of April 15th, 1910, was issued today by Director Durand of the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce and Labor. The statistics were prepared under the direction of Wm. C Hunt, chief statistician for population in the Census Bureau, and are subject to later revision.

The total population of Maryland in 1910 was subdivided as to color as follows: White 1 062 645; negro, 232,249; all other persons (Indians, Chinese and Japanese), 452. The equivalent figures for 1900 were: White, 952,424; negro, 235 064; all other 556. For 1890 they were: White, 826,493; negro, 215,657; all other, 240.

The negro population constituted 17.9 per cent of the total population of the state in 1910, as against 19.8 per cent in 1900 and 20.7 per cent in 1890.

There has been a decrease since 1900 in the negro population of 2,815, or 1.2 per cent, as compared with an increase during the preceding decade of 19.407, or 9 per cent. The white population shows an increase during the past decade of 110,221, or 11.6 per cent, as against 125,931, or 15.2 per cent during the former decade.

Baltimore city had a population in 1900 of 558,485 comprising 473,390 whites, 84,749 negroes and 346 other persons. The equivalent figures for 1900 were: White, 429,218; negro, 79,258; all other, 481. For 1890 they were: White, 367,143; negro, 67,104; all other, 192.

The white and negro population constituted 84.8 and 15.2 per cent, respectively, of the total in 1910, approximately the same proportions as for the two preceding censuses. The white population of Baltimore increased 44,172, of 10.3 per cent, during the decade 1900-1910, as compared with 62,075, or 16.9 per cent for the preceding decade. The negro population has increased during the past 10 years at a somewhat slower rate than the white population, and its rate of increase was 5,491, or 6.9 per cent, from 1900 to 1910 as compared with 12,154, or 18.1 per cent, from 1890 to 1900.

For the remainder of the state outside of Baltimore there has been since 1900 a decrease in the negro population of 8,306, or 5.3 per cent, as against an increase from 1890 to 1900 of 7,253, or 4.9 per cent.

The white and negro population of Maryland in 1910 and 1900 is given for each of the counties and principal cities as follows:

UNION MILLS.

Death of Miss E. Janora Dutrer.

Miss E. Janora Dutrer, who resided in the upper part of Myers district, died last Sunday afternoon, of indigestion, at the age of 51 years. She is survived by three sisters, namely: Mrs. Stavely, near Littlestown, Pa.; Mrs. Wintrode, of Two Taverns, Pa. and Miss Arabella Dutrer, with whom the deceased lived, at the old home, since the death of their mother, which occurred several years ago. Miss Dutrer was a daughter of the late Josiah Dutrer who was a man largely interested in the culture of honey bees. She was a model of gentleness and kindness and was a most devout christian woman. She loved her church the Reformed, and was regular and faihtful in the performance of all her religious duties. Her funeral took place at St. Mary's Reformed church, Silver Run, Tuesday morning, November 21, Rev. S. Charles Hoover, her pastor, officiating. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Milton Study, Joseph Brown, Oscar Brown, Denton Yingling, Calvin E. Bankert and Harvey Halter. Edward Groft was funeral director.

Mr. John F. Maus, who, a couple of weeks ago, was operated upon for appendicitis, at the Union Protestant Infirmary, Baltimore, has been doing very nicely since the operation was performed and will be brought back to his home before so long.

The horse of Edward Groft that was so seriously injured in a team collision, on election day, is yet alive and has a fine chance of recovery. He is able to stand alone and has a good appetite. Mr. Groft has presented the animal to Dr. C. A. Wolf, who thinks he can pull him through all right.

Mr. Perry Rumler, who died at the County Home, last week, at the age of 88 years, was a man of some prominence in this community 40 or 50 years ago, and was the possessor of considerable property, including valuable real estate. He has no close relatives living.

Our recently organized Noreca parlor orchestra, Norman H. Earhart, leader, will furnish music for the oyster supper to be held by the ladies of Moorehead M. E. Church, in I. O. M. Hall, on the evenings of Nov. 30 and December 2.

Mr. Wm. E. Frock is gradually recovering from the wound caused by accidentally running a nail in one of his feet, but as yet is unable to attend to the work in his blacksmith shop, which is being looked after by Marshall Crumpacker, who learned the trade with Mr. Frock.

The residence of Calvin E. Bankert, treasurer of the Union Mills Saving Bank, has received a fresh coat of paint.

Mr. Adam M. Humbert, with a new gasoline engine and circular saw outfit, has been doing a good deal of wood sawing in the village.

Mr. George W. Yeiser, though a Democrat, is happy over the election of the Republican Senator and members of the House of Delegates, because, he says, they stand for local option, a subject that is very close to his heart.

BACHMAN'S VALLEY.

Fall plowing began last week.

Hunters are out every day and they say game is plentiful, but they do not say if they carry many to their homes in the evening. Tell your correspondent and he will make it known to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton P. Myers entertained Sunday, at their home, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tracy and family.

Rev. Lau, of Jerusalem Church, was too late Sunday to have special services, as he had a funeral at Manchester at 1 p. m. Those present waited for him in a quiet way. All except a few. Which is best, to be enjoying yourself and keep others there too, or go to a church, and keep wide awake and remember the good words spoken by the pastor. He comes to direct a full house.

Butchering season is at hand, and some are keeping the heaviest weight of porkers.

Last Thursday evening, November 16, there was a pleasant surprise birthday party at the hospitable home of John A. Ebaugh, of this place. It was in honor of Mr. John A. it being his 59th birthday. When the friends began to gather together, Mr. Ebaugh was not taken very easy, as he knew nothing of th splendor, except some smiles on the face of his wife. All those present were loaded with many good things to be enjoyed during the evening hours. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames J. A. Ebaugh, Peter Wertz, John D. Shaffer Edward Bankert, Milton P. Myers, Milton Resh, Harvey Wertz, Jonas Shaffer, Raymond Wisner, Mr. John Utz, Mr. Charles Coppersmith, Mrs. Susan Bachman, Mrs. Polly Garrett; Misses Carrie Panebaker, Laura Panebaker, Helen Shaffer, Estella Coppersmith, Cora Coppersmith, Mary Myers, Corinne Myers, Miriam Myers and Master Floyd Wertz. The evening was spent in social pleasure. A call was made from the dining room to which the guests responded and found all tables loaded with things tempting to the palate and which were very much enjoyed. At a late hour they all repaired to their homes, wishing Mr. John A. Ebaugh many more happy birthdays.

The gospel services which were conducted during the evenings of the past two weeks at Bixler's U. B. church by Rev. S. A. Crabill, were well attended, and they say they have been the best meetings for a long time. They were protracted meetings and there secure repentance and many were happy to hear the good words of the pastor. During the days he gave visits to many of his friends. Come again, Rev. to the homes and stay a full day.

Sunday school at Bachman's U. B. Church, Sunday, at 9.30 a. m. Please all come.

COMMERCIAL

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

R. G. Dun's weekly review of trade says:

"While it is recognized that business is still in a transition period, and transition means change and uncertainty, yet such progress has been made in necessary re-adjustments as to impart a better feeling. This is especially noticeable in the West, which for some time this year has seemed to be more depressed than the East, which is closer to the sensitive financial markets. A larger volume of business is being carried on, and there is now further buying for the future."

Bradstreet's says:

"Lower temperatures, with snow or rain, the first touch of real winter in fact, has been a distinct help to the retail trade in seasonable wear and there has also been a perceptible stimulus given to jobbing re-order trade to fill depleted stocks. All parts of the country have benefited, the Northern sections particularly so and some improvement is even noted in Southern demand, though low-priced cotton has been a bar there to fullest activity. Holiday trade is also more favorably spoken of than at any previous date this season. Collections are not much better but note a slight improvement at some Eastern and Western centers, though remaining unqualifiedly slow at the South. Among the industries the features are a rather more optimistic feeling."

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of Jacob N. Fitze, who departed this life November 17, 1911, aged 24 years, 5 months and 28 days.

Once our home was bright and happy,
Oh, how sad and dreary today,
For our dear and loving son,
Has forever passed away.
By his parents.

In the graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies our darling brother sleeping,
In his silent grave.
By his brother, Paul L. Fitze.

GIST.

Death of Master George Wilson.

Master George Wilson, oldest son of Mr. Clarence and Mrs. Mollie Wilson, died Monday night of typhoid fever, aged 14 years. He was a very intelligent lad and had he lived would have been very useful in the community. Great sympathy is felt for his parents in their bereavement. The funeral was held at the Lutheran Church, Thursday morning, at eleven o'clock and the interment was in the adjoining cemetery. Mr. C. M. Waltz was funeral director.

Miss Duhurst, of Westminster, is visiting at Ephriam R. Smith's, this week.

Miss Carrie Shipley, of Berrett, has been spending several days visiting friends in this place.

Mr. Samuel E. Smith, one of our highly esteemed young men, is going to seek his fortune in Baltimore. We are sorry to see him go, but wish him success.

Miss Sadie Shipley, of Baltimore, is spending sometime with her sister, Mrs. Harry Hughes.

Roy and Reua Snyder spent Sunday with Miss Gladys Sihpley.

Mr. Howard Barnes is on the sick list.

Rev. E. O. Ewing and wife spent Wednesday with Mr. E. R. Smith.

The stork visited the homes of Messrs. Columbus Parker and Harry Hughes and left each one a fine boy.

MELROSE.

Dressed hogs are selling at 7 1-2 and 8 cents per pound. Quite a contrast with last year's price when corn was scarce.

We hear a great deal of talk about the trolley road and we hope it will amount to more than talk.

We learn that a young lady who is paid a large salary to show our teacher how to teach is now visiting our schools. Many of our teachers started to teach 20 years before she did.

Daily Thought.

He who loves is in the right.—Schiller.
